BRITAIN SNUBS NORTHCLIFFE

SMALL GOES TO KANKAKEE, BUT RETURNS TODAY

Governor Will Tour Country Roads.

BULLETIN.

Springfield, Ill., July 28.—[Special.]—Ex-Gov. Fifer, James M. Graham, and O. R. Gillespie of counsel for Gov. Small returned to their homes tonight Fifer to Bloomington and the others to Springfield. There were rumors two days ago that Graham was going to quit in case the governor decided to surrender. Their return tonight may indicate that they are through and that Albert Fink will conduct the governor's case from now on. All three refused to talk.

Gov. Len Small quietly slipped out of Chicago yesterday afternoon and reappeared—not at Springfield, but at Kankakee.

And there he gave out a statement that today he would go—not to Springfield, but back to Chicago.

Further he said that he was going to get busy on road inspection in various counties with a view to pushing contracts for good roads. He mentioned Lake county, Kane, Will, and others, but said nothing about continuing his motor tour to Sangamon county.

Confers with Lawyers.

Inquiries as to the decision reached brought a reply from one of the seven men in room 1614 of the Congress hotel, where the conference was held, that he declined to give his name.

"He is in the city on official business of the state of Illinois," said the unidentified man.

He did not specify the nature of the official business concerned, but it was believed that he referred to the Wanderer reprieve which Gov. Small granted during the morning.

But the outstanding fact about the afternoon conference was that Fred Lundin was absent. This aroused prolonged discussion around the Congress and resulted in intimations from a source close to the governor that he is "through" following the suggestions—or dictations—of Mr. Lundin.

It was said the indicted executive blames the head of the Thompson machine for the fiasco of his telegraphic offer to surrender in Chicago. His friends feel this proposal made the governor look ridiculous since its hidden purpose was immediately uncovered by the good natured refusal of Sheriff Mester of Sangamon county to fall into what he believed a clumsy trap.

In any event, the effort to switch the legal battle to Cook county has stretched out the period of the governor's evasion of service and, as one of his friends expressed it, has made Mr. Small's continuation of the rôle of "an innocent man who wants nothing more than an immediate fair trial," one of constantly increasing difficulties.

Lundin Advice Proves Mistake.

It is also reported that it was Mr. Lundin who gave assurances that Sheriff Mester would, without question or delay, accept the invitation to come to Chicago and get his prisoner. This proved to be a sad mistake, and it was one of the causes said to have led to a decision by Gov. Small that the day's business would proceed without Mr. Lundin or other volunteers and be confined to his legal battery which, during the day, was expanded into a quintet by the addition of Charles C. Le Purge of Decatur.

The others who already have given valuable time to the case are former Gov.

WANDERER GETS 60 DAY REPRIEVE

10 WHITE COLLAR MEN START HERE TO REFORM U. S.

Union Has Small but Flying Start.

The "White Collar" movement was launched by Dr. Charles F. Gillman in Hotel Sherman last night.

One of the first to arrive in the second floor room, provided for the meeting, was Dr. Gillman himself. He took his place at the long table provided for the speaker, at the east end of the room.

A large water pitcher was conveniently placed at his right hand. Two large glasses that might have done justice to a purveyor of liquid refreshment in the days when the "largest and coolest" was advertised, awaited to aid in quenching the thirst of the speaker.

Dr. Gillman waited. He waited for several minutes. Patiently he rubbed his hands and thumbed over the notes he had made for his address. Again he waited.

His Patience Rewarded; Ten Come.

At last his patience was rewarded. The first member of the audience had arrived. Dr. Gillman smiled. Another came and took a seat. Another and another interested person came into the room. At the end of half an hour there were ten men in the audience.

Dr. Gillman arose from his chair and opened the meeting. In spite of the rain and the small number in attendance, his enthusiasm was undampened. He declared that he intended to organize every city in the United States in the Professional and Business Men's Federation of America. Eventually, he told his audience, he hoped even to reorganize the government itself.

Raps Unappreciative Business Men.

"The business man who cannot find time to attend a meeting is untrue to himself and to his fellow men," Dr. Gillman declared.

The purpose of his organization, he said, was to combat the high cost of living, reduce rents, and make chain store enterprises unprofitable by excessive taxation. This could be made effective, he said, by having certain bills he had drawn up passed by congress.

CHICAGO GIRLS USE PLANE TO CATCH TRAIN

Denver, Col., July 28.—[Special.]—Two Chicago girl tourists, Misses Florence True and Louise Kellogg, hired a taxi at the Broadmoor hotel Monday afternoon to take them to the railroad station. The auto broke down, and when repairs were made they arrived just after their train had pulled out.

Nothing daunted, they taxied to the aviation field, engaged a fast plane, and landed at Limon, Col., a distance of 107 miles, ahead of the railroad flyer.

Fannie Hurst and Hubby on Vacation Together

Inlet, N. Y., July 28.—[Special.]—Fannie Hurst and husband are registered here for a vacation and are having breakfasts together just as most married mortals.

The magic powder still clings to the butterfly wings of love, it was indicated, although she and the musicianly Mr. Danielson, her marital partner in the two-breakfast-a-wek-together experiment, have been married two years. Unlike many other couples who confront each other daily over the eggs and cereal seven days a week, Mrs. Hurst-Danielson and husband believe in vacations together.

TWO BOYS DIE AT CAMP ROOSEVELT; FIRST ON RECORD

Muskegon, Mich., July 28.—Death visited Camp Roosevelt twice today, the first since the Chicago R. O. T. C. training camp was established three years ago.

Robert Spoerer, 13, 2031 Chase avenue, Chicago, son of Charles J. Spoerer, was drowned in Lake Michigan after his three companions had made a heroic attempt to save him.

Robert Pendergast, 13, son of Mrs. Mary Pendergast, 5533 Dorchester avenue, Chicago, died suddenly tonight at a local hospital from an acute attack of lung trouble.

Both boys were members of the Scout crafters' division. Spoerer went on a hike three miles along Lake Michigan early today with sixteen other scoutcrafters under the direction of Abner Brezneck. With three other boys he was bathing in Lake Michigan when he was caught in the undertow. The companions formed a human chain and had reached him when another wave rolled over them. It forced them to give up Spoerer and battle for their own lives. All reached shore after a struggle. His body has not been recovered.

RED JELLYFISH INVADE BEACHES; STINGS BATHERS

Boston, Mass., July 28.—[Special.]—More than 150 bathers were treated at a hospital and thousands more were driven from Nantasket and adjoining beaches today when a school of red jellyfish drifted inshore and the peculiar sea pest severely stung all who came in contact with it.

The feelers of the fish exude a poisonous substance which infects the skin and causes swelling and pain.

"Fly Cops" to Guard City from Low Flying Aviators

Aviators landing on the lake shore at the foot of Stratford place will be warned by the police to avoid flying low over the houses nearby.

Mrs. R. C. Griffin, 561 Stratford place, last night complained to Lieut. Sylvester Cotter of the Town Hall station and to Chief Fitzmorris that an airplane had flown so close above the roof she feared he would crash, and everybody ran out of the house.

"We haven't any air force," said Cotter. "But we have some fly cops. And we'll send them to tell the aviators to be careful not to endanger citizens hereafter."

Riga Declares Russia Will Free U. S. Prisoners

LONDON, July 28.—[United Press.]—The central soviet in Moscow, overruling the council of extremists, has decided to release all Americans interned in Russia in accordance with the Hughes demand, which made this a prerequisite of American relief efforts on Russia's behalf, it is reported from Riga.

CONGRESS PLANS TO TAKE RECESS BY MID-AUGUST

Harding Suggests It to House Leaders.

Washington, D. C., July 28.—[Special.]—Republican leaders of the house were the guests of the President at dinner tonight to discuss the status of important legislation in congress and effect an agreement, if possible, as to what bills should be passed before congress could safely take a recess in August.

In the discussion tonight divergent views were expressed. Some members thought that the tariff or the tax bill should be enacted into law before congress took a recess.

Urges Revenue Measure.

The President told them that if such a course were followed there could be no recess. He expressed the view that the effect on business would be quite as good if the house should pass a revenue measure and present it to the senate as if congress should remain in session and slowly complete tax revision.

He is reported as saying that he had been told by experts that it was not necessary to revise the laws before the end of the calendar year and little could be accomplished by congress remaining in session, while the senate committee held hearings on the tariff and tax bills.

Agree with President.

The predominant opinion was in agreement with the argument of Mr. Harding. It is believed that as the result of this and the conference with senate leaders an agreement by the congressional leaders will be reached this week and congress will take a recess from about Aug. 20 until Oct. 1.

Those at the dinner were Speaker Gillett, Representatives Mondell, Wyoming; Mann, Illinois; Longworth, Ohio; Fordney, Michigan; Madden, Illinois; Green, Iowa; Green, Vermont; Butler, Pennsylvania; Porter, Pennsylvania; Winslow, Massachusetts; Towner, Iowa; Fess and Burton of Ohio.

Add Two More Bills.

The senate steering committee, yielding to demands of the agricultural bloc today, added two more important measures to the legislative program of the present session. The two measures are:

The Capper-Tincher bill to regulate grain exchanges as amended by the senate agriculture committee.

The Kenyon bill to give the farmers representation in regulating the national banking machinery by making the secretary of agriculture a member of the federal reserve board.

The two bills will take their place on the senate calendar for consideration in the order named immediately after the anti-beer bill is passed.

[Copyright: 1921: By the Baltimore Sun.]

Baltimore, Md., July 28.—[Special.]—The board of trustees of the Johns Hopkins hospital has just issued the following dictum:

"The maximum fee that any surgeon ought to charge for an operation, no matter how wealthy the patient may be, is $1,000. The maximum charge that any physician ought to make for attending patients in a hospital is $35 a week."

The dictum takes on the force of an order to physicians and surgeons practicing in the hospital, limiting the fees to be charged.

The ruling was issued after long consideration of all the conditions surrounding physicians and surgeons, the cost of living, scale on which physicians and surgeons are required to live, and the like. In it eminent scientists at the hospital concurred.

West Park Board to Open New Golf Course Aug. 20

Commissioners of the west park system yesterday announced that the golf course in Columbus park, at Jackson boulevard and Austin avenue, will be opened to the public Aug. 20. It is a nine hole course, declared the finest of its kind in the city. It also was agreed to place more lights in Humboldt park, because, the commissioners said, "spooning has become too unrestricted there."

SECRET TRIP OF SPURGIN AND 3 TO BANK BARED

2 Women in Party; 'Blonde' with Him?

With private detectives from Lloyds closing in at the end of a trail near Mobile, Ala., and with the police and state's attorney detectives pushing on into Mexico in their search for Warren C. Spurgin, developments that may open an entirely new channel of investigation into the Michigan Avenue Trust company embezzlement case were revealed last night.

The disclosures concern a secret night visit made to the bank by the fugitive banker, another man, and two women on Sunday, July 17. Until yesterday it had been believed Spurgin fled from Chicago on July 15.

Other developments had to do with the identity of women alleged to have been associated with Spurgin in his frequent tours of Chicago cabarets and with a statement indicating depositors of the looted bank may recover as much as 65 cents on the dollar. The girl who has been described as "a blonde without visible means of support, who maintains herself in luxury," was identified as Miss Helen Le Roy, 21 years old, now believed to be with the fugitive Spurgin.

Bares Secret Bank Visit.

Assistant State's Attorney James A. McShane made the discovery of Spurgin's secret visit to the bank.

"A responsible witness," he said, "will swear he saw Spurgin, another man, and two women drive up to the bank on the Sunday night before the crash came. It was about 9 o'clock. They were in a high priced car, the ownership of which we have been able to trace.

"Both men went into the bank, leaving the women in the automobile. The men remained in the bank about three-quarters of an hour. There is some evidence indicating what they were doing, but this is one of the things I can't discuss now.

"The last positive trace we have of Spurgin is when he and his companions drove away from the bank that night. We attach great importance to this development. It may mean that a man we had not suspected will be accused as equally responsible with Spurgin for the fund shortage."

Sets Loss at Million.

The information as to the depositors' prospects came through Clarence Beutel, cashier of the Michigan Avenue Trust company. He said the total loss, at first estimated at $1,500,000, probably would not exceed $1,000,000. While refusing to commit himself Mr. Beutel intimated the depositors might expect to retrieve 65 cents on the dollar.

The identity of "the blonde" was established through Alfred Meyer, a chauffeur living at 3218 Dickens avenue. Meyer three years ago taught Miss Le Roy to drive an automobile.

"At that time," said Meyer, "I was employed at the Marion Hanley company auto shop, 2329 Michigan avenue. I was sent to Miss Le Roy's apartment at 53d street and Michigan avenue. She had a new $1,800 car. I instructed her in driving.

Girl Fleeing with Spurgin?

"Even after she could do so herself I often drove the car. Sometimes there was a man with her. I am sure he was Spurgin. Helen lived in the apartment with an elderly woman she said was her aunt. She spent money like water. She frequently gave me $10 for nothing at all.

"I did not see Miss Le Roy for about two years. Then one afternoon several months ago I met her. She was driving a new car and looked more prosperous than ever."

Information in possession of the state's attorney indicates Spurgin's friendship with Miss Le Roy continued at least up to the time he left Chicago, but that she recently assumed another name. While the names of several women have been associated with that of the banker, investigators seem sure the blonde was first in his affections and accompanied him in his flight.

Hiding Near Mobile, Ala.?

The theory that Spurgin is in hiding with relatives near Mobile was advanced by W. C. Bruns, acting manager of Toplis & Harding, Chicago representatives of Lloyds of London. He said the marshal of an Alabama village had recognized the banker when the latter called for his mail Wednesday.

"For obvious reasons," said Mr. Bruns, "we don't wish to name the village, but Spurgin's identification is

Delay Granted On Appeal of Legion Head

Carl Wanderer, who was to be hanged today for the murder of the "ragged stranger," last night was granted a reprieve until Sept. 30, by Gov. Small.

The reprieve was granted on the motion of William McCauley, Illinois commander of the American Legion.

Wanderer, convicted of killing his wife and the stranger in a "phoney" holdup in the vestibule of his home, had been a lieutenant in the army.

McCauley, and Wanderer's attorney, W. D. Bartholomew, asked the reprieve so that a commission of alienists might determine whether Wanderer is sane. A jury trial of his sanity already has been had, with the result that he was pronounced sane.

Gets News in Death Cell.

Wanderer was in the death cell when the news came. He smiled.

"I guess my wife will have to wait a while before she sees me," he said.

"If Wanderer is sane he should be hanged," the American Legion commander said. "If he is insane he should be locked up for life. Information has reached me which creates a doubt in my mind as to his sanity."

This information came from Dr. James Whitney Hall, alienist, who examined Wanderer some time ago. Dr. Hall is so firmly convinced that the "horrors of war" have deranged Wanderer's mind that he appealed to the American Legion and to the governor in the prisoner's behalf.

Calls Victim a Gunman.

Attorney Bartholomew, it is said, asserts the "ragged stranger" killed by Wanderer was a notorious gunman and that his identity can be proved.

McCauley admitted he had talked to Dr. Hall and others—Dr. Harold N. Moyer, Dr. W. J. Hickson, Dr. Florence N. Fowler, Dr. E. B. Russell, and Dr. Alexander Hershfield.

In a letter to Gov. Small asking the reprieve, Commander McCauley said:

"I feel that if sufficient time is granted for you to appoint a commission to make a thorough examination as to his sanity no great harm can come to the people of the state of Illinois. Every safeguard possible should be thrown around a man where the question of sanity is raised."

Will Fight Commutation.

Ernest S. Hodges, acting first assistant state's attorney, announced last night that the prosecutor's office would fight any move to free Wanderer or commute his sentence with every means at its command.

"We feel," he said, "that Wanderer's case has already been properly adjudicated. He has been given a fair trial and found guilty by a jury of his peers. One jury has found that he was sane at the time he committed the murder and another decided only a few weeks ago that he is sane now."

"Under the statute," Attorney Michael Ahern said, "both the state and the petitioner produce experts to testify before a jury as to the condemned man's sanity. The experts are certain to contradict each other. Where only one commission is appointed, if it gives an honest decision, the state is virtually certain of learning the truth."

PRINCESS MARY FOX TROTS AT EAST END BALL

LONDON, July 28.—[United News.]—Princess Mary, sister of the Prince of Wales, is vieing with her brother in surprising Londoners with her informality.

For two hours the princess fox-trotted, waltzed, and chain danced, choosing her partners from the ranks of the workers. Dennis Taylor, a former soldier, now out of employment, was her first partner, in a fox trot, afterwards Princess Mary danced with four other young men.

"I was thunderstruck when I found that the princess was my partner," said Taylor afterwards. "I would rather have faced a battery with my old machine gun. But she talked and danced my nervousness away."

DINNER TO HIM IN WASHINGTON EMBASSY OFF

His Reply Is Attack on Lord Curzon.

Washington, D. C., July 28.—[Special.]—Boycotted by the British embassy for having criticized the fitness of Premier Lloyd George and Lord Curzon, secretary of state for foreign affairs, as delegates to the forthcoming Washington conference, Lord Northcliffe, not visibly perturbed by the attitude of his home government, is busily engaged in making the most of the two days he is spending in Washington.

Much interest was aroused, however, when it became known that the British embassy, acting presumably under instructions from London, had canceled invitations for a dinner tonight at which Lord Northcliffe was to have been a guest of honor and to which a distinguished company, including several cabinet officers, had been invited.

Invitations Suddenly Recalled.

In spite of the denial of R. Leslie Craigie, first secretary of the embassy, that a dinner had been arranged or that any entertainment had been planned for Lord Northcliffe, or that the embassy had even known that he was in town, it is known that invitations were issued two weeks ago and canceled by the embassy day before yesterday, an attaché of the embassy expressing the regrets of the ambassador, Sir Anckland Geddes, and explaining that it had been found impossible to give the dinner tonight, and that all invitations were therefore being recalled.

In high official circles here tonight it is generally understood that Lord Northcliffe is being disciplined and the support of his government withdrawn from him in consequence of his editorial censure of the prime minister and the foreign secretary.

It is said that the British ambassador was instructed not only not to entertain Lord Northcliffe, but not to accompany him to the White House, present him to the President, or countenance him in any way during his stay in Washington.

Blames Lord Curzon.

A statement issued by Lord Northcliffe follows:

"Lord Northcliffe tonight authorized the statement that he had been invited while in Washington to stop at the British embassy, with his entire staff, and to attend a dinner there tonight. For some reason of which he is not aware both invitations were withdrawn.

"Knowing the methods in India of Lord Curzon, the British foreign secretary, Lord Northcliffe is pretty certain that Lord Curzon has adopted those methods here. In India, while viceroy, he cut off the news supply of newspapers that criticized him and placed a social embargo on their writers. On the present occasion, Lord Northcliffe says, Lord Curzon is not dealing with Indian natives or the owners of small Indian newspapers.

"Lord Northcliffe regrets he cannot visit with his friend, Sir Auckland Geddes, to whom he paid his respects today, after being with President Harding at the White House, but is consoled concerning his cancelled embassy dinner by the fact that he will meet tomorrow night, at a dinner given by Mrs. Edward B. McLean, all the people who were originally invited to the embassy dinner."

His Call on President.

Lord Northcliffe having been advised that the President would be glad to receive him and having numerous personal invitations, has been busy every moment since his arrival this morning. After breakfasting at his hotel with H. Wickham Steed, editor of the London Times, he called by appointment at the White House and broke all records by spending more than an hour with President Harding.

The President greeted him with enthusiasm as one editor to another, showed him a copy of the Marion Star, and talked eagerly and with interest of the newspaper business and other matters, as Lord Northcliffe afterward admitted, though refusing to go into details.

To Meet Harding's Aids.

This afternoon Lord Northcliffe motored to Mount Vernon with a party and tomorrow will be entertained at luncheon at the Overseas club, a group of Washington correspondents and editors who have seen journalistic service abroad, and tomorrow night he will be entertained at dinner by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Beale McLean, the company on that occasion including several members of the cabinet, and others in official and diplomatic as well as resident social circles.

Of Secretary Hoover, on whom he called before going to the White House, Northcliffe said: "Hoover and I are old friends. I first met him in my office on an occasion when he had some criticism to make of my newspapers. It was good criticism and we followed it. He's an 'A No. 1' man."

WHAT CAUSED ROW

Lord Northcliffe's views to which such violent exception has been taken by the British foreign office were expressed in an editorial in the London Times of July 13, just prior to Lord Northcliffe's departure for the United States.

After criticizing the "conversations" of Lord Curzon with the American and Japanese ambassadors and the Chinese minister at London on matters in connection with the conference then engaging the attention of President Harding, the editorial continued:

"It is for the same reason of avoiding suspicion that the attendance of Mr. Lloyd George or of Lord Curzon at Washington seems particularly undesirable. The pompous and pretentious manner of the foreign secretary, his business incapacity, as exhibited in the present state of his department, and his obsequious docility to the prime minister's behests, even when these may not commend themselves to his judgment, unfit him for the discharge of the responsible duties which the mission would impose upon him.

Premier Distrusted.

"The prime minister himself has many admirers at home even among his opponents. The 'magnetic influence' of the man, his courage in debate, and his humor appeal to them. But of all statesmen in Europe he is probably the most distrusted.

"It is notorious that no government and no statesman who has had dealings with him puts the smallest confidence in him. In America he is widely regarded as the man who encompassed Mr. Wilson with his 'wizardry,' or as Mr. Keynes—whose book has been widely read in the United States—more brutally puts it, as the man who 'bamboozled' the ex-president and was unable to 'debamboozle him.'

"Mr. Lansing's striking picture of Mr. Lloyd George has also found its way into many American minds. The great qualifications needed for the representative of the empires is a character for conspicuous straightforwardness and honor. We have many such men in our public life, but Mr. Lloyd George is not of them, and that he is not of them is well known in the country where the Bullitt revelations were debated in the senate and circulated and discussed at length by the press."

BURDETT-COUTTS, M.P. FOR 36 YEARS, DIES IN ENGLAND

LONDON, July 28.—The Rt. Hon. William L. Ashmead-Bartlett-Burdett-Coutts, who has been a member of parliament for the Abbey division of Westminster since 1885, died today at Holly Lodge, Highgate.

Mr. Burdett-Coutts had been ill for several months with arterial trouble. It had been arranged to amputate one of his legs on Wednesday, but Tuesday night his illness took a sudden turn for the worse.

William Burdett-Coutts was born in 1851 in the United States, the second son of Ellis Bartlett of Plymouth, Mass. In 1881 he married Baroness Burdett-Coutts and assumed by royal license the surname of Burdett-Coutts. The baroness when 23 inherited virtually the whole of the wealth of her grandfather, Thomas Coutts, amounting to about $10,000,000, a fabulous sum in those days, by the will of the Duchess of St. Albans, who, as the actress Henrietta Mellon, had been his second wife.

LOSES ZEST FOR SUICIDE AFTER 2 SMALL CUTS

For a while there was a great hubbub of excitement. Special cops went scurrying all over Lincoln park looking for the culprit who "stuck up" Frank Spielberger of 850 Reed street. Their patience was just beginning to wear out when Policeman Herman Black spied a razor, then noticed blood on Spielberger's clothing, and remarked:

"You've been cut up—not stuck up."

The "victim" sheepishly admitted he had attempted suicide, but thought better of it after inflicting two slight wounds. He was locked up for the holdup story.

Aviator Song Salesman Flies Away with $20 Bill

Joseph Cinci, 1622 North Sawyer avenue, in King Joy Lo's restaurant late last night gave a song writer and salesman, name unknown, a $20 bill, out of which was to come the price of the song, "Flying Around the Skies." The author-salesman, who claimed to be an ex-aviator, went for the change. He didn't come back.

'BLACK SOX' END CASE; CHEERED BY GLEASON'S STORY

Claim Manager Refutes Burns' Charges.

Jubilant over the admission of evidence which they declare will result in the collapse of the state's case, the defense in the trial of former White Sox players accused of selling out the 1919 world's series, rested after a night session

"KID" GLEASON, last night. The case will be given to the jury either Saturday evening or Monday.

Assistant State's Attorneys Tyrrell, Gorman, and Prindeville intimated that several witnesses would be called today, including Joe Gedeon, former St. Louis ball player.

The surprise action of the defense followed evidence by Manager Gleason of the White Sox, Trainer Stephenson, and four Sox players, Ray Schalk, Wilkinson, Kerr, and Eddie Collins. They testified that all the Sox players, including the defendants, practiced for two hours in the Cincinnati park during the morning before the first world's series game.

Contradicts "Bill" Burns.

The defense holds that this absolutely contradicts the testimony of "Bill" Burns, the state's star witness, who told of meeting the players that morning in their rooms at the Sinton hotel to work out the details of the conspiracy.

The state, however, contends that the conference mentioned by Burns could have been held before the morning practice. They pointed out that none of the witnesses were positive as to the time the men left the hotel for practice.

Figures were introduced to show that the receipts of the White Sox team jumped from $521,175.76 in 1919 to $910,206.59 in 1920. This was written into the record by the defense to prove that the alleged conspiracy had not in reality injured the business of Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the White Sox, as the indictment charges.

Manager Gleason Testifies.

Q.—When did you arrive in Cincinnati at the time of the 1919 world's series? A.—Tuesday morning, the day before the first game.

Q.—Did you go to the ball park for practice? A.—Yes, about 10 o'clock.

Q.—How long did you stay? A.—For about an hour and a half.

Q.—Then if "Bill" Burns said he saw these defendants in a room at the Sinton hotel in the forenoon he is not telling the truth? An objection was sustained.

Q.—Well, these defendants could not have been in a room at the Sinton hotel during the hours between 10 and 12 o'clock that morning? A.—Not while they were practicing.

Under cross-examination Manager Gleason admitted that he could not tell for certain just what time the players left the Sinton hotel for morning practice.

Schalk Takes Stand.

Ray Schalk, catcher, was the next witness. When Attorney Nash began to question him as to his ability, Assistant State's Attorney Tyrrell said:

"That's not necessary; we'll admit that."

Q.—Did you practice the morning before the world's series of 1919 began? A.—Yes, some time between 10 and 12 o'clock.

Q.—Were they all there? A.—As far as I know.

Attorney Gorman then announced that he would make Mr. Schalk a witness for the state.

Q.—On the evening of the second game state whether you saw the defendants together in a room at the Sinton. A.—I did.

"Capt. Collins and some of the other players were there, were they not?" asked Attorney Short. Schalk answered no.

Capt. Eddie Collins, Kerr, and Wilkinson gave testimony similar to that of Manager Gleason.

"I came 900 miles to tell this," said Kerr in disgust as he walked from the courtroom.

Gave Risberg Medicine.

Trainer H. W. Stephenson was the last witness called. Attorney Nash questioned him.

Q.—I'll ask you if you gave "Swede" Risberg any medicine on the evening before the first game? A.—Yes, I did. He complained of a cold on his chest.

Attorney Gorman cross-examined.

Q.—Who was with him? A.—Eddie Cicotte and "Happy" Felsch.

"Dutch" Ruether, formerly a Cincinnati pitcher and now with the Brooklyn club, John Collins, and Harry Leibold were called during the morning as witnesses to prove that the ball players did not notice anything suspicious about the plays in the world's series games. Objections to these questions were sustained.

The defendants on trial are Eddie Cicotte, "Swede" Risberg, "Chick" Gandil, "Lefty" Williams, Joseph Jackson, "Happy" Felsch, and "Buck" Weaver, players, and Carl Zork and David Zelser, alleged gamblers. Judge Hugo Friend has already indicated that he will not allow a verdict of guilty to stand against Weaver, Felsch or Zork.

SALE OF POSTERS AS HERO BENEFIT BRINGS INQUIRY

Col. John V. Clinnin, first assistant to United States District Attorney Clyne, is investigating the sale and distribution of Pageant of Progress posters which have a seal on them reading "Endorsed by Members of the American Legion."

This is not allowed by the national and state departments of the legion.

The distribution is being made by so called "Unemployed World War Veterans," operated by Joseph Sohm of 233 West Ontario street. He employs ex-soldiers who wear their uniforms. The posters sell for 50 cents, Sohm taking 60 per cent and the salesmen getting 40 per cent, Col. Clinnin was informed.

Sohm has bought about 180 watermelons from the proceeds, it is said, for distribution at the Drexel and Jackson park hospitals.

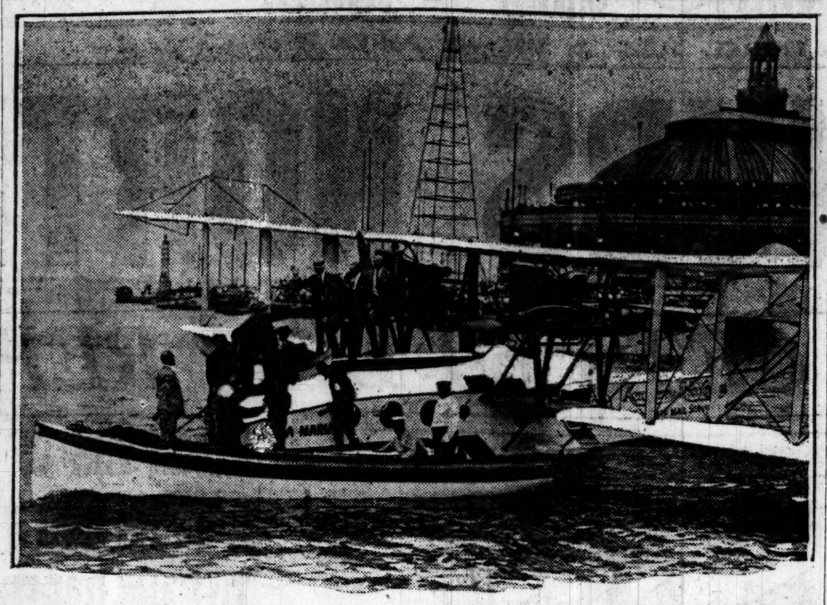
ALL ABOARD FOR THE MIDAIR LIMITED!



The Santa Maria, with Christopher Columbus not on board, discovered Chicago yesterday. It is the largest passenger flying boat in the world. The Santa Maria left Detroit last Friday for Chicago, following the shores of Lakes Huron and Michigan, and making frequent stops at cities along the way. Its average speed for the trip was seventy-five miles an hour, and the final jump from Milwaukee was made in sixty-five minutes. Ten passengers and crew were aboard. Among the former were Lieut. Commander P. N. Bellinger, navigator of the NC-4 in the first trans-Atlantic flight; Jack Binns, who gained fame as the wireless operator on the erstwhile Republic; and John T. McCutcheon of The Tribune. In the fifty foot hull, with its two comfortable cabins and an observation cockpit, they had plenty of room to move about. The Santa Maria will be one of the sights at the Pageant of Progress exposition.

WASHINGTON NEWS —IN BRIEF—

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 28.

President Harding's efforts to bring about a recess of congress were further retarded today by the action of the steering committee in adding to the legislative program the Capper-Tincher bill to regulate grain exchanges and the Kenyon bill making the secretary of agriculture a member of the federal reserve board.

Any food that may be sent to Russia by the American relief commission will go to the children who are said to be starving, and can be of no aid or support to the soviet government, it was explained today in answer to criticisms of the offer to extend relief on the conditions accepted by other countries.

Republican members of the house ways and means committee stood firm in their determination not to repeal miscellaneous taxes.

The dye embargo controversy will be renewed tomorrow before the senate finance committee, which will take up the chemical schedule of the Fordney tariff bill.

Lord Northcliffe has been boycotted by the British embassy which, acting presumably under instructions from London, cancelled a dinner for him tonight and has withheld from him all recognition during his stay in Washington.

SYDNEY, N. S., July 28.—A forest fire tonight wiped out New Haven, a hamlet of 500 population, and for several hours menaced with destruction the village of Neills Harbor, about sixty miles north of here.

DISARMED AS HE WAVES GUN OVER MOTHER AND SON

Sergts. Michael Wood and Fred Klein of the Hyde Park station disarmed Harry Bennett, 37 years old, 1537 East 55th street, as he was flourishing a revolver at Mrs. J. C. Johnson and her son F. C. Johnson, in an areaway between 4907 and 4909 Lake Park avenue. Mrs. Johnson, who lives at the latter address, told the police that Bennett, whom she has known for some time, went to her home last night and rang the bell. She answered through the speaking tube and he asked her to come down.

She met him in the areaway, she said and then her son, who had followed her, came up. When Bennett saw him he drew a revolver, told them that he would shoot them both, and commanded them to get down on their kneees and pray, Mrs. Johnson said. When she did not instantly obey, she charges he struck her in the mouth, knocking out two teeth. Neighbors saw them and called the police. Bennett was booked for carrying concealed weapons.

Blanche Reichenberg: Your Mother Wants You

Mrs. David Reichenberg of 136 South Tenth avenue, Maywood, has asked THE TRIBUNE to tell her daughter, Blanche, 16 years old, to come home. Blanche disagreed with her parents about going out nights and left home on June 2. Since then she has written many letters, telling of her work with "swell, rich people." "Do you want me to come back?" she asks in each letter.

FAVORS GIVING MELLON POWER ON ALLIED LOAN

Senate Committee O. K. Placed on Bill.

BY JOHN GLEISSNER.
[United News Staff Correspondent.]

Washington, D. C., July 28.—The administration, it is now indicated, has won its fight for "blanket authority" to fund the debts of foreign governments.

The senate finance committee voted today to report out the administration's bill with a single amendment, which would limit the funding operations to five years.

The opposition of the committee was quieted by information which Secretary of the Treasury Mellon submitted and by the extent to which the United States is bound by previous negotiations.

Count on "Regulars."

The fight on the measure will be transferred to the floor, but Republican leaders count on the "regular" majority to put through the bill in spite of its enemies.

Senators La Follette and Borah, among the Republicans, will seek to impose restrictions. They will have the aid of Senators Reed, Missouri, Walsh, Massachusetts, and other Democrats.

In a letter to Senator Penrose, chairman of the committee, Mr. Mellon said this government had been committed to a postponement of interest for two or three years. Of that time more than two years have elapsed. Mr. Mellon said further it had been understood no interest was to be charged on this deferred interest—amounting to a billion dollars at this time—but that it was to be added to the principal. The United States agreed, Mr. Mellon said, to accept German bonds for Belgium's indebtedness, but he was not able to say whether that would be a matter "for further consideration." There is no intention, he declared, of accepting bonds of other than the debtor nations.

Would Question Debtors.

"The situation which confronts the treasury is exceedingly complex," Mr. Mellon said, "and to deal properly with it the treasury must have ample powers to enable it, when the condition of each debtor country has been ascertained definitely, and the claims of all parties interested have been presented, to deal with the situation broadly in such a way as will, in its judgment, best protect the interests of that country and secure the payment of the principal and interest of the debts owing to it."

Mr. Mellon said he would ask each debtor nation to submit a statement telling under what terms it could pay, and what arrangements it desired. He could start funding negotiations, he said, with Great Britain, the principal debtor, and negotiate with France and the other nations thereafter.

Interest collections, Mr. Mellon said, might be deferred for some time to come, though not necessarily until April 22 of next year, the date agreed upon in the "understanding." Mr. Mellon said the United States is under no obligations as a result of the Rathbone Blackett negotiations of 1919.

Two Amendments Beaten.

The committee declined to adopt two amendments to the administration bill offered by Senator Walsh of Massachusetts. The first would have compelled Mellon to submit to the senate any agreement reached before it was ratified, the second provided for submission after ratification. The vote on each was 10 to 4, Senator Lafollette voting with the Democrats. The final vote on the bill was 9 to 5.

Senators Simmons, Walsh, Reed and Gerry, Democrats, and Lafollette, Republican, voting against it, Senator Williams, Democrat, voted with the Republicans.

Doubt exists as to when the bill will be considered in the senate. Leaders are expected to make an effort to bring it up at once, but it is questioned if this can be done because of the press of other business.

ONCE ENGLISH, NOW GERMAN, LOSES ESTATE

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

LONDON, July 28.—An English court today decided that Houston Stewart Chamberlain, the former Englishman who received publicity during the war through his anti-British propaganda, is now a German subject, within the meaning of the Versailles treaty, and thus forfeits a life interest in the estate of his uncle, the late Gen. Sir Crawford Trotter Chamberlain.

Chamberlain was born in England in 1855, lived in Vienna from 1882 to 1906, and afterward went to Germany, where he divorced his first wife. In 1906 he married Eva Wagner, a daughter of the famous composer, Richard Wagner.

During the war he wrote numerous articles bitterly attacking Great Britain. In 1916 he became a naturalized German citizen and since then has been living at Bayreuth.

POLICE KILLED O'NEILL, O'CONNOR ALIBI IN ST. PAUL

Outlaw Is Trapped by Heroic Trainman.

St. Paul, Minn., July 28.—[Special.]—"Terrible Tommy" O'Connor and James Gallagher, two Chicago gunmen charged with murder, arrested in St. Paul this week, have admitted their identity, according to police, and will waive extradition and return to Chicago to fight their cases in the courts.

O'Connor is charged with killing Sergt. Patrick O'Neill while this officer and five others were attempting to capture him at a relative's home at Chicago March 23. O'Connor told newspaper men today that the police were to blame for the sergeant's death.

"Never Killed Any One."

"It wasn't my revolver that killed him," he declared. "O'Neill was shot down by his own pals, a mistake, of course, but they shot him. And after that mistake they ran away and put the blame on me.

"Yes—on me," he said hotly. "Me that never killed any one. Do you wonder that I ran away? What chance had I with every policeman in the city out to get me dead or alive? Me with the con—only 138 pounds," drawing himself up, "and I never shot to kill in my life.

"My first thought after the shooting was to come back and prove my innocence. Then I read the accounts in newspapers and realized that every policeman in Chicago was against me. I wouldn't have stood a chance in court. "I felt sorry for Paddy O'Neill's widow. Once I nearly surrendered to her so she could get the big rewards that were offered for me, dead or alive, but the detectives raided some more houses looking for me, and I got cold feet."

Persecuted, Gallagher Says.

Gallagher says he is being persecuted by the police. "They've got me all wrong. I wasn't in on the Dressel bank job at all. I'll prove it when they take me back to Chicago," was his only statement.

Gallagher is charged with shooting Richard Roullard in the robbery of the Dressel bank at Chicago June 16, 1920. He was arrested as a "drunk" by Rinde station police Wednesday night.

O'Connor's arrest Monday followed an attempt to hold up a porter on a Chicago Great Western passenger train on which he occupied a berth and was ticketed to Omaha. He took passage at Minneapolis.

Shortly after leaving the station he called the porter and ordered a bottle of beer. When the drink was served he pressed a pistol against the side of the negro with the command "Be quiet or I'll shoot and shoot to kill."

Knocked Off Engine Cab.

O'Connor then fled to the rear door of the car, calling to the porter to pull the bell cord for the "stop" signal. The porter pulled down the cord and, as the brakes ground, O'Connor leaped from the train.

As he ran from the train the would-be robber drew two pistols and attempted to board Great Northern switch engine No. 99. The fireman saw the pistol in O'Connor's hands and swung savagely with his coal pick, knocking the intruder off the engine cab.

The fleeing man then tried to board an Omaha freight engine standing near, but the crew fled as he jumped on the cab steps. They shouted for help as the bandit flourished his weapons, and he leaped from the locomotive, again taking flight.

O'Connor finally was captured by W. J. Woods, switch foreman for the Omaha railroad, after a thrilling chase of three blocks.

Take Two Revolvers.

Several times during the chase O'Connor threatened to kill Woods, but the railroad man held to the pursuit and finally effected the capture by darting on him unexpectedly from behind a building. Woods grabbed both of O'Connor's hands and held him until E. A. Johnson, train fireman, arrived. Johnson removed a .38 caliber automatic from the captive's hip pocket, and a .45 caliber revolver from a specially constructed vest pocket. The big weapon was found when O'Connor made a desperate struggle to free himself and get at the revolver. Woods and Johnson led O'Connor to the fire station, where he was held until police arrived. Six clips of automatic cartridges were found in O'Connor's pocket.

THE END OF THE TRAIL

William Foley was raided when Officer O'Neil was killed.

O'Connor is accused of having shot Patrolman Charles Rafferty of Highland Park last April. The policeman recovered after many weeks in a hospital. He knew O'Connor, he said, and was positive in his identification.

Among other crimes in which O'Connor is said to have taken part are the shooting of Policeman Edward Flynn in the raid on the Southwest Side Savings bank, the killing of Sergeants Burns and Lenehan in a saloon at 3301 West Madison street, the slaying of an aged railroad conductor, and the attempted robbery of the State Bank of Clearing. Gallagher is said to have been with him on the Clearing job.

NAMED AS MURDERER

O'Connor was accused of being one of four men who participated in the murder of Dennis Tierney at the Illinois Central station in February, 1918. Harry Emerson, George Raymond, and James Howard were the others. Emerson was arrested and convicted. He made a confession, saying O'Connor had killed Tierney. Raymond was killed by Lieut. John W. Norton.

O'Connor asked Jimmy Cherin, a lifetime friend, to take $200 to "Big Joe" Moran, who would wait an opportunity to kill Emerson. Cherin refused, saying that since his marriage he had been going straight."

O'Connor killed him Jan. 21, 1919. Jimmy's father, Dominick, Municipal court bailiff, swore he would bring the murderer to justice. Jimmy's widow and baby died five months later. Mrs. Cherin had turned on the gas. The bailiff found Louis J. Miller, eyewitness to the murder.

Freed in Tierney Death.

O'Connor was tried for the murder of Tierney, April 8, 1920. Emerson testified against him. This time he said it was Raymond who fired the fatal shot. O'Connor was acquitted. But the elder Cherin had him indicted for the slaying of Jimmy.

Miller was kidnaped from a saloon. The case against O'Connor was nolle prossed. But in January of this year THE TRIBUNE found Miller at his home, 3637 Lawrence avenue, and notified the state's attorney's office. The case was reopened. But O'Connor had fled. He was out on bonds of $45,000 at the time. It was to bring O'Connor to trial for the murder of Cherin that the home of

13,795 AMERICAN TROOPS STILL ON DUTY IN GERMANY

Washington, D. C., July 28.—[Special.]—American forces in Germany aggregate 13,795 officers and men, according to a letter from Secretary of War Weeks laid before the senate today.

The total cost of keeping these troops from Dec. 18, 1918, to April 30, 1921, has been $275,000,000, or an average of $966,000 a month, according to Secretary Weeks. The letter also states that on April 30, 1921, Germany owed the United States $240,000,000 for the maintenance of the American troops under the terms of the armistice.

READING WINS GHANDI TO INDIA REFORM REGIME

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

CALCUTTA, July 28.—According to reports circulating in well informed circles here Mr. Ghandi, the founder and leader of the "noncoöperative" movement, and Lord Reading, the new viceroy of India, have reached an understanding wherein the nationalists will drop their policy of taking no part in Indian affairs and will do their best to make the new reform government a success and the British will dissolve the present parliament, calling a new election so that the nationalists will have a voice in the government.

It is said Mr. Ghandi was well satisfied with the result of his conference with the viceroy and is doing his utmost to bring his followers to fall in line with the new policy. He wants to prove to Great Britain that India is capable of self-government, and he feels that if his followers desire, they can influence the British to grant it before the expiration of the ten year proba-

New York, July 28.—[Special.]—Herman Laue, as the advertising manager for the United States shipping board, was the honored guest tonight at a dinner at which speeches in praise of his work for the government were made.

Mr. Laue listened, but neither he nor the 150 guests present knew that but a few hours before the dinner began Albert D. Lasker, chairman of the shipping board, had removed Laue from his post and had appointed a Mr. Brundage to succeed him.

It was learned that Mr. Laue's successor was until recently connected with the Chicago advertising firm with which Mr. Lasker was affiliated when President Harding appointed him to the shipping board.

LLOYD GEORGE 'LOOKS FORWARD' TO IRISH PEACE

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

LONDON, July 28.—Referring to Ireland during the presentation of a gift by the members of the house of commons to Lord Fitzalan, the new viceroy of Ireland, this afternoon, Prime Minister Lloyd George said:

"We are looking forward to seeing the inauguration of a new era of peace in Ireland and the closing of a great feud between two peoples that have been cast by providence side by side in these islands."

Dublin Is Hopeful.

DUBLIN, July 28.—[By the Associated Press.]—An air of unusual optimism prevailed in Dublin today, Eamonn de Valera, the republican leader, had an informal meeting with some of his colleagues, after which it was confidentially stated that a communication from Mr. de Valera to Premier Lloyd George might be expected soon upon the proposed basis of a conference.

The Dublin Evening Herald, understands that matters of tremendous importance were discussed by the Dail Eireann cabinet Wednesday and that "the stage of discussions was passed and a fateful and happy decision reached."

The next move in the situation is likely to be another meeting in Ireland between Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, and Eamonn de Valera, the republican leader.

CONGRESS STILL WRANGLES OVER HEROES' RELIEF

Conferees Fail to Agree on Bureau Plan.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 28.—[Special.]—The congressional wrangle over the Sweet bill for the relief of the disabled veterans continued today without producing final results.

Better progress was made today, however, than at any time since the measure was thrown into dispute between the senate and house. The Walsh amendment to allow more humane and liberal treatment of ex-service men suffering from tuberculosis and mental diseases was adopted, with a slight modification. Several other amendments of less importance were adopted.

Point Still in Dispute.

The chief point of difference—namely, the senate amendment making the proposed veterans' bureau an independent bureau—remained in dispute. Senate members of the conference committee felt confident, however, that this would be retained. With that question decided, the other matters requiring adjustment would soon be settled, it was stated.

Additional appropriations of $16,400,000 will be needed to furnish adequate hospitalization for disabled veterans, according to Dr. William C. White of Pittsburgh, chairman of the committee of consulting physicians now advising the treasury department before the senate committee on soldiers' relief.

Hospital Needs Told.

With $18,600,000 appropriated by congress last March, the total outlay for additional hospital facilities, including Dr. White's latest estimate, will reach $38,000,000. Dr. White stated that thirteen hospital projects, involving the expenditure of $7,000,000, are already under construction.

Dr. White's testimony furnished some new light on the authorship of the Dawes report. The doctor testified that his committee, shortly after it was organized in April, prepared a report on the needs for soldiers' relief and turned it over to the Dawes commission. This report, he stated, was adopted in toto by the Dawes commission and submitted to the President as the Dawes report.

Reëxaminations Urged.

Col. Charles R. Forbes, director of the war risk bureau, suggested to the committee today the advisability of reexamining all ex-service men, to the number of over 4,000,000, to obtain a more accurate basis for awarding compensation to disabled veterans.

Dr. W. H. Tepriberry, assistant surgeon general, told the committee that 147 cases of dentists defrauding the government had been referred to the department of justice. He characterized these frauds as "low down graft." The dentists are accused of having charged for work never performed.

Dr. Haven Emerson, assistant director of the war risk bureau, in charge of the medical division, estimated that 5,000 ex-service men not now being cared for by the government should be brought into hospitals. In Chicago and New York, he stated, much difficulty had been experienced in providing adequate treatment for mental cases.

Lawyer Who Killed Self Leaves $100,000 to Family

The will of Frederick Cornish, attorney and real estate man who ended his life in his office in the Real Estate Exchange building July 17, was filed for probate yesterday, indicating an estate of $100,000. The entire estate is left to the widow and children, Andrew, Myron, Harold, and Margaret.

U. S., JAPAN, AND BRITAIN LIKELY TO TALK IT OVER

Preliminary Meeting Soon, London Says.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, July 28.—A preliminary conference to the Washington parley is likely to be held within a month somewhere on the American continent. This means the Pacific coast, either in the United States or Canada. The information was obtained today from 10 Downing street, where THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE was informed the matter has been practically settled, only awaiting formal replies from the nations most concerned.

These nations are the United States, Great Britain, and Japan, and the purpose of this informal conference will be to discuss the problems of the Pacific and to agree to the agenda on this subject for the larger and more formal conference in November.

It is settled that Prime Ministers Hughes and Massey of Australia and New Zealand, will attend on their way home from London.

The question has been raised whether Mr. Lloyd George could not also find time to attend a preliminary conference. The conference must be short, as the dominion premiers have little time to spare before they are needed at home to perform their parliamentary duties. But the very shortness of the discussions would make it more possible for the British premier to cross the Atlantic to join in them.

BRIAND BALKS AT ENGLISH

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, July 28.—Premier Briand will not attend the disarmament conference at Washington if published reports that English is to be the official language at the hearings are true, Paris officialdom intimated today.

Difficulty is expected in selecting competent representatives of France, as so few of the available candidates speak English.

Premier Briand today conferred with Ambassador Herrick, asking the exact date of the conference and intimating his inability to attend if it begins on Nov. 11.

U. S. BUSY ON DETAILS.

Washington, D. C., July 28.—[Special.]—President Harding and Secretary of State Hughes are now engaged in diplomatic conversations with the powers invited to participate in the conference on limitation of armaments and far eastern problems as to details of arrangement for discussions and the date.

Japan's unqualified agreement to participate without reservation has cleared the way for concluding the detailed arrangements. First to be decided will be the date. Officials here still hope it will be convenient for all the powers invited to come to Washington early in November, and the President is trying to get them to agree on Nov. 11 as the date for opening the conference, that being the anniversary of Armistice day.

JAPS STUDY DISARMAMENT.

TOKIO, July 28.—[By the Associated Press.]—The Japanese general staff and the war office, it is understood here, is making separate investigations in connection with curtailment of the army and that their reports will be submitted to a joint council of the foreign, navy and war departments.

Deadline for Taxicabs to File Bonds Fixed at Aug. 10

The police department yesterday served notice on taxicab owners that Aug. 10 has been set as the last day for complying with the new taxicab ordinance, which provides for a $10,000 bond for each cab. The law will be enforced to the limit, according to Capt. Lavin, head of the traffic department, who declared the council passed the law "to eliminate hoodlums and sluggers from the taxicab business."

Prices realized on Swift & Company sales of carcass beef in Chicago for week ending Saturday, July 23, on shipments sold out, ranged from 8 cents to 18 cents per pound and averaged 13.28 cents per pound.—Adv.

SECRET VISIT OF SPURGIN AND 3 TO BANK BARED

Two Women in the Party; "Blonde" with Him?

positive and we are expecting word momentarily that our man has been taken into custody."

"Spurgin," said Mr. Bruns, "was recognized by the village marshal when the banker called for his mail.

"But the marshal was not sure of his ground. He had no warrant for Spurgin. He wired to the chief of a nearby city, obtaining a full description of the man we want."

The vicinity of Mobile has been under close surveillance for several days, but dispatches reported many additional detectives arrived there yesterday. They proceeded to a village about forty miles from Mobile, confident Spurgin would be under arrest within a few hours.

SIX WOMEN IN CASE

The investigation here developed clews involving six women as companions of the fugitive banker. Information concerning five of them was revealed by Pinkerton operatives.

One of the women whose name has been linked with Spurgin's financial operations is said to be Mrs. Charles McHugh of the Webster hotel, New York. According to the detectives, there is evidence that Spurgin gave her $10,000 worth of oil stock not long before he left Chicago.

McHughs on Auto Trip.

Advices from New York indicated Mrs. McHugh and her husband had left early a month ago on a motoring trip to California. They retained rooms at the Webster hotel, 40 West 45th street. They are now believed to be making the return trip from Yellowstone Park. Mr. McHugh was connected with the Lexington hotel in Chicago until about three years ago. According to report he is now owner of the Webster in New York.

Bank examiners continued their investigation at the Michigan Avenue Trust company, and were preparing to turn over to the state's attorney's office a report on their audit.

Finds $250,000 Intact.

Holders of safety deposit boxes at the bank, lined up to examine their property, found nothing had been taken. One box contained $250,000 in cash.

"Mr. Spurgin knew this great sum of money was there," said Clarence Bentel, cashier. "As he didn't take anything there, it is certain he did not tamper with boxes containing smaller sums."

LEATHER DEAL AIRED

Ownership of $200,000 worth of leather which Spurgin had stored in the warehouse of William Reid, 235 West Lake street, probably will be established only after litigation. It will be claimed as assets of the bank, but title now rests with the Continental and Commercial National bank.

George M. Reynolds of the Continental and Commercial issued the following statement in explanation of the transaction identifying his institution with the leather holdings:

"About two years ago Spurgin applied for a loan to be secured by leather which he said he was then purchasing from the government. Our bank investigated the value of the leather which Spurgin offered us as collateral, and when we found the loan would be satisfactorily secured our bank loaned him $389,497.47 on Sept. 8, 1919.

"The bank took Spurgin's collateral note, and at the same time received the leather as security. The leather was kept at the warehouse of William Reid, an old and well known leather merchant of this city, and it has been held by Mr. Reid as agent for this bank since Sept. 8, 1919.

Leather Sales Net $93,497.

"There is absolutely no truth in any rumor that the leather was seized by our bank or by myself. Sales of the leather were made by Mr. Reid from time to time and payments to our bank aggregating $93,497.47 were made on the loan in various installments as leather was sold and the interest payments were made regularly.

"I personally had no financial interest of any kind in either the purchase of the leather or the making of the loan. There was nothing out of the usual connected with the loan, and it was made in the regular course of business of our bank."

RECEIVER FOR WARREN OIL

Upon the petition of Frank T. Jordan, attorney for certain stockholders, Judge David Brothers of the Circuit court appointed a receiver for the Warren Oil company of which Spurgin is president. The stockholders allege Spurgin defrauded them by dominating a board of directors who issued large amounts of the $1,000,000 capital stock of the company to themselves, for which they paid nothing. The bill sets up that $300,000 worth of stock has been sold and asks an accounting.

Four other officials of the company are named as responsible for the oil concern's plight. They are G. W. Ewing, an oil driller now in Texas; Wallace T. Miller, stock salesman; Wade Spurgin, brother of the banker, whose home is in Iowa, and J. A. Conrad, vice president of the Michigan Avenue Trust.

Clyde R. Scott, a broker with offices at 29 South La Salle street, was appointed receiver. The suit was brought by four stockholders—Molly Walsh, Mary Krause, Katherine C. Kummerle and Minnie Zander.

Favored Few "Tipped Off"?

Assistant State's Attorney McShane said the probability that others are to be involved with Spurgin in the $1,500,000 bank crash seemed strong when it became known that several depositors had been "tipped off" in time to withdraw their deposits before the collapse. One depositor withdrew $16,000. Another sought to withdraw $18,000 the night before the bank was closed and was asked to wait until morning. He waited. He's sorry he did.

Several directors of the bank were seen entering the state's attorney's office during the day. Mr. McShane said he had "conferences with them."

SMALL DEPOSITORS HIT

Stories of numerous small depositors who will suffer severely by the bank's collapse multiplied last night.

Few automobile men, it was learned, carried more than checking and payroll accounts in the bank, keeping their working capital in large institutions. To the other class of depositors, however, the bank was, as a big illuminated sign half a block away says, "a real neighborhood bank for you."

Crippled Cobbler Had $4,000.

Joe Finocchio, who has only one leg and runs a little shoe repair shopt at 2233 Indiana avenue, had deposits of $4,000, seventeen years' saving. He was planning to retire. Now he will have to continue working.

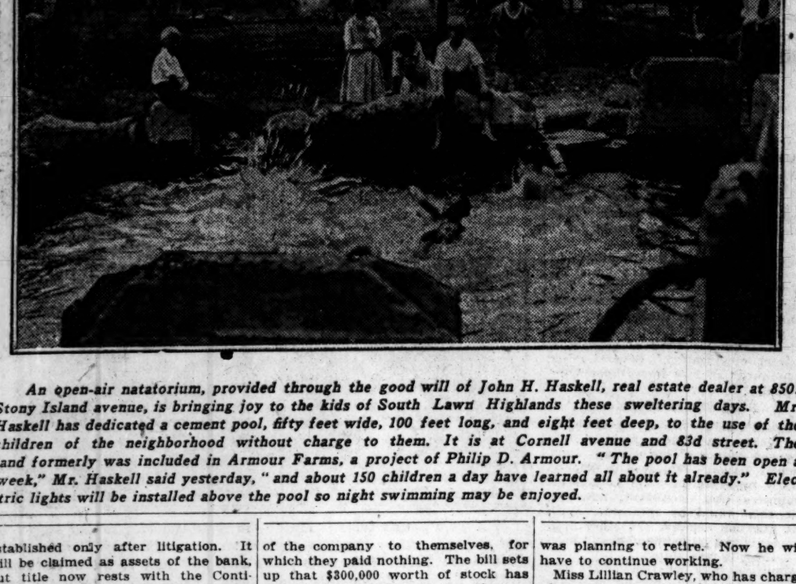
Miss Lillian Crawley, who has charge of the cigar counter in the Lexington hotel, will not be able to take the vacation she had been planning for seven years because of the bank crash.

Miss Helen Rommel, a waitress in Valos' restaurant, saved $200 from the wreck by withdrawing it the day before the bank closed. For six years she has been saving to care for her widowed mother and a brother in Poland. She said she wished now that she had drawn out her entire $1,100 deposit instead of leaving $900.

Last $2 Gone; What Next?

But these cases are not like that of Otto Sanker, 2107 South Indiana avenue, for they all have positions and can continue working. Otto, a sailor, got his discharge after several years' service from the steamship Niagara the day before the crash. Each payday while at sea he had made an allotment to the bank so he would have some money with which to buy himself civilian clothing when he was discharged. He came back to find the bank closed. Yesterday he paid out his last $2 for lodging and if he doesn't get some money or a job today he says he'll have to sleep in the park.

JOY FROM A SUMMER SANTA CLAUS



An open-air natatorium, provided through the good will of John H. Haskell, real estate dealer at 8501 Stony Island avenue, is bringing joy to the kids of South Lawn Highlands these sweltering days. Mr. Haskell has dedicated a cement pool, fifty feet wide, 100 feet long, and eight feet deep, to the use of the children of the neighborhood without charge to them. It is at Cornell avenue and 83d street. The land formerly was included in Armour Farms, a project of Philip D. Armour. "The pool has been open a week," Mr. Haskell said yesterday, "and about 150 children a day have learned all about it already." Electric lights will be installed above the pool so night swimming may be enjoyed.

SENATOR NORRIS COLLAPSES AFTER LONG SPEECH

Washington, D. C., July 28.—[Special.]—At the conclusion of a vehement attack upon the administration and its supporters in the senate for sidetracking his $100,000,000 farm export corporation bill today, Senator Norris of Nebraska, chairman of the agricultural committee, collapsed as a result of exhaustion due to heart weakness and the heat.

He finished his speech of several hours length and walked into the Republican cloak room where he crumpled into a heap. Several of his colleagues carried him into a nearby committee room where first aid was administered by Senator Ball of Delaware, a physician. Later, Senator Norris was removed to his home, where it was stated his condition was not serious.

Earlier in the day the agriculture committee, under the pressure of administration influence, decided to displace the Norris bill with a substitute, said to be less likely to invite President Harding's veto.

The committee also adopted a provision authorizing the war finance corporation to increase its bond issues from $1,000,000,000 to $2,000,000,000 to give it greater credit facilities in handling farm products. The principal feature of the Kellogg bill, directing the war finance corporation to perform the functions proposed in the Norris bill, was retained.

Morris Interests Sell Reliance Bank Holdings

The Morris interests have disposed of all their stock in the Reliance State bank, Madison street and Ashland avenue, it was announced yesterday, to take a profit. The stock, which paid 8 per cent, has been selling around 280. Furthermore, Edward Morris, C. M. MacFarlane, and W. J. Rathje have resigned from the board of directors. A stock dividend of $100,000, or 50 per cent of the present capitalization, is planned by the bank. Stockholders will act on the proposal Sept. 1. The new capitalization will be $300,000, and undivided profits are sufficient to provide a surplus of $50,000 to $75,000 when the plan becomes operative. The bank has deposits of more than $5,000,000.

FORD'S AID IS SO CONFIDENTIAL IN SHOALS LETTERS

Respectable Backing for Plans Eagerly Sought.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 28.—[Special.]—The plan to drive the Henry Ford offer, or other Muscle Shoals legislation, through congress under the sponsorship of the farm organizations as a measure to provide cheap fertilizer for the farmers is desclosed in letters J. W. Worthington, the Muscle Shoals promoter, wrote from Detroit to Gary Silver of the American Farm Bureau federation.

It was to Mr. Silver that Mr. Worthington wrote:

"You will not fail, I hope, to appreciate how essential it is that nothing be said about Mr. Ford's plans to manufacture aluminum, for if that gets out and becomes known Mr. Mellon will be interested and he is very much closer to the administration and has the President's ear to speak in much more easily than Mr. Ford."

Mellon and Aluminum.

While farm organizations were to exert their influence on congress Mr. Worthington and his associates were to supply the "guiding and directing hand in respect to the Ford negotiations as well as the passage of legislation through congress at this session," to quote Mr. Worthington, who urged his suggestions had not offended Mr. Silver. Mr. Worthington's letter to Mr. Silver follows:

"I hope you will be willing to consider favorably the formation of a committee by your executive committee at its meetings Tuesday and Wednesday of this week in Chicago, and let this committee be set up in the nature of a standing committee until we at least dispose of the Ford plan and until congress passes the needed appropriation for the Wilson dam, and therefore, the committee would perhaps be created to serve until, say, the present extra session of congress adjourns.

He's a Practical Man.

"This committee now is practically necessary and I make bold to say that it is necessary to you because this committee can serve in two very practical ways now—it can conduct the negotiations to make arrangements for conferences with Mr. Ford or his representatives—this committee can also take charge of all of the Muscle Shoals legislation during the present extra session of congress and I believe it is safe to assert that you cannot give your personal attention to the details of the Ford plan, nor can you give your personal attention to the details of your drive at this session of congress to get the Muscle Shoals legislation passed, whether it be an appropriation or legislation to provide for the Ford plan or any other Muscle Shoals legislation—though, of course, we will be the guiding and directing hand in respect to the Ford negotiations as well as the passage of legislation through congress at this session.

Picks Out Mr. Gray.

"Craving your pardon, I further suggest that Mr. Gray be made chairman of this committee, because he knows the Muscle Shoals case now, having given study in detail to your report and likewise his study of the Muscle Shoals case in making this report as the leading member of this committee charged with its preparation.

"The moving purposes of this letter and the viewpoint I have in writing it to you is that Muscle Shoals now has a status and presents itself, it seems to me, to you as a practical business proposition reflected in this Ford plan, and a very practical legislative proposition, and the Muscle Shoals case needs business treatment now, and you will agree that the only way to give it business treatment is to charge somebody with the responsibility of doing so.

"I hope that my suggestion may not offend and that they will win your partiality and adoption."

Silver's Letter to Promoter.

Mr. Silver said today he had given Mr. Worthington a letter of introduction to Mr. Ford, but that he had not replied to Mr. Worthington's letters concerning the suggestion for putting the Muscle Shoals legislation through congress. He said the committee Mr. Worthington proposed had not been appointed because it was deemed unnecessary and the farm organizations had declined to send any one to Detroit to talk with Mr. Ford.

This Letter Obviously Private.

In another letter to Mr. Silver, which "is so obviously private and confidential to yourself that I need not mention it," Mr. Worthington describes Mr. Ford's tour of the Muscle Shoals properties in the special train provided by the Louisville and Nashville at the request of the Muscle Shoals promoter. He also outlines the terms Mr. Ford will offer, and adds:

"When the proposal is agreed upon Mr. Ford will ask the representatives of the American Farm Bureau federation and the officers of the Mississippi Valley association into a conference, and if the proposal is satisfactory he will ask these two organizations to get the proposal accepted by congress at the special session, and he will ask that the survey of the upper Tennessee be hurried to completion so that certain dams on its tributaries may be definitely located and all engineering phases determined, in order that these upper Tennessee developments, or at least some of them, may be completed in time to furnish a flow of storage water to make the secondary power at dam No. 3 and at the Wilson dam all primary."

Ford Just Can't Wait.

After describing Mr. Ford's fertilizer production plans Mr. Worthington says:

The federation, said Mr. Silver, has "I am confident that the proposal I am drafting, the first draft of which I hope to have in Mr. Ford's hands Tuesday morning, will be substantially satisfactory to him, as we have already agreed upon the main points of the proposal. Mr. Ford, however, will not let this proposition remain in the hands of the secretary of war for acceptance unless, as he says, congress promptly, and, in fact, immediately, appropriates ten millions of dollars with which to resume the work on the dam forthwith, and he says that he cannot wait with his plan three years, nor two years, for he and his engineers insist that if congress will appropriate the funds for resuming the work on the dam it can be finished in fourteen months."

A New Ford Joke.

Summing up his impressions, Mr. Worthington says:

"Without any enthusiasm, and trying all the time myself to be a little pessimistic, I am, however, frank to tell you that I am suffering a little from 'ford shock.'

"Mr. Ford sees his opportunity, and it is conservative to tell you that he is very keen to seize it, and at no stage of our discussions has he ever raised the question of the very large capital expenditure that he will have to make. He does say that he is unwilling to let the power companies like the Alabama Power company, the Georgia Railway and Power company, and the Tennessee Power company have any power from Muscle Shoals, but he is willing to furnish the public, like Memphis, Nashville, and Chattanooga, power if the public is the direct consumer, and does not receive the power through an intermediary company.

"While Mr. Ford made no mention at any time of the great amount of capital he will have to invest he made me feel a little bit uncertain when he had to borrow money to tip the cook and porter on the private car we were traveling on. It is too bad how poor he is."

In an "obviously confidential" letter to Senator Underwood, Alabama, Mr. Worthington reports on the progress of the negotiations and adds:

"As far as I can see, and I am trying to be pessimistic about the matter, there is no danger of Mr. Ford back tracking; on the contrary, he is very pressing, but I always have fears about legislation in congress, however, economically meritorious it may be.

"I hope when the proposal is before you and I will bring a copy to you you will decide that the necessary legislation can be passed to accomplish the Ford proposals and if we succeed with them and Mr. Ford's plans are carried out as he describes them to me, M. S. will bring a new and greater era to the south and to Alabama than ever has been imagined or conceived.

A Blessing—For Whom?

"Though I have for two years had in my mind, from my studies of Mr. Ford, to propose to him just what he now offers, I did not expect the disposition of the power would come up or that it could be offered until the power is developed two years hence, but perhaps the turn Secretary Weeks has given the matter will prove a blessing."

RECALLING A ROYAL ROMANCE

Fairyland also has its thrills. For instance, there was the romance of the prince and the mysterious beauty who left behind a crystal slipper as she fled the royal ball. He searched the kingdom over until he found the girl to whom the slipper belonged—poor Cinderella, the household drudge—and then he married her. The picture shows the slipper episode as enacted yesterday at Ravinia park by Highland Park children who took part in a fairyland pageant presented by 400. Jane Passel is the slipper bearer, Natalie Crandall is Cinderella, Iola Fearing is the generous Fairy Godmother, and Eldridge Crandall is none other than the handsome Prince. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

LANDIS SUBMITS HIS CHARTER FOR BUILDING PEACE

Judge K. M. Landis advanced another step yesterday in the settlement of the building trades controversy.

Copies of the proposed uniform agreement, as revised by Judge Landis, and under which the men are expected to resume work, were submitted to representatives of the Building Construction Employers' association, the Associated Builders, and the Building Trades council. The proposed agreement will be discussed by Judge Landis and representatives of the three organizations today.

Hits at Sympathetic Strikes.

To stop sympathetic strikes, Judge Landis suggests that in article 14, on the stoppage of work and penalties, the following clause be made a part of the agreement:

"No member or members affiliated with the workers shall leave his work because nonunion men in some other line of work or trade are employed on the building or job, or because nonunion men in other lines of work or trade are employed on any other building or job, or stop, or cause to be stopped, any work under construction for any member or members affiliated with the employers, except as provided in this agreement, under penalty of a fine of not more than $25." The clause provides fines of $50 to $200 for employers violating the agreement.

To Halt Jurisdictional Rows.

On jurisdictional disputes the judge submitted the following clause:

"Should a dispute arise between either party to this agreement (the employers or the employés) and any other body of employers and employés and the parties in controversy are unable to adjust same, the said dispute shall be referred to the National Board for Jurisdictional Awards, and pending a decision the party who has the work in hand shall proceed with the work and the right of the contestant to the dispute shall not be prejudiced in its claim for final award by such procedure, and past decisions and future decisions, when made by the National Board for Jurisdictional Awards, shall become binding on parties hereto, anything contained herein to the contrary notwithstanding."

GOTHAM BANKER'S WIFE SUED FOR BILL OF MODISTE

New York, July 28.—[Special.]—Red velvet evening gowns and mauve afternoon dresses formed a legal problem today, when papers were served on Mrs. Edward N. Breitung, wife of the millionaire banker, in an action by T. M. and J. M. Fox, to recover $2,895 for a modiste's bill.

MRS. EDWARD N. BREITUNG.

Mrs. Breitung, named in the action Charlotte E. Breitung, has been prominent in society and was decorated by the Italian government for organizing the free milk for Italy fund.

The list in the suit is: Black cheviot twill, bambina, $285; red velvet evening dress, $500; black chiffon and velvet evening dress, $500; black meteor afternoon gown, $275; black chenille tea gown, $325; mauve satin and lace evening gown, $325; hat, $50; brocade purse, $12; doll bag, $30.

Mr. Breitung formerly lived in Chicago and has large interests there.

The Breitung's only daughter, Juliet Marie, was married to Max Kleist, a gardener on her parents' $250,000 estate, in 1913, and divorced him in 1918. She was only 19 at the time of her marriage.

HARDING'S VISIT SENDS RATES OF HOTELS SOARING

Washington, D. C., July 28.—A commercial boom, whose rumblings have been felt all the way back to Washington, has been started in Lancaster, N. H., since it developed that President Harding is to spend several days near there next week at the home of Secretary Weeks.

Before the President's plan became known a telephone call from the White House to the village elicited the information that rooms with bath readily could be secured for $2.50 a day. But today the hotel keeper wired:

"All our baths now engaged for next week. We are now American plan, $6 a day."

Merchandise Manager
Mail Order—Women's Wear

One of the really big concerns of the country wants a man of unquestioned ability, experience and integrity.

Mere buying knowledge is not enough. He must know merchandising in this field from the ground up. He must keep uppermost at all times the cardinal principle of buying TO SELL.

So he will naturally know styles and have the facilities to trace fashion tendencies in advance. He will be a quick thinker and probably somewhat of a salesman. He will be familiar with catalog work, catalog building and sound principles of catalog display and salesmanship. Particularly he must have the mail order viewpoint.

He will deal in big figures, big quantities, big orders, and in his department be supreme. He must be, therefore, a big man in every way. A disposition to co-operate and work with associates is essential.

We want, above all else, a downright human being who knows his own work so thoroughly that he will arouse the utmost confidence and enthusiasm in whatever he does, and who is big enough to respect this same ability in others.

Tell all about yourself in your first letter. Go thoroughly into all details of your experience and training. Your confidence will be respected.

The matter of salary will be adjusted satisfactorily to the man who can fill the position.

ADDRESS O S 242, TRIBUNE.

Some Questions

One difficulty in discussing advertising is to agree on the scope of human activity which you are defining.

For example, an eccentric millionaire leaps into a net from his factory roof—and calls it advertising. A doctor joins every movement in town and calls his "joining" advertising.

But so is the tombstone "card" of the old-fashioned bank and the tailor whose spring line "he begs to announce."

There is magazine and newspaper, trade paper and street car advertising and the gold-embossed memorandum book.

What is advertising? What is publicity? What is notoriety seeking? What is good will?

A BUSINESS REVIVAL.

Two news items from different sources appearing in THE TRIBUNE of July 26 present encouraging signs of an approaching industrial and business revival.

Arthur M. Evans writes of the placing of a large railroad repair order with the Illinois Car and Equipment company and of new orders placed with the Standard Steel Car company of Hammond, Ind. The former calls for the employment of 800 men beginning Aug. 1, and the latter will give jobs to an indefinite number of men now idle. The Inland Steel company has opened its sheet mills at East Chicago. The American Sheet and Tinplate company has put twenty mills into operation at Gary, while the Indiana Steel company is increasing its rail output.

O. A. Mather writes of the reopening of the New York Central's locomotive shops at West Albany, N. Y., after six months of idleness, and the return of 600 men to employment there. He tells of the marked success of the American Woolen company's opening sale of spring goods for next season, of plans of the Highland Park textile plants in North Carolina to reopen with a prospective employment of 1,200 persons, and of the putting into operation of ten more mills of the American Sheet and Tinplate company at New Castle, Pa.

Such items, particularly those indicating a revival of railroad buying and consequent stimulation of the steel industry, are of great significance. Secretary of Commerce Hoover is authority for the statement that the railroads directly and indirectly employ about 20 per cent of the labor of the country and are the purchasers of about 20 per cent of the materials and supplies. Obviously any stimulation of such a factor in our industrial life is likely to make itself felt throughout our entire economic body.

Steel is one of our most essential basic industries. Railroad revival means steel revival. Steel revival means restoration of purchasing power to thousands of persons. This in turn means stimulation of all lines of manufacture and of wholesale and retail trade.

The points of revival cited in themselves are not sufficient to have much effect upon general prosperity, but if they are an indication of similar developments to come they are of great importance. That they are an indication of such developments is indicated by the improved condition of the farmers. Hogs are now at the high point since March and other farm products are stronger than a few weeks ago. The farmers are shipping heavily and meeting their obligations much more promptly than for some time. This is of mutual advantage to the farmers, the banks, the railroads and local business. The Santa Fé railroad, for instance, moved 4,336 carloads of grain last week, against 1,905 carloads in the same week a year ago. Shipment of refrigerator freight from California was 2,070 cars, against 1,745 the previous week and 1,739 for the same week a year ago. These products are bringing good prices and netting a good profit for the producers despite the high freight rates.

Viewed nationally the situation seems to be looking up.

FORWARD WITH AERONAUTICS

The President is reported to favor the unification of all aeronautic activities of the government, civil, military, and naval. The proposition is not self-evident, but requires thorough study and consideration. Naval and military judgment in the main views it with either doubt or opposition, bringing many cogent professional reasons to support objection.

Both navy and army men point out that each service has its own technic, tactics, and special problems. This, of course, is obvious. The physical conditions on the sea are very different from those on the land. Material is different. Tactics are different. The man who is to use a hydroaeroplane on and over the sea must be a sailor, accustomed to handling his craft not only in the air but in the water. He must know ships and boats and how to make use of and cooperate with them. He must know marine phenomena.

The army aviator, on the other hand, must master a different set of facts and conditions; must familiarize himself with different phenomena and a different method. His problems of taking flight and landing, for example, are different from the seaplane operator who leaves from or lands on the sea or the decks of rolling ships.

Besides these differences between military and naval service, both are different from civil service, which has its own objects and its own problems.

Such considerations must be fairly weighed. But are they decisive? The fact stands out that this country is distressingly backward in aerial development. England recently completed a huge dirigible for our use because we were not properly equipped to build it ourselves. Japan is relying upon French and English flyers and aircraft manufacturers to build up her army and navy aerial service, because the aviation resources of those countries are far beyond our own.

One reason for our inferiority is believed to be the lack of unified direction in experimentation and our lack of system in awarding contracts for construction of aircraft. This, it is urged, would be largely overcome by unification of aerial services, preferably under some suitable branch of the government, which would eliminate the overhead expense of a new department.

In this way the task of mapping aerial routes, providing landing fields and hangars, training flyers, etc., could be done to the advantage of all branches of the aerial service without wasteful duplication or expense. The results of experimentation would be equally available to all branches. Then, perhaps, the United States could operate on an equal footing with France and England in aerial development.

We ought to address the best of our available knowledge and inventive skill to the whole subject of aeronautic development, and without further procrastination. Our present indecision and backwardness are inexcusable.

MISGUIDED DIPLOMACY.

Sir Auckland Geddes, British ambassador to the United States, it is reported, will lead the fight of the Canadian government against the Chicago sanitary district's proposed diversion of more water from Lake Michigan to the drainage canal. The Illinois legislative committee which will present arguments to congress for permission to divert 10,000 cubic feet of water per second from Lake Michigan for successful operation of the drainage canal will be opposed by the British ambassador on the ground that this diversion will lower lake levels to the disadvantage of Canadian ports and shipping. That is misguided diplomacy.

When Canada is seeking the approval and assistance of this government for the development of the St. Lawrence seaway to provide a through water route for Canadian inland production it is poor policy, to say the least, to hamper the development of Chicago and the ultimate development of an adequate barge route from the lakes to the gulf for such a flimsy reason.

The water sought for efficient operation of our drainage and barge canal probably is less than one-hundredth part of the water which would flow through the proposed seaway. Coming as it would solely from Lake Michigan, entirely within United States territory, and subject to construction of controlling works which would relieve the lakes bordering on Canada from any possible reduction of level, the water to be diverted cannot properly be of any interest to the Canadian or British governments.

The Chicago sanitary district has no intent to injure the port facilities of any town on Lake Michigan or on any of the lakes bordering upon Canada. It has not and will not injure such facilities. If it obtains the needed permission from the government it will safeguard these towns at the same time it is safeguarding the health and future of the Chicago district and providing for a lakes to gulf channel for freight.

In the present period of negotiation concerning the St. Lawrence seaway project it is essential that the friendliest relations between this country and Canada be maintained and a united support of the project by both countries be presented to their respective governments. For that reason, if no other, Sir Auckland Geddes' position is badly taken. The history of British diplomacy would justify hope for a clearer and more reasonable view of essentials.

THE TRAGEDY OF RUSSIA.

Mme. Andreyeff Gorky, wife of Maxim Gorky, the famous Russian author, appeals to America to save the lives of 20,000,000 Russians, said to be starving to death. She prefaces the appeal with the statement that the work of relief is being conducted in Russia by nonbolshevists with the consent and approval of Premier Lenin. She concludes it with the hope that "the world will realize the tragedy of our country, and forget the political strife in the face of our tragic reality."

First Lenin and his bolshevist doctrines bring 20,000,000 Russians to the point of starvation. Then through a nonbolshevist, as the only person who may possibly receive a fair hearing in the outside world, they appeal for food as a gift to save the lives of these despairing people. But they make no admission of their own flagrant errors, and no promise that they will correct these errors.

Russia has ample potential resources to care for its own people. It cannot care for them because under the soviet régime its production has been reduced to a minimum and its distribution has been rendered entirely inadequate by the collapse of its transportation system and its habit of confiscating private property. Famine in eighteen provinces of Russia may be due to drought, lack of modern methods of agriculture, or lack of reward for producers, but starvation of the 20,000,000 inhabitants of those provinces is due solely to the evils of the soviet régime.

It is indeed a tragedy that these millions of lives may be sacrificed to the wild theories and lust for power of Lenin and his followers, but it is no more a tragedy for each individual sufferer than was the death of each man, woman and child murdered by the bolshevists to promote their soviet ideas. Russia has sacrificed the respect and good faith of the world. An appeal to forget the political strife which led to this sacrifice and to commute its evils cannot be effective so long as the present régime remains in power.

Especially is it true that such an appeal cannot be effective in the United States so long as American citizens are wrongfully kept in prison by the soviet authorities. When the soviet authorities release these Americans unconditionally as an evidence of good faith, as demanded by Secretary Hoover and associated Americans, there will be plenty of time to consider the Russian appeal on its merits.

When Lenin supports the election of a constituent assembly and otherwise gives evidence that his plans for a world revolution and the development of a situation similar to Russia's in America are buried beyond the hope of resurrection a Russian appeal for aid may be not only heard but answered. Until such a time these starving millions must continue to die. No outside aid can help them.

OUR STATE SCANDAL.

[The Peoria Star.]

The state is now divided into two hostile camps, one of which is apologizing for and defending the governor, while the other is insisting that he is an embezzler and that he be brought to trial like any other citizen accused of crime. A grand jury after an exhaustive investigation has returned an indictment against the governor, accusing him of diverting funds to his own use which should have gone to the public. The governor takes the stand that the sovereignty of the state is at stake.

As one friendly to the governor and friendly to his friends, the Star feels that the man who should be most interested in clearing up this matter is the governor himself. The sovereignty of the state will take care of itself. The argument advanced by such venerable fossils as former Gov. Fifer that "anarchy and chaos" would result from the governor's "arrest" or retirement from office is the very acme of nonsense.

The great mass of the people, who have no direct interest in the governor's personal quarrels or who are not interested in the political aspirations of Mr. Brundage, would like to see this blot—and it is a blot—removed from the escutcheon of the state which has furnished the nation such men as Lincoln, Grant, the great war governor Richard Yates, Cullom, Trumbull, Palmer, and all the long list of men who have shed glory upon the state and the nation. Either the governor is guilty or he is innocent, and he owes it to himself and to the people of this commonwealth to clear up the matter at once.

THE KING! THE KING!

Having gained the door of His Majesty's suite your correspondent assumed all obstacles had been surmounted. Not so. The vocal keyhole challenged:

"Who goes there—Friend or Foe?"

"Friend."

"Advance, Friend, and give the countersign."

Your correspondent was temporarily nonplussed. Quite at random he ejaculated:

"Five cent carfare."

The door swung open. The only person in the penetralia was the owner of the keyhole voice, or valet de chambre. Bowing the visitor to a seat, he pressed a button. A section of the wall popped forward and down. Len the First was discovered in the disappearing wall bed. He was dressed for travel. In either hand was a gladstone bag. He removed his hat and mopped his brow.

"Colonel," to the v. de c., "have you read today's timetables?"

"Yes, Sire."

"When is the next train?"

"There isn't any for fifteen minutes, Sire."

"What! There must be a train for somewhere."

"There isn't any for anywhere, Sire."

"Hell. It's the corporations persecuting me again. Well, we'll board a street car. We must be going somewhere. Summon the bodyguard."

"The state capital seems to be perambulating quite extensively," ventured your correspondent.

"I'll say so," replied Len. He gestured toward a small safe. "There it is."

"There it——?"

"There," impatiently, "there it is, I said—my veto. I always carry it with me. The people's interests, sir, the people's interests. They must be conserved. Len's the man to do it. That reminds me—Colonel, is there any business to be vetoed this morning?"

"None, Sire."

"None! You dare to tell me that. There must be. There has to be. I'll have something to veto before breakfast if I have to order out the militia."

Anger but accentuated the regal mien, causing the imperial purple to suffuse the countenance. He looked every inch a king. The Colonel cowered in a corner.

"Ha, I have it. We'll call a special session of the legislature. Yes——"

The bodyguard arrived. Your correspondent departed.

FONS BANDUSIAE.
(Quintus Horatius Flaccus.)

O, Fountain of Bandusia,
Upon thy crystal breast
Sacrificial wine and flowers
Gratefully should rest.
Tomorrow shall incarnadine
Thy gracious depths with blood,
For I shall sacrifice a kid
In honor of thy flood.
A kid whose swollen forehead
Betrays his adolescent might
Who thinks, in vain, of love,
And battle in love's right.
Amid the hottest summer
Thy gelid waves invite
The flocks and lowing herds
To draughts of cool delight.
O, happy among fountains
Whom memory shall keep
For I have sung the craps
Down which thy waters leap. ORION.

'TWERE FOLLY TO BE WISE.

Sir: What's in a name? Well, that all depends. Mrs. P. D. Gog occasionally wears (for comfort's sake, "nota bene") a house dress made from a "maternity" pattern. Grandma Jones called recently and, noticing the dress, she was impressed with its comfiness. She asked for the pattern, which Mrs. P. D. G. sent her that afternoon. When grandma saw the envelope with its caption "maternity dress," she sent it back in hot haste and hasn't been over to see us since. Mrs. P. D. G. saw her error and put the pattern in another envelope. Now five old maids and a grass widow are wearing dresses cut from that self-same archetype of feminine apparel.

SONG.

The days are filled with dread and doubt
And night is dark with fears,
And he who sings a song at dawn
Oft lays him down in tears.

But every day is long enough
To hold a golden dream,
And night is never dark enough
To stay the morning's gleam. T. C. C.

Day after day a bunch of (s. c.) students and myself spent our afternoons in a western alcove on the fourth floor of Hitchcock Hall. PROTECTING THE BABIES.

WHEN Dr. Truby King of New Zealand trailed across the country from Seattle to New York, bragging about the chance for life that babies had in his country, he started something. We said if the New Zealand baby death rate is as low as fifty we may not be able to reach it, but we are going to try, and one thing is certain, the old rate of 100 must go.

We never may reach the New Zealand figure because they have a great advantage over us. Their climate is far better than ours. Not even the climate of Washington and Oregon, the best baby climate we have, equals that of New Zealand. They have a far more homogeneous population. No great masses of newly arrived European peasants, no slums, no great industrial populations, no cities of several hundred thousand population.

Nevertheless, what we lack in these directions we make up in grit. These are the things we are doing:

We are getting the babies registered, the flies are being put out of business, the milk supply is being safeguarded, mothers are being taught to breast feed, mothers are being taught how to care for their babies.

And now, what progress is being made?

The American Child Hygiene association recently has published its annual comparison of child welfare in American cities, reporting on 519 cities.

The honor goes to Astoria, Ore., with a rate of twenty-three, less than one-half the New Zealand rate. Pasadena, Cal.; Brookline, Mass.; Houston, Tex.; Richmond, Cal.; Manchester, Conn.; Tacoma, Wash.; Winthrop, Mass., and West New York, N. J., follow in the order named. These nine and fourteen others have records lower than the New Zealand standard of fifty at which we are striving.

Since the babies who live in the truly rural districts are healthier than the city babies, we figure that if we can get the cities down to rates of sixty, the city and country combined should not be far from the New Zealand standard. Of fifty-six cities, nearly 11 per cent have rates of sixty and under.

The report groups the cities into five classes, according to size, giving the three highest and the three lowest in each class. The leaders in the group of large cities are Seattle, Portland, and San Francisco. In the next group are Houston, Spokane, and Oakland. In the third group, Tacoma, Berkeley, San Diego. In the fourth, Pasadena, Brookline, and West New York. In the fifth, Astoria, Richmond, Cal., and Manchester, Conn.

Of the fifteen on the lower roll, six are from California, three from Washington, two from Oregon, and one each from Texas, Massachusetts, New Jersey, and Connecticut.

The greater part of California's great showing is due to climate, but some is due to their advanced milk law.

The report also gives the three cities in each group with the worst records. Of these Pennsylvania has three, Alabama and Ohio two each, and New York, Tennessee, Massachusetts, Georgia, Michigan, Indiana, and Virginia one each.

It is striking that the cities having 10,000 to 25,000 population make the three best and the three worst records. Astoria, Richmond, and Manchester make up the head, and Dunmore, Pa., 225; East Liverpool, O., 200, and East Youngstown, O., 194, make up the tail.

This shows what most health officers know—namely: that if a small town will develop a health department, support it and follow its advice, health conditions will be very good, but if, on the other hand, they try to get along without a health department, let any kind of milk be sold, let things run wild generally, conditions will be worse than they are in the big cities.

It does not seem right that eleven cities have rates of 150 and over when twenty-three have reached rates of fifty and under. The people in those nine cities cannot care very much for their children. It is inconceivable that they are so indifferent to poor milk, so tolerant of flies, so reckless about the health of pregnant women and the care of young babies.

But we must remember that ten years ago there were a great many cities with rates of 150 and twenty years ago few had rates much below that.

The indications are that when Truby King gets through he will know that he has had a race.

ACIDOSIS IN CHILDREN.

Daily Reader writes: "Please explain symptoms and cause of acidosis in a child of 7 and if there is danger of after effects."

REPLY.

Children with acidosis have fever, nervousness, delirium, convulsions, sometimes. It is what was once called congestive stomach fever and by other names. There is no general agreement as to the cause. Probably an improperly balanced diet is one cause. There is no danger of after effects. As a rule a child that has had one attack is likely to have others.

FIVE POUNDS UNDER WEIGHT.

C. M. F. writes: "Please tell me if drinking buttermilk daily with my luncheon will increase my weight? I am 45 years old, 5 feet 5 inches tall (without shoes), and weigh 139 pounds. Should it be less? I have a small frame. Have weighed 155 pounds and do not want to repeat."

REPLY.

1. The tendency will be that way, though much will depend on the other items on your daily food card.
2. You are about five pounds under weight.

ONLY EFFECT IS MENTAL.

Mrs. T. W. R. writes: "What benefit, if any, is derived from violet ray treatment of a person in the incipient stages of tuberculosis?"

REPLY.

None, except as they would boost mentally. Consumptives like to feel that something is being done.

RELIEF IN SIGHT.

Chicago, July 25.—[Friend of the People.]—Using 68th and Crandon avenue as the center one can walk one block in the four directions and it is hardly possible to see the sidewalk for the high weeds. It is especially annoying after heavy rains, as the weeds get one's clothes wet. I hope you can be instrumental in having the owners take care of their property. C. M. S.

The weeds are being cut in this vicinity.

A BAD BUY.

Chicago, July 25.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—I bought a phonograph on the partial payment and installment plan. I have part paid for it, but cannot pay the rest. I asked them to take it back, being willing to lose what I had already paid in on it. Can they compel me by law to finish paying for it? Can they stop my salary? L. C.

Your rights depend on the agreement that you made with them. It seems probable that, in absence of such defenses as minority or fraud, you are liable for the amount that you agreed to pay, and that after getting judgment against you they can garnishee your wages. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

STOP CAUSE FOR COMPLAINT.

Chicago, July 26.—[Friend of the People.]—Is the city street cleaning department allowed to burn its waste on the empty lot adjoining our property? They have done it lately and the refuse doesn't burn up very quickly but leaves a rather lasting and unpleasant malodorous smoke for hours. Will some one please put a stop to it? A. F.

Without any authority one of the paper burners dumped the residue of his burner on this lot. The practice has been discontinued.
THOMAS H. BYRNE,
Superintendent of Streets.

ROOF IN DANGER.

Chicago, July 26.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—We have a new roof on our house, but we are afraid it will soon be impaired by the rubbing and scratching of the branches of a tree in our neighbor's yard. The branches at all times overhang our house. Can we take any measure to stop this nuisance? M. L.

You are entitled to cut the branches at the boundary line.

Chicago, July 26.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Parents die, leaving four children, eighty acres of farm land, but no will. The land is in South Dakota. What procedure is necessary for them to sell the land to have the money for their education? One girl, who is now of age, has been appointed administratrix. C. J.

Legal proceedings will be necessary, for which you will have to employ an attorney.

IS THERE COMFORT TO FARMERS, RAILROADS, AND GENERAL BUSINESS IN THIS?

Chicago, July 26.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The manufacturer of an automobile or a suit of clothes only begins his work when the factory turns out the finished product. The sales force must go into the highways and byways to locate buyers and more buyers in order that the output of the plant may be disposed of and continued operation be made possible. When buyers cannot be found, when old customers persist in their refusal to purchase, the seller of most commodities is forced to await the return of a buying mood; often the factory must close and remain idle for months.

It is not so with the grain dealer. There is always a ready market for grain properly prepared.

Nature has been kind to America. Crop production for recent seasons does not in all cases equal the record years, but harvests were abundant and stocks of old grain held on farms are large. For months this grain has been moving from farms to country elevators, and thence to terminals and points of consumption or export in volume that taxes the available transportation and handling facilities. This is what happened to the railroads: From Jan. 1 to June 11, this year, they hauled 119,628 more carloads of grain than in the same period of 1920, and 61,803 more than in 1919. Their statistics show the movement of more export wheat from July 1, 1920, to June 30, 1921, than in the same months for years.

Every bushel of grain that moves in commerce is handled by grain dealers. Therefore, the tide of the grain merchants' business is in direct relation to the movement of grain. The eleven principal United States primary markets received 344,874,000 bushels of wheat, corn, and oats from Jan. 1, 1920, to July 17, 1920. In the same period of this year the same markets received 415,447,000 bushels—an increase of 70,573,000 bushels, or slightly more than 20 per cent, the first half of this year over the first half of last. Receipts of other grains and seeds were large and a vast quantity moved to many other markets.

It is indisputable that there is more grain business this year than last. An increase of 70,000,000 bushels in the receipts and 47,000,000 bushels in the visible supply proves it.

Selling motor cars may be hard sledding; the shoe man may have his stock still on the shelves; but there is no depression in the grain trade. Grain dealers are actively busy. Their elevators are running overtime. The grain business is good.

GRAIN DEALERS' JOURNAL.

PLACING RESPONSIBILITY.

Oak Park, July 26.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—In one of the morning papers of this date ex-Gov. Dunne charges Attorney General Brundage and his Republican faction with playing politics in securing the indictment of Gov. Small, and bases his position on the fact that Brundage took no action in the matter when J. M. Harlan charged Small during the campaign with withholding state funds.

It would appear that the reason Brundage did not act then was because the charge was not brought officially to his attention, and unless such was the case he would then appear to be stooping to dirty politics.

The Small-Thompson machine in the last state primary succeeded in naming only two of their candidates, Small for governor and Miller for state treasurer. It must be presumed, according to developments, that Brundage did not concern himself in the case until the Small-Thompson state treasurer, Mr. Miller, brought the matter to his official attention, and he was compelled to take action. Although Mr. Miller was a member of the Small-Thompson faction, he was compelled to desert the sinking ship as he would also be liable to certain unpleasant court proceedings should he continue to conceal shortcomings of his predecessors. Mr. Miller is the man whom the Small-Thompson machine and its beneficiaries should charge with playing politics and not the attorney general.

MILITARY HONORS FOR OUR HEROIC DEAD.

Chicago, July 25.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Please allow me publicly to thank Capt. J. Tyrell of the 131st infantry, I. N. G., and the men in his command from July 21 to July 25, inclusive, for volunteering and acting as members on different firing squads and attending funerals of many of our overseas dead, recently buried.

Only those of us who were confronted with the problem of furnishing pall bearers and firing squads can appreciate the assistance rendered.

It was my duty during the last five days to furnish military details for the last rites of several of my comrades with whom I served. It seemed whichever way I turned I was met with disappointment, broken promises, ridiculous red tape, absurd objections, and absolute indifference. With thousands of United States soldiers and national guardsmen in encampments within a radius of 100 miles, scores of our overseas dead are being carried to their final resting place with only a shameful apology for a military funeral, five or six men making up a firing squad, no bugler, no color guard, no colors.

I earnestly appeal to those in authority to take immediate action and see that our soldier dead be given the burial to which they are entitled.

"IS HE GUILTY!"

Chicago, July 26.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Gov. Small has been indicted and, in his opinion, it would be a great disaster if he were brought to trial immediately. But in the opinion of the people it is considered a disaster if the accused is not brought to trial immediately. Postponement is a subterfuge indulged in only by those who expect that time will, to some extent, mitigate the severity of the law. If Gov. Small is guilty, as charged, it would be a stigma on the people of Illinois to be ruled over by a criminal; if innocent, it would be doing Gov. Small a great injustice not to clear him of the charge at once. A governor with an indictment hanging over him is no honor to the state which he rules and could not command the respect of the citizens of other states. A governor with an indictment hanging over him cannot function in his own state with that liberty which is necessary to success. How can one man enforce laws on another man which he is charged with breaking himself?

THE MUNICIPAL PIER.

Chicago, July 26.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The Municipal pier was erected at a cost of millions of dollars, and was intended as a recreation center. It is not, nor ever has been, anything like that, as a person there is compelled to stay in a chair like an invalid, if one does not care to dance and listen to mediocre singing and music upon the steamers at their landings. The ballyhoo men, concession spielers, and other venders make rest even in chairs out of the question. The entire pier should be leased to steamship companies for loading and unloading passengers and freight. In that way it would keep them out of the Chicago river, where their going and coming is a serious hindrance to the city's traffic and the fire companies.

U. S. GUNBOATS WATCHING

1—Civil war is expected in South China, as the provinces of Hupeh and Hunan, across the Yangtze river from each other, precipitate hostilities. Dr. Sun Yat Sen may lead the southern army on Hankow as the first step in a drive on Peking. Wu Pei Fu, the popular leader, may lead the Peking forces, but he may first have to break with the powerful Peking mandarins. The United States gunboats Quincy and Albany are on the Yangtze at Hankow, stripped for action. All Americans in the region are reported safe.

TAX EATERS WILL GET 40% MORE AT 1922 FEAST

Civic Body Points to Work of "Spoils" Lobby.

BY ARTHUR M. EVANS.

Taxes are shooting up while prices are falling down and next year Chicago taxpayers may look for an average boost of more than 40 per cent in their bills as a memento of the last general assembly and the rate measures shoved through by the Lundin-Thompson-Small forces. So the Civic federation estimates in a report issued yesterday for the information of rate payers and citizens in general upon the activities of the recent legislative session.

If it had not been for the protest and fight put up by civic organizations the report declares, the increase in taxes would have amounted to 80 per cent instead of the 40 per cent jump confronting property owners at the collector's window next season.

The advance, of course, will vary according to the sections of the city. The Civic federation points out that in West Chicago, the owner of a piece of property with a full value of $4,000, who now pays $111.40 taxes, will in 1922 have to pay $160.20. This is a jump of nearly 44 per cent.

Cites Other Examples.

Similarly the holder of $4,000 worth of property in North Chicago, now paying $117.80 will have to pay $163, an advance of 38 per cent. In South Chicago, the town of Lake and Hyde Park, the jump will be nearly 43 per cent; in Lake View 39 per cent; in Rogers Park and Jefferson somewhat more than 43 per cent.

On the basis of the new maxima tax rates enacted, the Civic federation compiles the probable increase next year in rates and tax bills and the per cent of increase in the different towns as follows:

Locality.	1920 rate and bill on $2,000 assessed value.	Probable 1921 rate and bill*	Probable per cent Increase.
South Chicago, Hyde Park and Lake.$	5.89	$ 7.70	42.86
	107.80	154.00
West Chicago....	5.57	8.01	43.8
	111.40	160.20
North Chicago...	5.89	8.15	38.37
	117.80	163.00
Lake View.....	5.89	8.18	38.88
	117.80	163.60
Rogers Park.....	5.25	7.52	43.24
	105.00	150.40
Jefferson	5.28	7.57	43.37
	106.50	151.40

*$4,000 full value.

"The bulk of these increases," says the report, "represents largely the power of the public employés' organizations directed by and aided by the dominant political forces. That the increase is not over 80 per cent (instead of being 38 and 43 per cent) is due largely to the early alarm sounded by the Civic federation in January."

Cites Bither on Teachers' Pay.

The report discusses in full the increase in the Chicago school educational tax rate from $1.20 to $2—being $1.92 for general purposes and 8 cents for free textbooks—and to $3 if approved by public referendum after being submitted by the board of education. It says that the board's attorney, W. A. Bither, before the house revenue committee, "disclaimed any intention of providing for general salary increases for the teachers out of the $2 rate," and that neither was any plan suggested of reducing the number of the teaching forces.

"Where is the extra money going?" asks the federation. "To sum up the school situation, citizens in the future should be chary of indorsing without most careful investigation any and all requests for enlarged taxing powers or other activities on the part of school authorities.

Attractive Field for Spoils.

"American citizens, properly, are ready to make almost any sacrifice for the good of the public schools. With the growth of our communities, however, the budgets of these institutions have become so large as to appear an attractive field for spoil on the part of a certain class of politician."

FOES OF TAXES GIVEN NO HOPE BY HOUSE BODY

[BY STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 28.—[Special.]—Slight prospect of the repeal of many of the miscellaneous taxes was held out by Republican members of the house ways and means committee during today's hearing on revenue legislation.

Chairman Fordney asked witnesses to suggest how the loss in revenue could be made up and when they failed to do so he indicated that all taxpayers were anxious to pass the burden to others.

H. L. Ekern, Chicago, representing mutual insurance companies, wanted the tax on insurance premiums repealed, and F. A. Blair, Chicago, representing the proprietary association, urged repeal of the tax on proprietary medicines.

H. T. Gielow, Chicago, representing the Y. M. C. A., favored exemption of world war veterans from admission taxes applying to places of amusement. He suggested that coupons good for the tax be distributed among the ex-service men.

Several members of the house appeared before the committee to advocate various tax measures. Among them were Representative McFadden, Pennsylvania, chairman of the banking and currency committee, who favored a constitutional amendment prohibiting issuance of tax exempt securities.

Republican members of the committee are agreed that it will be impossible to repeal the bulk of the miscellaneous taxes and their attitude during today's hearing indicated that they are standing firm in this position.

Mr. Ekern declared that the tax is a discouragement to the insurance business and tends to reduce the amount of insurance carried.

Mr. Fordney made it plain that he did not favor the repeal of the tax.

"A tax on any business is a discouragement to the business," remarked Mr. Fordney.

The delegation favoring exemption from taxation of income from building and loan associations up to $500 included Thomas S. McCaffrey, Philadelphia; Herman F. Cellarius, Cincinnati, and K. V. Haymaker, South Bend, Ind.

About eighteen years ago he gained fame by killing "Red" Corbett, a notorious stickup man, in a running gun battle.

MAXWELL STREET MARKET TO HAVE CLEANUP TODAY

Unless injunction proceedings or politics intervenes, the Maxwell street market is to be given its first cleanup in five years beginning today. The job must be completed by Saturday night, under orders sent out yesterday by Superintendent of Streets Byrne.

The cleanup of permanent stands or stores built on sidewalks and in city streets has been thrice ordered by the city council, but it is claimed that political influence of Morris Eller, sanitary district trustee, and Louis Krackow, market master, backed by an opinion from the city law department, has prevented the execution of the orders.

Supt. Byrne sent out 174 orders to vacate stands and stores in the market. The number of business places affected is about 250. If the orders are executed Maxwell street will be a colorful and exciting scene today and tomorrow, for many of those who have choice locations are expected to refuse to obey the vacation edict.

1921 IS REWARDING FIGHTERS

Joseph W. Fifer of Bloomington, George B. Gillespie, and James M. Graham of Springfield, and Albert Fink, former Lorimer lawyer, of Chicago.

In addition to the quintet a number of lawyers in Corporation Counsel Ettelson's office and the office of State's Attorney Crowe are said to be busily engaged in studying the questions of habeas corpus and change of venue. The room in which the conference was held is engaged in the name of Corporation Counsel Ettelson.

Seeking a Loophole.

The session was said to have been devoted strictly to searching for a loophole in the stone wall confronted by the governor which lawyers agree will force him sooner or later to go to Springfield and face arrest.

The presence of Attorney Le Forge led to a report that there had been a tentative decision to look over Macon county as a possibly advantageous spot to which to shift the proceedings. Attorney Le Forge left the conference early and efforts to learn whether he had left Chicago for Decatur were unsuccessful.

Gov. Small spent a part of the morning motoring with a carload of detectives following him. It also was learned that late the night before—almost midnight—Chief Fitzmorris found him walking in Michigan avenue and invited him to take a ride to the Municipal pier where preparations for the Pageant of Progress are under way. It is believed the governor has begun to feel lonesome in Chicago. The reason he gave for returning here today instead of going to Springfield was that he has promised to attend some sort of a good roads meeting.

Chicago lawyers now believe that the ultimate decision of the Small legal battery will be to concentrate their fight on an effort for a change of venue from Sangamon county.

Attorney General Brundage, it has become known, is ready to meet the only other program so far discussed—a habeas corpus proceeding—with an appeal directly to the Supreme court to mandamus Sheriff Mester to serve his warrant in spite of any habeas corpus writ that may issue. That procedure was followed in the case of Detective Sergt. Gard with complete success.

MESTER STANDS PAT

Springfield, Ill., July 28.—[Special.]—Neither State's Attorney C. F. Mortimer nor Sheriff Henry Mester has received any further word from Gov. Len Small or his attorney, Albert Fink, as to when the governor expects to return to Springfield to surrender. Both have turned their attention to other matters, but both are determined on one point, and that is that Gov. Small will be taken into custody or will surrender in but one place, and that place is Springfield.

"There is nothing to do but wait," said Sheriff Mester. "We are in no hurry. We have until September to produce the governor in court, and he is sure to come back to Springfield before then. I expect he'll come down here this week and furnish bond."

State's Attorney Mortimer declared that if the governor surrenders to Chief of Police Fitzmorris or any one else outside of Sangamon county, he will notify them to release him.

POLICE OF 2 CITIES ASKED TO HUNT FOR WIFE MISSING HERE

Mrs. Aline King, vanished upon arriving in Chicago on July 1, from Detroit, and relatives in both cities yesterday have appealed to the police to seek her, stating they fear foul play.

MRS. ALINE KING.

Mrs. Sarah Beering, 3929 Fifteenth street, Detroit, Mich., received a postal on July 2 which said:

"Charles and I have parted again and I left Detroit on the 9:30 train last night and arrived here at 7:20 this morning. Write to me at 2541 North Spaulding avenue."

At that address lives an aunt of Mrs. King, Mrs. H. Canaby. She said she did not know her niece was coming and has not seen her. A letter addressed to Mrs. King from Mrs. Beering was unopened for two weeks and then Mrs. Beering wrote to Mrs. Canaby and they learned of the disappearance.

Mrs. Canaby gave the following description of Mrs. King: Twenty-five years old, 5 feet 7 inches tall, slender build, dark brown hair and brown eyes, pronounced arched eyebrows.

ZONING BOARD TO STUDY PLANS OF OTHER CITIES

The city zoning commission, appointed to divide Chicago into residential, business, and industrial zones, held its first meeting in the office of City Building Commissioner Bostrom yesterday. The twenty-two members of the commission decided to begin work by educating themselves in the principles of zoning and the history of zoning in all American cities where it has been given a trial.

Commissioner Bostrom, chairman of the commission, dispelled fears of many in ignorance of the zoning law by declaring that "no attempt will be made to make zoning retroactive."

"We cannot correct many of the evils which have crept into the city's development, but we can prevent their repetition in the future," he said.

Charles Wacker, chairman of the Chicago plan commission, asserted that Chicago, like Topsy, "just grew." The haphazard growth of the city has been a "crime and a waste," he said. E. R. Graham, architect, and Frederick H. Bartlett, real estate man and subdivider, also spoke.

Assistant Corporation Counsel Benton F. Kleeman was requested to present to the commission an exposition of the commission's powers and duties.

FRANCE, BRITAIN, REACH DEADLOCK IN SILESIA ROW

Allied Experts Meet in the French Capital.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, July 28.—Anglo-French relations over the Upper Silesian question took a critical turn today. The British cabinet met twice to discuss the matter, and it is still uncertain whether the allied supreme council meeting set for Aug. 4 will be held or not.

The French still are insisting they will not attend this meeting unless Great Britain first agrees to allow France to send reinforcements to Upper Silesia. The cabinet today decided to remain firm in the position that additional troops are unnecessary and that what is needed most is a settlement of boundaries and not additional force.

Britain's Definite Stand.

The British also take the position very definitely that one power cannot be allowed to veto a meeting of the supreme council because she cannot agree with another power, and it is quite possible that if France remains recalcitrant, the supreme council may meet without her and make decisions regarding settlement of the Silesian problem.

Sir Harold Stuart, British commissioner to Silesia, has arrived in London and today had interviews with Mr. Lloyd George, Lord Curzon, and other officials. It is understood he urged an early settlement of the Silesian boundaries.

BOTH SPARRING—PARIS.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, July 28.—Despite reports of the abandonment of the supreme council's conference on Aug. 4, because of disagreement regarding sending French reinforcements to Upper Silesia, it is thought in some quarters that both Downing street and Quai d'Orsay are sparring and that the Aug. 4 meeting will take place.

The French cabinet will meet tomorrow to discuss the expected British reply concerning the sending of reinforcements to Silesia matter at the head of the supreme councils agenda.

MILITARY DRILLS TO BE GIVEN AT PAGEANT BY THE CULVER CADETS

WM. M. DEWEY.

The crack battalion of cadets from Culver Military academy, including the famous Black Horse troop of cavalry, will present their military and naval drills and participate in various racing events as part of the entertainment features at the Pageant of Progress exposition, which will open at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning on the Municipal pier.

Many Chicago boys are included in the battalion, which will be encamped just north of the Edgewater Beach hotel, through the courtesy of William M. Dewey, manager of the hotel, whose son, William, is a cadet at the school.

One of the special features of the work of the cadet corps will be a demonstration of woodcraft by 400 boys from the summer woodcraft school. They are led by a drum and bugle corps of twenty-seven members.

The cutter crews of the summer naval school will race with crews from the Great Lakes Naval training station and the naval militia of the Great Lakes states, which will hold its annual summer maneuvers off the pier during the exposition.

MOTOR CLUB TO OPEN SPACE FOR FREE PARKING

Inability of city authorities to provide a parking space for automobile travelers visiting Chicago has prompted the Chicago Motor club to remedy this deficiency. A tract of ground has been obtained at Cottage Grove avenue and East 60th street which will be thrown open to these visitors, free of charge, on July 30. The club's action was in response to numerous requests by tourists who stopped at the club for touring information.

Admission to the ground will be by ticket, which may be obtained without charge at club headquarters, 3254 Michigan avenue. The ground will be guarded at night both by representatives of the club and by city and park policemen.

One of the first to utilize the new camping ground will be the modern caravan, which will arrive in Chicago on Aug. 10.

RUSS PROBLEM WILL BE SOLVED BY TRADE ONLY

Senator France Finds It's Sole Hope.

BY JOSEPH IRWIN FRANCE.

United States Senator from Maryland.
[Copyright: 1921: By Baltimore Sun.]

BERLIN, June 28.—[By Mail.]—Tonight, almost four weeks from the time I applied to the Russian office in London for permission to enter soviet Russia, I leave for Riga, in Latvia, from which leads the most likely route into Moscow. Disappointed as I was at being unable to enter immediately, I now realize that the enforced delay has given me an opportunity for learning and comparing the views of a great variety of persons, each familiar with one phase or another of Russian affairs. Here is a partial classification:

Russians of bolshevist sympathy.

Russians of czarist and democratic sympathy.

Englishmen of about these same groups.

Americans from diplomatic life, banking agents, manufacturers' agents, welfare workers.

Certainly from that motley assortment I never could get any agreement as to the league of nations, or the tariff, or the Irish situation, or the German indemnity, or the general strike, or Upper Silesia, or the American merchant marine, or any one of a thousand other subjects.

Yet the extraordinary fact is that every one of them agreed on the essential phase of the Russian problem.

Every one declared that, whatever the ultimate solution, the first thing to do is to establish trade relations as quickly as possible, which will tend to restore the production of Russian raw materials and thereby provide a medium of exchange by which the outside world can find a market for the goods with which the outside world is overstocked. Russians say this will help Russia; Germans, that it will help Germany; English, that it will help England; Americans, that it will help America.

Czarist Makes a Plea.

People who tremble lest trade resumption will aid the Communist propaganda may be interested in the position taken by a pronounced czarist I met here, from who I had really expected opposition to America's adoption of any traffic with the soviets. Here, on the contrary, is his plea:

"By all means get the outside world to trade with Russia, for trade means life. If it helps one faction there, at least it will help others, and be quite sure that with a country starving to death, the first to die will not be the party in power. The way to kill off the inoffensive people is to permit the entry of so little that it will suffice only the people who control the government."

I have always believed that our first duty to Russia, the world and ourselves, is to get Russia's hands to working and her resources to buying, this program, at the same time, moving our wheat to foreign markets before it rots, changing our idle cotton into the money our banks so need, getting our factories to going full time and our industry to normal. I find Europe agreeing that Russian trade will help effect this for us and do good for the world at large.

This, then, is the situation with regard to Russia's first need agreed upon by factions bitterly opposed on other issues. The conviction seems to be growing among well informed people that the present Russian government is not going to fall. It has maintained itself against one counter-revolution after another, and under most adverse economic conditions. In certain respects it has actually grown stronger, propaganda to the contrary. In all probability there will be transformation of its policies—but by evolution, not revolution. Already there is a perceptible movement toward conservatism in the recent recognition of certain property rights of the individual trader, and certain needs for currency. The movement to the right has already gone far enough to enable strongly capitalistic Germany and England to busy themselves in negotiations for trade.

Task a Colossal One.

The nearer I drew to Russia the more I am impressed by the colossal nature of this task. It is too great to be met by individuals or by any nation acting alone. Russia's needs are as enormous as are her resources. Dealing with them must be on a tremendous scale—in terms of hundreds of shiploads, thousands of locomotives, millions of tons of supplies, billions of dollars. It must be the work of a great syndicate, preferably American, German, English, and French; of banks, of manufacturers, of trading corporations, all at work under the helpful support of their several governments. World civilization is a stake for all the great nations to work for. Civilization ever follows trade, and Russia's problem is essentially a trade problem.

CAMP ROOSEVELT'S TYPHOID SUSPECT IS FOUND GERM FREE

I. J. ZEEH.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Irving J. Zeeh, formerly a cook at Camp Roosevelt, near Muskegon, Mich., was reported recently as wanted by the Chicago health authorities for examination as a possible typhid carrier. It was reported the camp had been temporarily quarantined because he had quit cooking for the officers' mess and come to Chicago.

Mr. Zeeh heard only yesterday that he was being sought. He went immediately to the health department, where Dr. Herman J. Bundeson, typhoid specialist, pronounced him free from the germs.

This is Dearborn 1800 Day

This is the day when all good men and true, whose families like the Henrici way of baking coffee cakes, layer cakes, plain cakes, or pies and other pastry, call Dearborn 1800 and place orders to be picked up on Saturday or Sunday.

The forehanded thus avoid disappointment, for, as with many other of the good things of life, the demand for Henrici bakery products (on Saturdays) is greater than the supply.

Why not take an assortment of Henrici bakery products with you on the week-end trip?

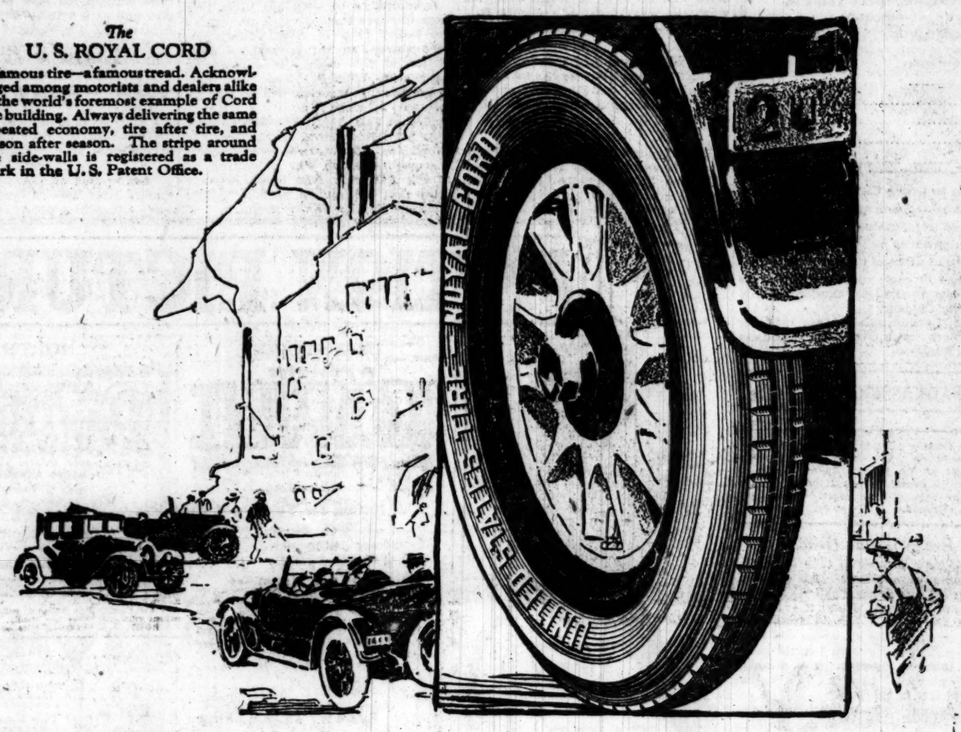
The U. S. ROYAL CORD

A famous tire—a famous tread. Acknowledged among motorists and dealers alike as the world's foremost example of Cord tire building. Always delivering the same repeated economy, tire after tire, and season after season. The stripe around the side-walls is registered as a trade mark in the U. S. Patent Office.



The truth a year ago: a bigger truth to-day-

"Ask us about the leadership of U. S. Royal Cords."

"The public wants values instead of discounts."

* * *

The sale of U. S. Royal Cord Tires in June, 1921, more than doubled that of June, 1920.

People have accepted U. S. Royal Cords as the tire that all other tires are measured by today. The par quality tire at a net price.

In time to come, the significance of the present year will be even more apparent than now.

1921 will stand out as the year when the public declared itself.

When people refused to be mere transient tire trade.

When they turned their backs on "discount" tires—and went to quality and stayed with quality.

* * *

See the U. S. policy in operation as a personal transaction. Buy your tires as you do the other standard products you use.

Let a reputable manufacturer and his reputable dealer take responsibility for your tire economy. Instead of taking it yourself—as "discount" tires make you do.

WANTED

An Unusual Sales Executive

ONE of our clients, an international sales organization, is now seeking a General Sales Manager. He must be a man who can slip into the American division of this organization, and without friction tactfully coordinate and manage the sales force and various sales departments of an already highly developed business.

This institution is world famous, selling various lines of merchandise to department stores and specialty shops, both in this country and abroad.

One of the problems that will confront this Sales Manager will be to devise plans of extending the sales work to other markets and of broadening the channels of trade already open.

The man we want is probably employed at present by a large corporation, but believes that he is fitted for bigger things than the development his present job can offer.

The man who can measure up to the required standards will have free rein in organizing and directing the American sales efforts.

His future as to salary and position is entirely in his own hands, his compensation will be in keeping with the calibre of the man and his development of the job.

In the main he must have

1—Executive sales experience
2—Unusual organizing ability
3—Broad vision
4—Tact
5—Above all, enthusiasm.

If you believe you are the man to develop this unusual opportunity, write us fully about yourself, your experience, past record and earning capacity.

You may write in the full assurance that your application will be kept in strict confidence. A personal appointment will be arranged at the proper time.

Jane Loomis	Dulcie Cooper

Lillian Boland	Helen Lynch
Mrs. Boland	Josephine Crowell

By Mae Tinée.

The moral is rather indifferently worked out, but it's a good old moral just the same. Mr. Aesop would probably have tabulated it:

The story, written by Mr. Cabanne, who also directs the picture, shows how vurr', vurr' [some time I'll tell you why I say vurr' instead of—well, you know the other word; there's a reason], wrong it is to put a damper on the gay effervescence of youth. What if a girl does want to sing on Sunday? The birds carol and get away with it. What if the mill hands do want to play baseball in a vacant lot? Better to be hitting the ball than hitting the booze—or hitting der vife.

And the sons and daughters of the too righteous do not always do credit to their teaching. Witness, for proof, the son of Judge Loomis. A thief, and a sneak, and everything. And doesn't the daughter of the holy Mrs. Boland go to a dance hall, and finally, because her mother treats her so, commit suicide? Two rôles awfully well played, by the way, are those of the daughter, as portrayed by Helen Lynch, and the mother, by Josephine Crowell.

The picture is full of young people who want to do right, with Arthur Burrage Farwells and Lucy Page Gastons hot on their trail taking the joy out of life for them. The finale shows, however, the uplifters brought to their senses. Yes, the ending is vurr' [tell you some time, guess in the meantime] felicitous.

Most of the acting is good. Harriet Hammond, who was a bathing beauty, proves that she can do other things than bathe, and do them just as well.

CLOSEUPS

Rockcliffe Fellowes, the caveman hero, has been secured by Marshall Neilan to appear in a coming production, "Some People."

DORIS BLAKE'S ANSWERS

Too Much Chatter.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am a girl 18 years old and go with a fellow 24. Miss Blake, what I would like your advice on is this: All of my friends tell me that he is too old for me. They also tell me not to go with him because he is shorter than I. But to give him up would break my heart as I love him. They tell me he does not care for me. Although he has not told me I think he does, because I have been going with him two years. Do you think it would be right for me to ask him if he really cares for me. A WORRIED GIRL."

You listen too much to the chatter of your friends, dear! They wouldn't have to live with him, so it is up to you to find out what actual feeling your heart holds for the young man. If he fills the bill for you, pay no attention to gossipy tongues. But wait until he tells you how he feels about you. He will, in time.

Really Wasn't Hungry.

I had been invited to take dinner at the home of a friend. At the conclusion of the meal cake and coffee were served, and when the hostess passed the cake a second time I refused, thinking the slice was too large and therefore more than I could eat.

She insisted, however, and, wishing to be agreeable, I said: "I'd rather have what's in the bag."

"Certainly," was her prompt reply. Imagine my surprise, to say nothing of my embarrassment, when she laughingly drew from the paper bag a beautifully decorated piece of French pastry, enough to serve two persons.

I was sure the bag contained knick-knacks, and so tried to explain, but the laugh was on me, and not only the hostess, but guests all insisted that I should eat what had been in the bag.

During the dry spell we were in the habit of watering the garden and flowers in the evening with the hose. One evening my little neighbor came down and inquired if I was going to wash the flowers again. L. R.

Being in a hurry and wishing to have a pair of shoes shined I gave them to my sister to take out for me and handed her a dime. "A dime isn't enough. They are 15 cents without the feet," she said. M. A. M.

Mary Louise lived in an apartment where there were no other children except a girl of 16 named Lois. She spent a great deal of time visiting her. One Saturday Lois had to help with the ironing and her mother suggested to Mary Louise that she run home and come back the next day when Lois would have more time to play.

Mary looked crestfallen for a minute, then brightened up and replied: "Oh, I didn't come to see Lois. I came to see you." R. R. W.

State Aids Bee Men in War on Diseases

A campaign to keep bee hives free from diseases that threaten to shorten the honey crop of Cook county has been started by the beekeepers' association of this county in coöperation with state officials. The third field demonstration meeting will be held tomorrow afternoon at C. F. Kohr's apiary at 9311 South Western avenue.

A. L. Kildow, chief bee inspector of Illinois, will demonstrate to beekeepers the most effective way of getting rid of the American foul brood, the disease that is causing serious trouble among apiarists in this country.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

I want to be the medium through which the friend in deed and the friend in need may be brought together. It may be you have some discarded article which has not outgrown its usefulness that will make some less fortunate one happy, and you would gladly give it if you knew how to go about it. Write to me and I shall be only too happy to be of service to you. Please write on one side of the paper.

When information is wanted by mail, a stamped, addressed envelope should accompany the request. Please do not send parcels to The Tribune, but write for the address of the applicant and send direct.

"Will you please make a request in your column for me? I am a young girl, and expect to become a mother in September. My husband has been out of work, and things are so expensive that I cannot afford to buy baby clothing. I would be thankful for any infant clothing given me.

"Mrs. F. G. J."

I hope some articles of clothing may be found for the little stranger due to arrive soon.

"Am wondering if there is some one among your host of readers who may have a fireless cooker to give. I would gladly call for it or pay for the expressing should there be one available. It would be such a help to have it after coming home from work to have supper started. Hoping this is not asking too much and wishing all success to the corner, I am, A. L. R."

If I have the good fortune to hear of an available fireless cooker, my friend, I shall communicate with you immediately.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

The Avacado or Alligator Pear.

From mid July to late October is the alligator pear season, although this fruit is to be had a large part of the year at out of season prices. And it is at such prices that it makes its first summer entrance into the markets, although those who watch for its presence in the markets may find that in some places twice as much is charged at one place as at another. The reason for this is perhaps that so many are sold in one store while it is still in the introductory stage among the patrons of the other stores.

In one place this year I got a fine large avacado for less than 10 cents more than I would have paid for a large head of lettuce that day, and certainly for novelty as well as for some other qualities, the avacado outranked the lettuce many times over. It is real food, and not without reason is it called butter, and used as such by the colored people of the tropics and by sailors on the ships that sail in the regions where it is abundant. It contains a large per cent of vegetable fat, comparable to the olive in that respect.

One large avacado is enough for four salad portions of good size with a lettuce base. One way to extend it is to use cucumber, the little sweet home grown ones which have come in so early this season being excellent with it; the honey dew melon is equally good—all from the ice box. It is presumed in each of these cases that it is served with a French dressing. When it is served with fruit either a cooked dressing or a mayonnaise is best, and these should be much thinned with whipped cream. An authority on this fruit thinks that no oil or fat should be used with the avacado because it is so fat—only the other ingredients of a French dressing.

FASHION'S BLUE BOOK

BY CORINNE LOWE.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—The tunic has a brand new way of tuning up. It's now staccato in front and adagio sostenuto in back. Transposed into the key of ordinary conversation, this means that it is longer in the back. No, indeed not—the effect is really charming!

Our accompanying illustration shows this new impulse of the mode in connection with several other style features worthy of mention. There is the sloping shoulder line pronounced here by bands of white organdy on the antique blue of the muslin foundation. Then there are the wide long sleeves and the bloused waistline so dear to present fashions. Last of all, comes an underskirt of white organdy overgrown with roses of self-material.

A Very Effective Silk Sweater

The illustration shows one of the hand framed silk sweaters—made in four distinct weaves—in black, navy, and the new modish colors—tailored to gracefully fit the figure.

Glenn Dillard Gunn and Walter Spry Give Notable Recitals

BY EDWARD MOORE.

TWO sources of summer music, each having served out its appointed end, came to a close yesterday morning. Glenn Dillard Gunn's piano recital was the final item of the series at the Ziegfeld theater, and Walter Spry, also a Chicago pianist, gave the last of a series of lecture recitals at the Columbia School of Music.

Mr. Gunn was heard in works by Liszt, Debussy, and Ravel, also in some modern revisions of ancient works, such as MacDowell's on Rameau and Couperin, Bauer's on Mattheson, and Busoni's on Bach. He is an eminently sane player with a critical outlook on music that is generally cool and never cold.

It is an interesting style of playing, founded upon the great art of simplicity and developed into complexity which stops safely short of overelaboration. He has brains as well as fingers.

Mr. Spry, also a thinker, devoted his program and its explanatory lecture to the moderns among composers, beginning with Brahms and working through Dohnanyi, Moszkowski, Rachmaninoff, Grieg, MacDowell, Hendricks, Debussy, and Liszt. Pointing out the salient facts of form and theme in each work, he played them in turn, and, in as much of the program as could be heard, imaginatively and well.

SCRAWNY NECK: MASSAGE from the base of the neck upward toward the chin and out toward the ears. Cleanse the neck thoroughly first; scrub with a camel's hair brush, warm water, and soap; rinse in warm water. Then massage with a good skin food, giving extra movements under the chin. Wipe off surplus cream carefully and go over the throat with ice, which is an excellent astringent and will prevent those unsightly wattles under the chin. Have a pamphlet on massage and skin food formula. If you want it, please send s., a. e.

TINY: GROWTH IS DETERmined by the activity of the ductless glands. Whether a child is destined to be a dwarf or a giant depends on this function. Science has not yet fathomed the mysteries of these glands; consequently physical development is not under control. There is nothing one can do after the age when full growth has been acquired to shorten or lengthen one.

Women Want Their Right (to Smoke) Even if It Is Unused

MILADY NICOTINE is a woman and shoud not be denied the company of her own sex. So it is that the bill submitted by Representative Johnson of Mississippi to prohibit feminine smoking has received the contempt of Chicago women. What right has the male of the specias to legislate anent their personal conduct? they inquire.

"It would be a shameful thing for men to make a law of that kind," commented Miss Ethel Montegriffo, ward chairman of the Woman's City club. "I am glad Miss Alice Robertson, the woman member of congress, indicated she was notf riendly to the measure. Women will not stand for that sort of highhanded legislation in a matter that concerns them."

Miss Olga Menn, social chairman of the Pageant of Progress, wants to know why legislators don't use their time in considering vital matters, such as the Sweet bill.

"I do not smoke myself, nor do I approve of smoking in public, but it is absurd for the lawmakers to attempt to say what women shall or shall not do," she said.

Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen, president of the Woman's City club, avers that the congressmen ought to be ashamed of themselves.

EDITORS FAVOR MEMORY ROADS FOR WISCONSIN

Honor to War Dead Is Approved.

BY LEOLA ALLARD.

There is not, perhaps, a more willing helper and delighted advocate of memorial tree planting than C. E. Broughton, publisher of the Sheboygan Press, Sheboygan, Wis. When told that the plan is to plant a tree for every soldier, sailor and marine who served in the world war, and to place them along the nation's highways, that posterity may have the world's greatest memory roads, Mr. Broughton promised immediate support in his paper, and said he would suggest that his city form an organization at once, that it may not be left out of the list of cities that are honoring their soldiers.

"It means 4,000,000 trees for the country, and I believe every city should get behind such a plan," said Mr. Broughton. "Sheboygan will do so, I'm sure of it. There is no slacker spirit here. Some women of the city came to me recently, and told me they had read of this plan in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. They asked if this city couldn't do something to help. They thought our soldiers should be among the first remembered."

Henry Schoenseigel, editor of the Pilot, Port Washington, Wis., is ready to start at once on memory roads.

F. R. Starbuck, publisher of the Journal-News at Racine, was figuring almost as soon as he was told of the plan, how long it would take to get Racine organized and on its way to the planting of the country's trees. W. T. Marlett of the Kenosha News is a man whose keen appreciation of trees is well known by his undereditors, and they knew—as soon as Mr. Marlett won the golf tournament in which he was competing that afternoon, he would like to hear about the road plans. "Do send us news of the progress," said Mr. Marlett's city editor. "Mr. Marlett is just the man to help the plan along."

In Lake Forest, Ill., plans are made to plant trees to the soldiers who made the greatest sacrifice, making a memory road of Deerpath avenue. The trees are to be planted on both sides of the road, forty feet apart.

YANK GUNBOATS DON WAR DRESS IN SOUTH CHINA

BY J. B. POWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]

SHANGHAI, July 28.—Moves and counter moves in the middle Yangtse valley region indicate the coming of civil strife between the Canton southern government and the Peking northern government. The quarrel apparently started between the southern province of Hunan and the northern province of Hupeh.

Southern agitators are said to have instigated a mutiny in Changsha, the capital of Hunan province, looting and partially burning the place, according to Hankow reports. The foreign population of the city, totaling approximately 200, are not believed to have been harmed.

Wu Pei Fu, the northern military hero, is reported to be rushing troops into Hupeh. Wang Chang Yuan, the governor of the province, has assured foreigners that they will be afforded every protection, but the American river gunboats Quiros and Albany are lying off Hankow with their decks cleared for action, while the British gunboats Tell and Woodcock have proceeded to Yochow.

That the whole movement is a part of a plan formulated by President Sun Yat Sen of the Canton government against the Peking government is evidenced by a dispatch from Canton saying Sun had issued orders to his military leaders to relieve Hupeh from its present military domination.

The report says Sun Yat Sen is himself preparing to lead a part of his army toward Hankow as the first step of a march on Peking.

The Peking government is silent, but foreigners believe that any increased activity on the part of Wu Pei Fu, which would give him popular support, may lead to a break between Tsao Kun, the military governor of Chihli, his immediate superior, and Chang Tso-ling, the military governor of Manchuria and the now self-constituter super war lord of the Peking government.

Find Dancers in Nighties in Raid on Green Corners

When Deputy Sheriff Otto Grenwich broke in the doors of the "Green Corners" roadhouse at Lawndale avenue and Joliet road, Lyons, Wednesday night, three dancing couples jumped through open windows. Dressed only in their night garments, they were caught by fourteen other deputy sheriffs who had surrounded the house. Harry Heywood, 307 South Halsted street, was booked as keeper of a disorderly house.

DRY LAW TO BE TESTED IN HIGH COURT OF STATE

Springfield, Ill., July 28.—An attack on the constitutionality of the new Illinois prohibition law will follow the sentencing of George Burchek in the county court here, according to Attorney L. E. Stone.

Judge J. B. Weaver imposed a fine of $500 and a sentence of ninety days on Burchek for violation of an injunction to restrain him from the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor. The case will be taken to the Supreme court.

It will be the first test of the validity of the new prohibition act. Attorney Stone said he would base his appeal from Judge Weaver's decision on the contention that the law was unconstitutional.

The question of the constitutionality of the act, attorneys declare, brings up the point that the provisions of the state act are based primarily on the Volstead act upheld by the United States Supreme court.

CLINNIN'S BRIEF DARES EXPERTS' CHANGED TACTICS

Switch from Claim of "Politics" First Made.

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.

The city's experts—like Gov. Small—have taken a different tack and are now selling on a new leg, in the opinion of Col. John V. Clinnin, assistant district attorney. Albert Fink, former legal adviser of William Lorimer, is attorney both for the governor and for Ernest E. Lyons, one of the city's real estate experts. He no doubt has influenced the courses followed in each case.

Col. Clinnin is seeking to have the beneficiary experts of $2,742,000 of city cash held in contempt of court for refusal to obey the summons of Internal Revenue Collector Cannon, who has been investigating their income tax statements. The colonel's brief, on the preparation of which George N. Murdock, representative of the solicitor of the internal revenue department, assisted, has been filed with Judge Landis.

Claims in the Brief.

This asserts that the respondent experts "do not defend their action before the collector, but endeavor to excuse them by setting up a defense never mentioned at that time." It continues:

"What they did and the extent of their contempt is set out in their reply to the collector giving their reasons for not responding, which are purely personal and political."

In the experts' reasons the name of Gov. Small is dragged in and linked with that of Mayor Thompson of Chicago. These reasons are in the form of a letter signed by Ernest H. Lyons and starts with: "For the purpose of preserving, in writing, a record of the reasons for my refusal to produce my private papers and answer interrogatories in compliance with your summons, I beg to submit the following: (In the seventh paragraph following is this sentence):

"That portion of the Republican party in Illinois opposed to Senator McCormick is represented in its leadership by William Hale Thompson, mayor of Chicago, and Gov. Len Small."

Gives New Reasons.

Lyons later says that he declines to produce his papers or answer questions until ordered by the District court, for two reasons. One is that he is advised that the collector is without jurisdiction to conduct the proceedings. The other reason, stripped of its preamble, reads:

"I am necessarily constrained to the view that the present proceedings are not brought in good faith, for the purposes contemplated by the statute, but are, on the contrary, collateral and supplementary to the civil suits now being prosecuted by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE in state and federal courts for the purpose of destroying the political leadership antagonistic to the leadership of Senator McCormick."

Col. Clinnin says that that defense has been discarded and that the experts now contend that the collector's inquiry is a "criminal case" and that the fifth amendment to the United States constitution says that no person "shall be compelled in a criminal case to be a witness against himself."

The Clinnin brief asserts that the experts "refused to comply with the summons in that they refused to produce the books, papers, etc., called for, and did not avail themselves of their privilege, but defiantly and contemptuously and for entirely irrelevant reasons refused to comply with the demands."

Clinnin Answers "Reasons."

Col. Clinnin answers the experts' "so reasons for failure to obey the summons. The experts' brief says that the summons of the collector, stating that in his opinion they had made false and fraudulent returns for income tax purposes, charges a crime. Clinnin says:

"The proceedings before the collector is not a criminal proceeding. Whether a witness might be compelled to claim his privileges against incrimination depends entirely upon what the records desired might contain. The collector has no information; he states in his summons that it is his opinion. The proceeding is merely an investigation."

The assistant district attorney asserts that the court decisions have made the law clear that only a witness can refuse to testify, that a person cannot be a witness before he appears, is sworn, and asked to testify or give evidence, and that the privilege is personal and must be claimed by the witness himself.

Col. Clinnin also asserts that the experts were not sworn, consequently were not witnesses and therefore could not have claimed the privilege of refusing to testify against themselves.

Meantime vital organs of Kolze's wife, who died May 30, 1913, and of Mrs. Frieda Denner's husband, who died in the same year, are being analyzed by the city chemist. Mrs. Denner became Kolze's housekeeper after her husband and Kolze's wife had died.

Mrs. Elizabeth Marwood of Bensonville, Ill., mother of the dead Mrs. Kolze, was questioned earlier in the day at the detective bureau. She said she had always believed her daughter had been poisoned.

Detectives searched the premises of Mrs. Denner Tuesday and found a box of paris green and three small packages of a whitish powder. These have been turned over to the coroner's chemist for analysis.

ASTRAL DELVER TRAPS BURGLAR ON EARTH PLANE

Miss Hazel Calls Police for Man at Window.

They are being held incognito and incomunicado by the Evanston police, but it is rumored about town that they're a Liberian duke and his secretary. Early yesterday the pair drove up to the Allabaugh residence at 1505 Oak avenue in a Stutz car.

It was about this time that Miss Hazel, who gained fame last winter by seeking to further an astral courtship for her chum, discovered the alleged duke examining a lower window. Several yards away stood the secretary.

"I fear our abode is about to be entered with felonious intent," said she to her brother. He telephoned the police, and within forty-five seconds, it is claimed by the Evanston contabulary, their flivver traversed the half mile to the Allabaugh place.

Refers Him to Secretary.

"What are you doing there? You're under arrest," snapped a copper. The duke eyed him with annoyance and continued fussing with the window.

"Er—my secretary. You will have to speak with him," he said, pointing to the young Ethiopian standing near him. "If he deems it of sufficient importance I will give you a few minutes of my time when I am not so rushed."

"So you are in a hurry?" inquired the copper, whacking him over the head with his nightstick. "Maybe this will speed you up a bit."

With the third rap the duke began to smile.

"Ah, now I recognize you," said he. "I felt there was something familiar in your manner. Step into my car and we'll have a ride."

All Ride in the Flivver.

The police, however, insisted that no gas should be burned at the duke's expense while within the hospitable confines of Evanston. They all rode to the station in the flivver.

Thercupon Miss Hazel, who had been supervising the arrest from an upper window, retired to her astral research. Ever since a gallant youth at the theater took her chum's shoe out to be repaired when she fell and lost the heel, Miss Hazel has been trying to find him through the psychic telephone. Both chum and gallant youth had communicated via thought waves, even to the extent of his proposing and her accepting, but they were unable to exchange names and addresses. Miss Hazel is still on his trail.

$10,000 DIAMONDS SEIZED HERE AS SMUGGLED GEMS

Two diamonds, each weighing nine carats and valued at $10,000, were seized yesterday by William N. Williams, special agent for the treasury department. The diamonds were in the safe of the Sandack Jewelry company at 52 West Madison street.

Mr. Williams said the gems had been smuggled into this country without duty by Alexander Cash, a rabbi of Toronto, Canada.

Louis Ascher of 5233 Indiana avenue was the go-between for the rabbi and the jewelry firm, Mr. Williams said. He alleges Ascher sold the diamonds for $10,000. Ascher, who is one of Tim Murphy's bondsmen, will be questioned today.

Another Legion Post Raps Sponsoring of Johnson

Sol-Sai-Mar post of the American Legion has been condemned for sponsoring Jack Johnson in prospective prize fights, in a resolution passed by Naval post, No. 372. It declares it is "not conducive to the best interests of the American Legion to have any post sponsor any performance or entertainment of any kind whatsoever the principals of which are ex-convicts or other disreputable persons." It recommends that Sol-Sai-Mar be reprimanded by the executive committee.

AIN'T IT A GRAND AND GLORIOUS FEELING

MEN ARE LIKE THAT

BY CLARA E. LAUGHLIN

PARIS IN SPRINGTIME.

"You couldn't come over with me, in the flesh, dearest," Sallie wrote to Jim from Paris, late in April, "but you certainly came in spirit. I brought you. I have taken you with me into every experience. I think most persons I've met have felt you. So many have expressed the wish to see you.

"In six weeks I shall be with you again. And how I shall talk! You won't know your silent little old Sallie Ann who used to 'keep on sayin' nothin',' like the Tar-Baby, but who was taking things in, evidently, because they've been tumbling out at a lively rate, over here, lately. I'm surprised at myself, half the time.

"I shall be able to tell you a thousand things about London. But shall I ever be able to tell you a thing in the world about France? I doubt it! I learned a great deal about London; I got fairly close, I think, to a great many different kinds of her people.

"It's all quite settled, now, about Ben Lester's going with me. I should feel like a wretch to be taking him away from Mrs. Railton's cast, if they were not so sweet about it, saying the change, and the bigger pay, will do him good, and that he deserves it, and that they're glad to have the States know him, and so on.

"It's a concession for him to go into a comedy with music; but Jay says he'll see that Mr. Lester gets a lot out of it in advertising; and the part is being fattened for him until it's really most alluring. He fits into the whole scheme of the thing quite perfectly, and I suspect that the old darling's vanity is immensely tickled by it all. We've written about it to the Prince, and I daresay we'll hear from him at least by the time we get to the States. That looks strange, as I write it. I mean home, for me; and the States for Mr. Lester. He's sailing with us. And it wouldn't surprise me if the Earl and Countess of Stoke-Poges went then, too; though they want to see the opening of the play, and may not care to be away so long as that.

"Dear me! at every mention of London, I recall a hundred things I want to say to you.

"But France! I'm having a totally different experience here, and brief. I'm just a little girl set down, unknown and unknowing, in a country where I can't even make people understand the name of my hotel when I say it, so I have to write it on a card and show it when asking a cabman to drive me there.

"Does this sound forlorn? It isn't! No one was ever happier to be lost than I am to be lost in Paris. Sometimes I feel as if I would like never to be found—the sensation is so full of wonder and wild delight. I can't talk to any one; no one can talk to me. I don't know what anybody feels or thinks about anything. I am as detached from human intercourse, while I wander about this teeming city, as I could be on Crusoe's island, in a way. And I'm loving it as I have never loved any experience of my life, and getting so much out of it that I don't know where to begin, if I try to tell you about it, and I doubt if I can make myself at all clear.

"Mother and Linda are absorbed with the shops and the restaurants, and Jay trails around at their heels contentedly. I go to dinner with them, always, though I often wish I could go somewhere by myself, and continue my blissful lost-ness. I go for my fittings in the Rue de la Paix, where my exquisite frocks for the play are being made. The rest of the time I just wander. I've been to the art galleries, a little; they awe me greatly, and make me feel terribly uneducated and inadequate.

"Some day, I hope, I'll know more about pictures and sculpture, but just now it is not these that I crave. My joy is in the streets, and, thanks to dear Janet Pemberton's comprehension of what I need, and her detailed instructions, I'm getting into the streets that have most to say to your little Sallie. And, O, my darling! how they're saying it! Do you know how streets can talk? And how the Frenchiest little old streets can talk English to me? Yes, sir! And, somehow, the people in them, and the people who used to be in them, all talk to me, too; and I can understand them, the living, and the ever-living whom one cannot call the dead.

"You will hardly need me to tell you that one thing which is much in my mind as I wander about, unable to understand a word I hear, or to communicate the simplest thought or wish, is the multitudes in our country who come to us with no knowledge of our language. I could do, here, what they do, there: flock with a colony of my countrymen. But something has given me wisdom beyond that. I want this country, these people, to speak to me. And I am learning, dearest, that language is not the only means of communication. Sometimes I think it may be the poorest means; because when we talk we so often make ourselves misunderstood. And in some of the other ways I'm learning, it is impossible to misunderstand.

"For instance: yesterday morning I was roaming in the neighborhood of Les Halles, the great markets. Janet had given me a multitude of directions about things to see in the quaint old streets about there. She told me about the fountain of the Holy Innocents, in the square of that name, and how it was the beauty of this fountain which caused Henry II. to give its then unknown artists the commission to build his sumptuous additions to the Louvre. I was standing there, in the square, about noon, looking at the fountain, when a workman in a blue blouse or smock, began saying things to me. Not a word was intelligible, but I seemed to know in a general way what he meant. At any rate, I knew he admired the fountain, either for its beauty or for its history or for some reason, and hoped I was appreciating it. I nodded, and I think I made him comprehend that I was getting a great deal of something out of being there. He made signs to me to wait, and hastened off.

"In a few moments the waters in the fountain began to play in the brilliant noon sunshine. It was entrancingly lovely, and I'm sure my delight was written in my face in a language he could understand perfectly. He came back to see my enjoyment; and he seemed so proud and so hospitable that I shall always cherish the memory of him; and for his sake and for others here of like sort shall try to make some people glad they came to my country—and I shall know that it can be done even if I can't speak their tongue. I don't know if he was the caretaker of the fountain, or how he got the waters turned on. But he wanted me to see that fountain at its best. I wish more of us had that feeling about our best, and showing it to the silent, wondering strangers within our gates!

"I've heard some Americans talk about feeling a hostile attitude in the people here; and I can only wonder at such talk, and make my own guesses as to why they felt that hostility, if they did. I feel an extraordinary, outreaching kindliness and an amazing power of perception or intuition or some quality of understanding which enables them to feel our attitude, whether we can express it or not.

"I know now why we so often hear 'the soul of France' referred to. France is a land of spirit. Going to London was a tremendous mental development for me. I could feel my intelligence, my grasp of things, growing there like a gourd. Coming here has been an equally tremendous spiritual or emotional experience. I seem to get these revelations out of the ground, as if the soil of France were magic—as I am sure it is—and one had only to stand on it reverently and keep very still, to receive the current of her soul and vibrate in its rhythm.

"Tomorrow, my beloved, I am going, in pilgrimage, to Belleau Wood, where I shall thank God for letting you do your bit there, and for bringing you back to me; and ask Him to thank, for me, the dear lads who didn't come back."

The Inquiring Reporter

The Question.

Where Asked.

The Answers.

Florence Friedman, 5432 Calumet avenue, stenographer—I think they are right in one respect, because they don't want every one coming up to their beaches and crowding out their own residents. Again, a lot of people that go up there litter up the place so badly.

R. K. Hanson, 1418 Olive avenue, clerk—They were perfectly justified in taking that action. On Sundays or holidays the beaches were generally crowded with strangers, and the residents were unable to get to the water. Then, after the crowd left, the beaches were in no fit condition to use.

Jessie Hall, 4012 Sheridan road, bookkeeper — I think Chicago people have as much right to the north shore beaches as the people who live there. Why not? The lake is government property. Isn't it, and the Chicago people have as much right in it as any one else, I should think.

J. F. Combs, 682 Constance avenue, clerk—I don't think they have the right to chase anybody away from the lake. It is supposed to be public property, and I guess Chicago pople are part of the public who are interested in it. Why not weed out all the cars and people from the swell north shore who come here to visit, and run them out.

Evelyn Rudiger, 5452 North Paulina street, typist—I do not think it is right to bar all Chicago people from the north shore beaches. Of course, there is a certain element who visit those places that should be barred from all beaches.

NURSE TAKES POISON BY MISTAKE.

VANISHES TO GIVE HER 7 CHILDREN CHANCE OF HOME

Mother Kisses Them Good-By, Then Disappears.

Mrs. Fanny Metz has vanished and seven children are wondering where their mother can be. She kissed them good-by, with instructions to go to the charities for a home, and then she disappeared into the big city that her babies might have a chance.

BESSIE METZ.

It was a letter from Attorney Samuel Blauner which informed the Juvenile court about Mrs. Metz. He told how her husband had died two years ago of the flu, how she had been trying to support her family on a monthly widow's pension of $60, how she had vainly applied to the charities for aid.

Molly in Deserted Flat.

Yesterday Assistant State's Attorney Guy C. Crapple went out to the little flat over the store at 1334 North Rockwell street. He found those six barren rooms deserted except for 12 year old Molly. She was staring at the dilapidated walls with sad blue eyes.

"Wednesday morning mamma called my big brother, Able, and told him to take us to the Jewish charities on Selden street," she said. "Mamma kissed up all and then she began to cry. She didn't want to leave us.

"Ever since papa died mamma tried to give us music lessons and an education. Able was getting $15 a week and we just managed to get along. Then Able was fired. That's why mamma sent us all to the charities and went away—so that we could get a nice home and go to school.

Homes Are Found.

Places were found with private families for the seven children. Besides 15-year old Able and little Molly, there was Bessie, 10, Harry, 8, Ida, 7, Isadore, 5, and Edward, 2. Molly stayed at her new home Wednesday night, but she didn't get much sleep. She kept wondering where mother was, and in the morning she slipped away to be once more in the flat that was so lonely and forlorn.

Today Mr. Crapple will have the desertion warrant for Mrs. Metz's arrest canceled. He wants to find her and see if he can't help her.

MORTON GROVE'S WOMEN KEEP UP WORK FOR HEROES

The eighteen members of the Women's War Working Aid society of Morton Grove did not stop their work when the war was over. For two years they knitted and got candy and tobacco to send to the forty-three village boys who had joined the fighting forces. Then they started to raise money for a monument in their honor.

The monument is completed and stands ready to be unveiled, in a little park also bought by the women. All but $800 of the necessary $3,150 has been raised. They hope to get the balance from the proceeds of a picnic which will be held at Morton Grove next Sunday. There will be a street dance, baseball game between the bloomer girls of the village and those of Glen View, and other features.

Mrs. Myrtle Scherenberg is president of the aid society, Mrs. Emma H. Neymann is vice president, and Mrs. August Poehlmann is treasurer.

FARM AND GARDEN

BY FRANK RIDGWAY

BLOSSOM-END ROT DEALS BLOW IN HOT WEATHER.

Plant breeders have failed to find any variety of tomatoes that is wholly immune to blossom-end rot, and every tomato grower may expect his vines to be affected by this disease this summer. In many sections of the middle west growers have been troubled with blossom-end rot during the last few weeks.

Blossom-end rot may be expected in dry seasons in any garden that is not properly watered and cared for. It is not infectious and consequently does not spread from one patch to another.

The disease is closely associated with decided variations of the moisture content of the soil. It is a well established fact that blossom-end rot is likely to appear in hot weather when it is extremely dry or in muggy, wet weather. A dry, black rot appears at the blossom end. Occasionally the blossom and the foliage around it is covered with a black mold. Later the disease causes further trouble when the green or partly ripened fruit is frequently disfigured.

Much of the trouble due to this disease is avoided by using varieties that are more or less resistent, but at this time in the season, when the plants are loaded with blossoms and fruit, some other preventive must be used.

In fields that are irrigated or supplied with a constant and uniform amount of water, growers have little trouble. Plants are particularly susceptible to blossom-end rot this season because conditions are favorable for the development of other diseases that weaken them, and for this reason Bordeaux mixture should be applied.

In addition to keeping the soil around the plants watered thoroughly and regularly a mulch of clean straw or grass clippings should be scattered along the row. This furnishes a shade and holds the moisture in the soil, keeps a lower temperature in the soil, and provides a clean blanket on the surface for the fruit.

There is usually a time in the life of every practical joker when he wishes he had been born without a sense of humor.

The Robins hit the ball harder than the Everites did and had better luck in bunching their swats. They would have counted more tallies with their ten hits if his pals had not pulled some life saving plays behind Cheeves in the rough sailing.

A double play resulting from a circus catch by Daly in the fourth yanked Cheeves out of a hole with only one run chalked against him. Flack cut down a runner at the plate in the ninth, and Marriot checked a batting rally by the Robins in the eighth by swell assistance from Grimes and Deal, in nailing Janvrin at third.

Cadore did not ask for much sensational work from his backers, as he allowed only seven safeties and kept them well scattered except in the fourth when the Cubs grabbed the lead for a few minutes. Then a clever play stopped the locals and they never did get out of first speed again.

Cubs Score Two Runs.

All the real business was transacted in the middle rounds. Neither team could score in three spasms and in that time each pitcher allowed one hit.

The fourth saw the scenery changed. Myers opened it with a single and Neis duplicated it. Janvrin bunted a pop foul back of the pan and Daly caught it by extending himself to the limit. Myers was so far off second he was doubled up before he could get back. Neis stole second, but didn't need to because Kilduff walloped a three bagger over Maisel's head to the fence. It would have scored a pal from anywhere.

One down in the home half Marriot singled to right. Grimes drew a pass. Barber flied out, but Maisel's single, which Olson blocked, filled the bases. Deal whistled a single to center, scoring Marriot and Grimes, but when he tried to make second on the throw to stop Maisel at third Johnston whipped it back to Kilduff in time to get Charley and close the deal.

Robins Win in Fifth.

The Robins came right back in the fifth and won the game. Cadore was out before Olson hit safely between Deal and Hollocher and scored on a double to left by Johnston. Griffith beat out a slow bounder to Marriot, putting Johnston on third, from where he romped home when Myers hit a fly to deep center. Neis hit one farther than that but Maisel went back and got that one, too, ending the attack.

The Cubs could get only three more hits off Cadore in the remaining five innings and only one of them reached second in that time. He got there on a pass followed by one of the hits, but not until after two were out.

Cubs Threaten in Ninth.

Cheeves held the Robins to three hits in the last four chapters and they could not score on him again.

They came cloes to it in the ninth. Krueger led with a walk and was sacrificed ahead by Cadore. Olson skied. Then Johnston ripped off his second hit. It went through to Flack who winged the ball home in time to give Daly a chance to kill off Krueger's run by a couple of yards.

CUB NOTES

PHILADELPHIA today.

This is "ladies' day," with the Phillies as an appropriate attraction.

Bargain day hunters will have their innings tomorrow, when a double header is booked for the Cub park to work off a hangover from June.

Three hundred Elks, returning from Los Angeles to Brooklyn, attended the game and rooted hard for the Robins. They were equipped with various songs and other noise making devices.

Two down in the Robin half of the eighth, Janvrin cracked out a single. Kilduff bounded one over Cheeves' head. Marriot came in and scooped the pill, but not in time to throw his man out at first. Janvrin tried to go to third on the hit, but Grimes relayed to Deal, who made a brilliant stab and tag, retiring the side.

Marriot made a circus dive after Krueger's hit close to second in the second inning and succeeded in smothering the ball. Before he could pick himself up he tossed it to Hollocher on second, forcing Kilduff, who had just walked.

Cheeves whiffed the first two times up, then whaled the first ball pitched the third time up for a single.

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

Washington, D. C., July 28.—[Special.]—Clark Griffith's ball team was boosted along in its effort to land third place this year by beating what remained of the already broken White Sox team today in a game that will always be under a cloud in the records of the national pastime because all sportsmen believe the games here should have been postponed with the stars absent.

CLARK GRIFFITH. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

The score was 8 to 5, the misfit Sox struggling their best to win while the stars of the outfit were called back to Chicago as witnesses in the "Black Sox" trial.

Rain Doesn't Stop Griff.

Not even a heavy thunderstorm just before game time could stop Griffith from staging this "soft" game though in the past he has postponed many a contest on a mere sprinkle and put on the doubleheader later. But it was a "set up" today for the Washington team and Washington made the most of it.

It was more than a half hour before game time that the threatening thunderstorm approached. Not waiting for it to break and wet the grounds Griffith rushed his crew out and put the big tarpaulin over the diamond, stopping the Sox batting practice almost before it had started. Ten minutes later the storm struck and the big canvas was there to protect the field.

"Fooling the Public."

It rained hard until long after the regular starting time. Pools of water were in the outfield. The small crowd expected the thing to be postponed, but there was no such intention by Mr. Griffith. Soon the clouds broke away and the sun came out.

The canvas was removed, and, although more than a half hour late, the game was on, and the Washington team won what it was after, even if the public was fooled. They're trying some boys out in Chicago now for fooling the public. Undoubtedly many came out here today expecting to see Eddie Collins and Ray Schalk and the other surviving lights of the Sox outfit. They were fooled. But Griffith got no orders from headquarters to postponed the game, and even a thunderstorm could not do it.

Johnny Mostil played at second base, and got all mixed up twice in the first inning—the inning that Washington got five runs and practically clinched it. "Shovel" Hodge was knocked off the mound in that round, but might not have been with regular support.

Wienecke Looks Good.

Young Jack Wienecke took Hodge's place and did splendid work. The Sox hit the curves of Olaf Erickson for a total of thirteen blows, but with his commanding lead he was able to last.

It was a bad game of ball, but Washington is keeping well up in the race. No one seems to care a whoop about the struggle of the White Sox to keep out of last place.

SOX NOTES

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 28.—[Special.]—Another farce between Griffith's team and the Soxlings will be staged here tomorrow to wind up the series. Perhaps it's all for the best.

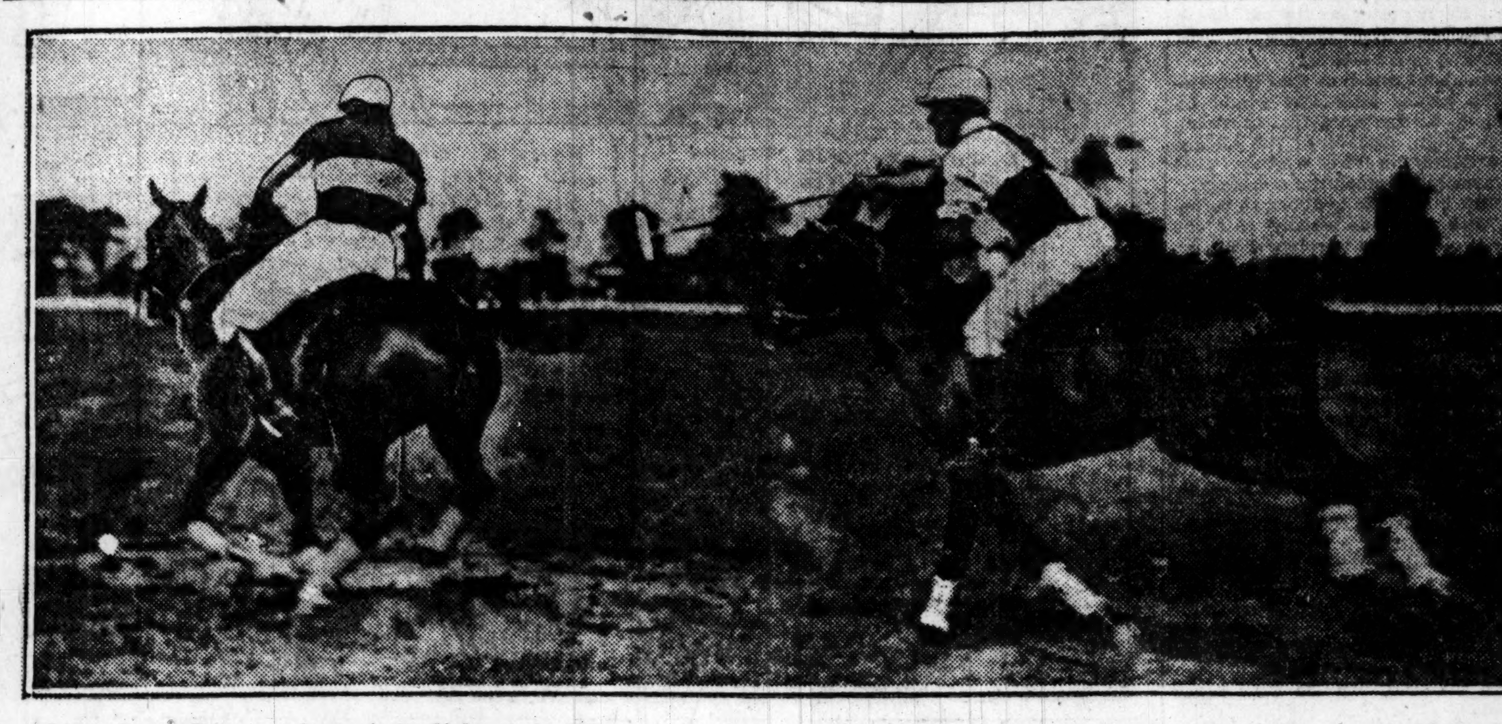
Only a small crowd was out today, about 1,200 persons, who probably expected to see a regular game.

The teams went into the game without preliminary fielding practice and the Sox had only about five minutes of hitting.

Milan got a homer in the fourth because Bib Falk tried to make a diving catch and missed.

Falk poled a ball over the distant right field fence in the second, but it was about one foot foul. It was a regular Babe Ruth wallop.

POLO COMES BACK INTO ITS OWN



Lieut. James Breese, a hero of the flight of the NC-4 across the Atlantic, has just struck the ball in the match between the Onwentsia team and the Miami Valley Hunt and Polo club of Dayton at Lake Forest yesterday. The ball may be seen just in front of Lieut. Breese's pony. Harold Talbott of the Dayton team, a former Yale football star, is chasing Breese. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 28.—The Giants staged a batting rally in the ninth inning of today's game with Pittsburgh and won, 6 to 4. The Pirates batted Barnes off the slab in the third inning, but Douglas, who succeeded him, held the home team safe. Dayton Whips Onwentsia in Tilt of Polo Spills, 8 to 7

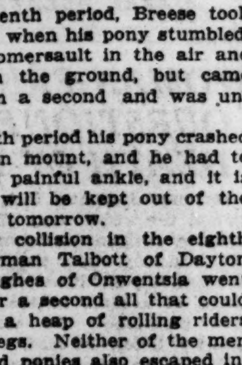
BY ALBON HOLDEN.

In a game featured by three spills, the Miami Valley Hunt and Polo club of Dayton, O., yesterday defeated the Onwentsia polo team at Lake Forest, 8 to 7. The winning goal came with fifty-five seconds to play and was a rather lucky shot, striking the post and bounding inside.



LIEUT. J. BREESE. [Bachragh Photo.]

The hard riding in the last two periods brought most of the thrills of the day, and produced one casualty. Lieut. James Breese, who attained fame as a member of the crew which crossed the Atlantic in the history making flight of the NC-4 two years ago, under Commander Reade, figured in two of the jams.

Bresse Takes Tail Spin.

In the seventh period, Breese took a bad tumble when his pony stumbled. He took a somersault in the air and one more on the ground, but came to his feet in a second and was unhurt.

In the eighth period his pony crashed into a Dayton mount, and he had to retire with a painful ankle, and it is probable he will be kept out of the second match tomorrow.

In another collision in the eighth chukker Norman Talbott of Dayton and Maj. Hughes of Onwentsia went down, and for a second all that could be seen was a heap of rolling riders and ponies' legs. Neither of the men was hurt, and ponies also escaped injury. Platt of Dayton also took a spill in the eighth period, but was unhurt.

Dayton Overcomes Handicap.

The Miami team, because of higher individual rating of its men, had to spot the Lake Forest quartet four goals, and it was not until the seventh period that the visitors were able to overcome this handicap.

The Dayton four scored first, a goal by Norman Talbott making the score 4 to 1, with Onwentsia's handicap counted. Platt scored in the second chukker, but the Lake Forest team brought the score to 5 to 2 by a goal by Capt. Rader.

Harold Talbott, the Dayton star, counted in the fourth period, after the third chukker had gone scoreless, but Rader came right back with a pretty shot for Onwentsia. Gardner and Platt scored in a furious Miami rally, making the score 6 to 5 at the end of the fourth period.

Play a Seesaw Game.

Harold Talbott, the most brilliant rider of the day, tied the score with another long shot in the sixth period, but Breese put the Onwentsia team back in the lead, 7 to 6. Gardner again tied the score in the seventh chukker, and then scored the winning goal just before the end of the game when a foul for crossing left the ball close to the Lake Forest goal.

The same teams will play again tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. General admission will be reduced to 50 cents, with a $5 charge for parking automobiles around the field. The Great Lakes band will play and all wounded soldiers at Fort Sheridan have been invited as guests of the Onwentsia club. The lineup:

MIAMI [8].	ONWENTSIA [7].
1. Gardner.	1. Winston.
2. Platt.	2. Rader.
3. H. Talbott.	3. Breese, Campbell.
4. N. Talbott.	4. Hughes.

Woods and Waters by LARRY ST. JOHN

BIRD NOTES.

ALTHOUGH inclined to be a quarrelsome fellow with other birds, Mr. Red Headed Woodpecker is a most attentive father. Every day I see a pair of these birds feeding their one baby. And isn't a half-grown woodpecker about the queerest looking little rascal you ever saw? This one seems to be all splashed over with black markings and he has not a bit of red on his head, except a spot near the eye. Hungry! Say, that youngster's middle name is eat! But leave it to Papa Woodpecker to solve the problem: when he gets tired of catching insects he raids a garbage can for pieces of bread, which are more "fillin'" than little bugs.

J. C. Boss, Elkhart, Ind., writes: "I have noticed several articles in Woods and Waters from folks complaining that they cannot get purple martins to inhabit the boxes made for them. The writer has made a specialty of making martin houses and has never yet had any refusals from them. I make each apartment in the box 6x6x6 inches, inside dimensions, with an entrance 2½ inches in circumference, with the bottom of the opening one inch above the floor, with an outside landing even with the floor level, making the landing generously large. In all instances I bring the partition walls clear to the ceiling and the number of compartments makes no difference. The house may be large or small, at the pleasure of the party making it."

Visitors interested in birds always express amazement at the numerous big colonies of purple martins to be seen in Chicago. All of these are not in the suburbs or outlying neighborhoods; a good many of them are in thickly populated places.

JOLIET, 10; BELOIT, 6.

Tom McGuire led the Joliet Standards to a 10 to 6 win over the Fairies of Beloit at Joliet ball park yesterday afternoon. Score:

WILSON IS CHAMP, BUT CROWN TILTS AT DANGER ANGLE

BY FRANK SMITH.

Who is middleweight champion? The Ohio boxing commission and Cleveland newspaper men declare Bryan Downey sloughed the crown off Johnny Wilson's head in the seventh round on Wednesday night in Cleveland. They claim the champion was knocked out twice—although not counted out—but they lay greater stress upon the fact that Martin Killilea, manager of the champion, is alleged to have helped Wilson back into the ring. This should have disqualified Wilson and the referee taken cognizance of the act. But he didn't.

BRYAN DOWNEY. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

On the other hand, Wilson's self-appointed referee, Jimmy Gardner of Lowell, Mass., claims that Downey struck the champion as he rested on one knee, and therefore bought disqualification for fouling.

There you are.

Where the law does not provide for judges of boxing bouts the referee has the final say. In this instance Gardner was the referee. He is a close friend of Wilson. Make your own book.

Another Blow to Boxing.

Mistakes that hurt the boxing game are being made daily. Ohio has a boxing commission. Any boxing commission should do the dictating when it becomes necessary. It seems that this necessity arose on Wednesday night, but the boxing commission bowed to the dictates of Wilson and permitted him to name the referee in spite of the fact that they have carefully chosen and capable licensed men for this work. The boxing commission made a mistake. It should have insisted that its referee act, even in the face of Wilson's threat that there would be no bout. Better no bout than the stench which has arisen from this scrap.

JOHNNY WILSON. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

In the official records, Wilson will continue to be the middleweight champion. But he will be a disgraced champion. Never popular, he will be less popular, as his Cleveland showing permeates fistic fandom.

Decision Still Stands.

Some reports from Cleveland last night indicated that the Ohio commission was unanimous in its decision to reverse the referee. Other reports indicated there was a split in the commission. One report stated that the New York boxing commission already had recognized Downey as champion. This was denied from New York, but it was stated that in the event the Ohio commission officially promulgated a reversal of Gardner's decision, that the New York Boxing commission would hang out the Downey sign.

"Personally, I would be inclined to accept the decision of a licensed referee who had been appointed by a recognized commission in any bout. In the present case that will be our course unless the Ohio commission overrules the referee and reverses his decision.

Await Official Word.

"I have not yet received any official information from Cleveland authorities, and as a consequence, am not prepared definitely to state the attitude of the New York body toward Downey's status, or that of Wilson. Our recognition of the status of either boxer must await the action of the Ohio commission."

Harry Burchell, secretary of the New York commission, in a public statement, agreed that his body would accept that decision of the Ohio commission.

Requests for statements from the Michigan and Wisconsin boxing commissions failed of replies at an early hour this morning.

Charley White Raises Voice.

The opinion of the Ohio commission and Cleveland newspaper men that Downey won the title when Manager Killilea aided his fallen battler to his feet, brought Charley White, local lightweight scrapper, hotfooting downtown to claim the title now held by Bennie Leonard.

White declares that when he knocked Benny through the ropes during their memorable battle in Benton Harbor, Leonard's brother helped the fallen fighter back into the ring at the count of five. Charley declares that if the middleweight title is handed to Downey on a decision of that sort that he [White] is the lightweight champion, and he says he's ready to defend the title.

But Benny wears the lightweight crown and the chances are that Wilson will bear the middleweight crown until some one knocks it off. And that looks easy, if the Cleveland bout is any criterion.

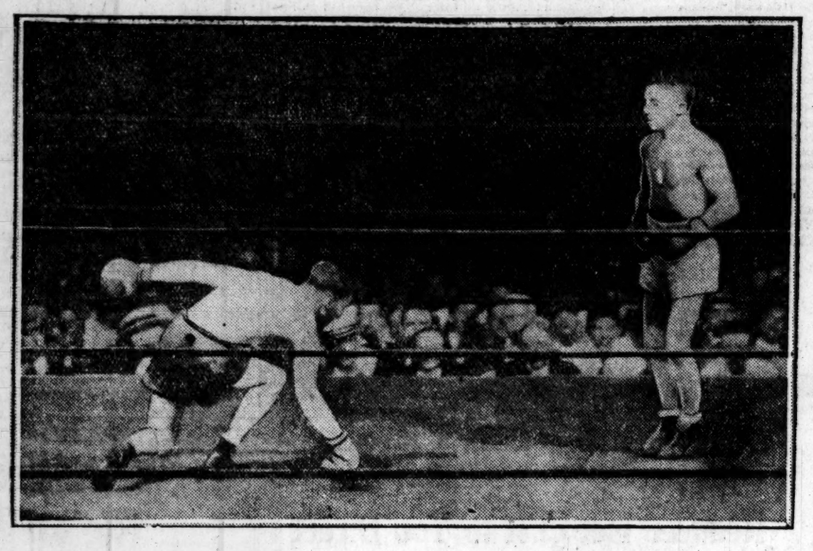
LYNCH SLIPPING AWAY FROM HIS TITLE



What the camera saw in the first round of the Joe Lynch-Pete Herman bout at Brooklyn Monday night. Joe has just descended to the canvas, but whether it was because he slipped or was jarred loose from his footing as the result of one of Herman's blows the experts couldn't figure. At any rate, in the succeeding rounds Lynch took a sound beating and left the ring minus the bantam crown.

WELLING, FREEDMAN, TO SET HOT PACE IN AURORA BOUT AUG. 5

Jim [Tex] Mullin promises the boxing fans around here no end of excitement, but no riots, when Joe Welling and Sailor Freedman hook up in their ten round battle at Aurora on the night of Aug. 5.

While Mullin promises a bitterly fought contest, he says that whoever referees that bout will be the sole arbitrator of what is fair and foul. Right now it looks as if Davey Miller will be the third man in the ring. Miller has made an enviable record as a referee around Chicago, and the fans like the way he keeps the respective battlers on their toes. The fighters know they must step fast when Miller is in the ring.

Matchmaker Mullin has aded some more places where he can distribute tickets for the coming show. In addition to having seats on sale at 153 North Clark street and 129 North Dearborn street, Mullin put ringside seats on sale at 3216 Roosevelt road.

Phil Harrison, who is appearing on the same card, told Mullin to lay aside one block of 100 seats for his personal friends on the west side who plan going to Aurora in a body to see Junkman Phil battle Al Morris, the fighting copper.

DOCTORS O. K. ENTRIES FOR RIVER MARATHON; BIG RACE TOMORROW

Candidates in the thirteenth annual Chicago River marathon swim, the opening event of the Pageant of Progress tomorrow, were examined by physicians at the Illinois Athletic club yesterday.

No swimmer whose heart did not measure up to normal was to be allowed in the race, but the doctors found the field a hardy bunch and did not scratch any of the entries for the three mile grind.

Officials of the race have announced that all swimmers must cross the finish line in a regulation bathing suit. In the ten mile race at Riverton, near Philadelphia, last Saturday, Eugene Bolden of the I. A. C. was disqualified after winning for cutting part of his suit away.

This practice has occurred previously in other long races, but it will not be allowed in the river swim as an aid to the contestants.

The bleachers were erected yesterday on the north side of the Municipal pier, where spectators may watch the start of the event. Seventy-five boats will follow the contestants. These will be furnished by the park boards.

No river traffic which would interfere with the swimmers will be allowed during the afternoon.

BOB MACDONALD IS METROPOLITAN GOLF CHAMPION

Mount Vernon, N. Y., July 28.—Bob MacDonald, professional of the Bob O' Link club, Chicago, won the Metropolitan open golf championship with a 72 hole total of 294 on the links of the Siwanoy Country club today. Pat O'Hara of Staten Island was second, with a total of 298. John Farrell, Mamaroneck, N. Y.; Cyril Walker, Englewood, N. J., and Fred Canausa, West Point, N. Y., tied for third place with totals of 301. Next came Tom Kerrigan, Siwanoy Golf club, and Jim Barnes, national open champion, with 302.

Others among the leaders were: Archie Sanderson, Sleepy Hollow; Pat Doyle, Deal; and Will Creavy, Hillcrest, each with a score of 303; Joe Kirkwood, Australia, 305, and Walter Hagen, New York, and Walter Cruikshank, Essex county, with 306.

Walker was leading by one stroke when the players got away for their last round. He took 80 for his fourth circuit, while MacDonald, with 76 in the morning, scored a 72 after luncheon.

The field was considered by experts one of the finest ever entered in the Metropolitan classic. MacDonald played throughout like a machine, finishing with a string of thirteen 4s.

The two members in the deadlock will meet in the near future to decide who shall receive the class A prize. In class B the prize was taken by F. Masca with 75, while Ben Golman with 61 led in C class.

Low gross honors for the day were taken by Charles Hudson, 49—44—93. H. J. Barry, 104, and N. Tarantino, 112, led in B and C classes.

Evans Leads at Midlothian.

Playing his same steady game, Charles Evans Jr., national amateur champion, yesterday led a field of eighty-nine in the qualifying round of the three day invitation tournament at Midlothian with 73, which was two strokes better than that of his nearest rivals, Ralph Hoagland, Olympia Fields; Howard Schendorf, Evanston, and C. W. Booth, Midlothian, who shot 75 each.

Four flights of sixteen each qualified for the first match round, which will start today, while those eliminated in the initial effort are to continue in consolation classes.

Stuart Pritchard of Battle Creek, holder of the women's state golf title, was defeated in the semi-finals of the championship tournament today, and the honor rests between Miss Lucille Desenberg of Kalamazoo, former champion, and Mrs. J. IN the WAKE of the NEWS

LONNIE—PRO AND CON.

(Lonnie ventured that the woman of today cannot cook, cannot even boil water without burning it—and a host of Wakettes have unsheathed their pens.)

DEAR WAKE: Lonnie must have ideas as ancient as that "boil water without burning it" stuff.

Of course, we women of today can cook, and, what is more, we like to, and are proud of our ability, as it is because of our culinary skill the "guid man" and "bairns" keep well and strong and happy.

Like Mrs. H. E. P., I purchase at the delicatessen for a rest, not because I am lazy or incapable of cooking well. That Lonnie person makes me "tired."

Mrs. T. J. W.

"A pinch of this won't come amiss,
Two eggs, perhaps another;

A recipe from Mother.

I must confess if Mother's guess
Was good, she'd be quite happy;
But sometimes—My!—when all awry,
She'd be—well, rather snappy.

('Tis art and not just pleasure)
A level cup, not heaped way up—
Each thing, it goes by measure.

We doctor less as we progress
Along this line neglected;
And so I claim the girls' chief aim
(BUT—a delicatessen store is a mighty handy thing to have around the corner, believe me.)

Cacoethes Scribendi.

Dear Wake: I'm mad, too, at the artist who illustrated Maizie's comeback for Lonnie. Just because a girl leads a little dog doesn't indicate she's not a good cook. I take my Boston pup to the stores every day, and she knows the difference between a regular grocery and a delicatessen.

R. E. M.

I've seen 'em get so mad I know
Their heat would melt the coldest snow,
Just try some precious plan to spoil,
And then you'll see your helpmeet boil

Milwaukee Bill.

P. S.—I'm heading back for the dugout. Safety First.

Pete Herman's Comeback.

Boxers seldom regain their championship honors, once lost. It is more likely to happen among the little fellows than the big. It is more likely to happen in a decision bout than when the title is lost by a knockout. Pete Herman lost to Joe Lynch over fifteen rounds. He regained the title over fifteen rounds. We once saw Pal Moore outpoint Lynch in a no-decision bout, and the latter impressed us as a boy who might lose in a limited round affair. Final superiority between Herman and Lynch would seem to rest in a finish combat.

Bike Hide and Seek.

We always have wondered at the ingenuity of children in adapting old games. Just now the little Wakes and their friends are playing bicycle hide-and-go-seek. It is similar to the original game, except that the players mount bicycles, and their wanderings in quest of hiding places are limited to a radius of two blocks from the goal.

TIGER-CORNELL ATHLETES TIE WITH BRITONS

New York, July 28.—[Special.]—Showing a remarkable recovery and surprising strength after their overwhelming setback of last Saturday, the combined Oxford-Cambridge team of college athletes held their American cousins from Princeton and Cornell to a tie in the international intercollegiate track and field meet at Travers island this afternoon.

CAPT. G. B. RUDD. [Central News Photo]

In the ten event program each team scored five successes, and as there was no provision for deciding the victorious team on the number of second positions registered—as was the case in the meet at Cambridge last week—the meet was officially declared a tie.

Last Two Events to Britons.

An unexpected recovery by the British collegians in the closing two events of the program produced the indecisive result. With eight events completed the sturdy wearers of Princeton's orange and black and Cornell's red and white were leading their rivals from across the sea by five victories to three.

The running broad jump and the half mile run remained to be decided. H. M. Abrahams of Cambridge captured the broad jump, and, on top of this, Bevil G. D. Rudd, Oxford, captain and Olympic 400 meter champion, scored a spectacular victory in the half mile run, closing the program.

Meet First Awarded to Visitors.

For a time it was thought that second positions would determine the victorious team. In this the English collegians led, with six placements to five for the Americans, the extra position coming as a result of the tie in the running high jump. Following a meeting it was announced that the meet had been awarded to England on this basis, but a subsequent official announcement reversed this and declared the meeting a tie.

One international record was eclipsed. Nokes of Oxford threw the 16-pound hammer the winning distance of 160 feet 7 inches. Summaries:

Broad jump—Won by Abrams, Cambridge, 21 feet 8 inches; Loyrie, Princeton, second, 21 feet 5 inches; Ingram, Oxford, third, 21 feet 4½ inches; Nichols, Cornell, fourth, 21 feet 1 inch.

Half mile run—Won by Rudd, Oxford; Milligan, Oxford, second; Johnson, Princeton, third; Carter, Cornell, fourth. Time, 1:56 4-5.

100 yards dash—Won by Abrahams, Cambridge; Lovejoy, Cornell, second; McKim, Princeton, third; Rudd, Oxford, fourth. Time, :10 2-5 seconds.

High jump—Won by Stack, Cornell, 5 feet 8¾ inches; Brunder, Princeton, and Dickinson, Oxford, tied for second, 5 feet 7½ inches; Burns, Cambridge, fourth.

120 yard high hurdle—Won by Massey, Princeton; Partridge, Cambridge, second. Time, 15 4-5. Dickinson of Oxford fell at the third hurdle and Treman, Cornell, stopped to assist him.

16 pound shot—Won by Halsey, Princeton, 43 feet 9 inches; Reese, Oxford, 40 feet 7 inches, second; Goodenow, Cornell, 39 feet 7½ inches, third; Waterhouse, Cambridge, 39 feet 5¾ inches, fourth.

16 pound hammer throw—Won by Nokes, Oxford, 160 feet 7 inches, a new international intercollegiate record; Baker, Princeton, 145 feet 6 inches, second; Wagar, Cornell, 128 feet 4½ inch, third; Burt, Cambridge, 121 feet 5¾ inches, fourth.

440 yard dash—Won by Stevenson, Princeton; Rudd, Oxford, second; Johns, Cornell, third; Gregory, Cambridge, fourth. Time, 49 3-5 seconds.

3 mile run—Won by Foresman, Princeton. Time, 15:18 3-5; Seagrove, Cambridge, second. Time, 15:20 4-5. Tatham, Cambridge, and Brown, Cornell, dropped out after two miles.

1 mile run—Won by Stallard, Cambridge; Irish, Cornell, second; McCulloch, Princeton, third; Kent Hughes, Oxford, fourth. Time, 4:23 4-5.

GRAINS LOWER; PROFIT TAKING CANCELS BULGE

BY CHARLES D. MICHAELS.

The grain markets acted rather tired yesterday, particularly at the last. Although prices were higher early in the day, profit taking after several days of advancing markets was natural and carried prices down. Wheat closed 1 to 1½c lower. Corn had a good bulge in the morning, with a reaction at the last on reports of general rains over a large part of Iowa, Nebraska, central Illinois and parts of northern Indiana, where they were badly needed. The close was ⅛c lower to ⅛c higher. Oats lost ¼ to ⅝c, and while rye gained ⅝c on July and ¼c on September, it lost 1½c on December.

Exporters were not disposed to follow the advance in wheat prices and, with the millers, showed more disposition to hold off. This made cash business slower and the close at Chicago was weak and at the inside prices, with No. 1 hard at July price and red winters at July price to 1½c under.

The country is selling less wheat, yet the movement keeps up, Chicago having 493 cars. Primary receipts of 3,035,000 bu were nearly double last year's, while for the four days this week they aggregate 15,319,000 bu, or nearly 2,000,000 bu larger than a week ago, compared with 6,122,000 bu last year. Shipments of 6,105,000 bu compared with 3,047,000 bu last year.

Wheat Loses Early Bulge.

Good early support was given the wheat market and the price moved up 1@1½c over the previous day's close, which was all lost later with a break of 2½@3c and the close at the bottom. July was 2c over September at one time and closed at $1.27, or 1½c premium.

Corn was bought early on the unfavorable showing of the government weekly crop bulletin taken by states. The report from Iowa was sensational, saying that a few more days without rain and temperatures of 100 or higher would reduce corn to calamitous condition and that a bumper crop is far from sure. Hot winds were reported in Kansas. A good class of buying was on early, when July moved up 1⅜c and distant futures 1@1⅜c, all of which was lost later on selling by many of the early buyers on the reports of rains. Exporters bought 400,000 bu of corn here and 100,000 bu at the seaboard.

Shorts Buy July Rye.

Early buying of oats was liberal and prices moved up ½@1c, followed by a reaction of 1¼@1½c and a tame close at the lowest of the day, with July at 36⅞c and December at 42c. Elevator people were trying to buy September and sell December at 2c difference.

Shorts were good buyers of rye, bidding July up 2¼c to $1.32, with a break of 1½c at the last. September advanced 1¼c and reacted and December broke 2c. Leading longs were the principal sellers. Export sales were 100,000 bu here and 40,000 bu at the seaboard.

Lard was bought for July and sold for September by the Armour interest at 7½c difference. There was also buying of October and January by Stein-Alstrin. January is coming in for more attention at 2c under the October and nearly that much under September. Cash trade was fair, with sales of 1,000,000 lbs and deliveries of 150,000 lbs; ribs 200,000 lbs, and pork 250 brls. Prices follow:

CASH·GRAIN N·E·W·S

Export sales of wheat at the seaboard yesterday were 250,000 bu, part to the continent, 100,000 bu corn and 40,000 bu rye, the latter last half of August shipment New York. Chicago sold 200,000 bu wheat, 400,000 bu corn and 100,000 bu rye for export. Charters here were for 200,000 bu wheat to Buffalo at 1½c. Domestic sales of corn were 95,000 bu, oats 175,000 bu, and barley 20,000 bu.

Deliveries on July contract were, wheat 316,000 bu, corn 125,000 bu, oats 15,000 bu, rye 108,000 bu, mostly in car lots on track. One house took the wheat under protest.

Wheat prices were weaker at the close after being 1 to 2c higher early. The advance in July to 2c premium over September weakened the cash markets. No. 1 hard was 1c July price to 1c over, No. 2 hard July to 1c under, No. 1 red was July to 1c under and No. 2 red ½ to 1½c under July. Mixed wheates were slow sale at wider discounts. Kansas City and St. Louis were unchanged to 2c higher, Omaha 1c higher, Minneapolis strong and 5 to 10c higher, with No. 1 dark northern spring 75c over September. The three southwestern markets had 1,325 cars against 482 cars last year.

Corn prices were unchanged to 2c higher for sale, and closed with the advance lost. Omaha advanced ½c, St. Louis ½ to 2c, Peoria 1c, and Kansas City was unchanged.

Rye sold in Chicago at 1 to 1½c under July for No. 2 and 8½ to 15c under for No. 3, the latter at the close.

FLOUR PRICES HIGHER

Flour prices advanced 10@20c yesterday, owing to the recent upturn in wheat. Buying was limited, both of springs and winters, as many large consumers loaded up recently. Minneapolis millers are asking $9.85 @10.10 for their best patents to the retail trade. Car lots of hard witers are $7.00@ 7.15 for 95 per cent patents and $7.75@ 8.00 for short patents. Soft winters are $6.20@6.50 for 95 per cent patents and $6.60@7.10 for short patents in jute. Rye flour is $7.40@7.65 for white patents in car lots.

DRY GOODS MARKETS.

NEW YORK, July 28.—Cotton goods were in moderate call in the print cloth and sheeting divisions. Percales and ginghams sold steadily and the denim markets were more active at lower prices. Yarns ruled steady. Raw silks were quiet. There was a demand for wool goods for men's wear by the larger houses and in some of the specialty agencies. Burlaps continued quiet.

HAY MARKET CLEANED UP

Practically all the timothy hay on track here was cleaned up yesterday. Fresh receipts were 28 cars. Old No. 1 timothy was $21.00 @22.00; No. 2 timothy and No. 1 clover mixed, $18.00@21.00; No. 3 timothy, $15.00 @18.00; sample hay, $14.00@17.00; new timothy, $16.00@20.00.

Prairie hay sold more freely for the better grades, while the poor stuff dragged. Arrivals of 22 cars from the southwest and 3 cars from South Dakota were the largest in some time. Southwestern Nebraska and Dakota, $14.00@18.00; Illinois prairie, $12.00@14.00; packing, $9.00@12.00.

Rye straw was wanted at $11.00@12.00, with a fair call for oat at $9.00@10.00 and wheat at $8.00@9.00. Receipts were 1 car oat and 2 cars wheat.

ARGENTINE SHIPMENTS.

	This wk.	Last wk.	Last yr.
Wheat, bu	555,000	1,163,000	4,458,000
Corn, bu	5,600,000	3,741,000	1,080,000
Oats, bu	1,050,000	1,597,000	206,000

WORLD'S·GRAIN MARKET·NEWS

It was said last night that unless the grain markets get better support prices are likely to sag lower. Sentiment was quite bearish on all grains at the close, with the long interest considerably reduced. A number of local operators were especially bearish on wheat and disposed to ignore the falling off in country offerings in all sections.

Should rains reported yesterday over a large part of the corn belt prove as heavy and general as traders claimed, a recession in prices is looked for. Should they be light, better buying support is probable, as those friendly to the buying side saw it last night.

Oats yesterday were acting heavy and disappointing to those who have endeavored to lift prices recently. Elevator people are anxious to turn over their hedges from September to December at 3c difference, but find the trade too narrow to permit of large operations. Considerable grain has already been turned over and there is a great deal more to follow. Seaboard exporters are inquiring for oats but making no firm bids.

Clement-Curtis favor buying of all grains on declines. E. Lowitz & Co. say it will take continued buying by foreigners to sustain present wheat levels. Harris, Winthrop, and Lamson look for lower prices.

Minneapolis millers say the flour market is unsatisfactory. Mills are not selling more than 25 to 30 per cent of their capacity. Winter wheat mills are quoting flour at $2.00 @2.50 per barrel under spring wheat for prompt shipment.

Argentina has 67,000,000 bu of wheat and 119,000,000 bu of corn for export, as officially estimated. This is 10,000,000 bu less of wheat and 23,000,000 bu short of corn from a month ago.

Application has been made for a cut in lake rates from Buffalo to Atlantic ports, equivalent to 5c per 100 lbs on wheat, corn, and rye, and 3c on oats and barley. The rates are expected to become effective in ten days.

No. 1 dark northern spring wheat is scarce at Minneapolis and bids of 25c over September were made yesterday. The close on September was $1.39⅝.

Stock Dividend of 100% Declared by D., L. & W.

New York, July 28.—The directors of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad company today declared a stock dividend of 100 per cent, payable Aug. 20 to stockholders of record on Aug. 8.

The dividend is the result of segregation of the company's coal properties. In September, 1920, the company submitted to the interstate commerce commission a plan for operation of its mines as distinct enterprises, and in approving this the commission authorized the company to issue $45,000,000 in common stock, to be distributed as a stock dividend. A recent stockholders' meeting approved this step.

REVIEWS OF TRADE

The John V. Farwell company's Weekly Review says:

"Wholesale dry goods business is manifesting greater confidence with the increasing demand for merchandise. Road orders for the last two weeks are nearly double in number in comparison with the corresponding week last year. Buyers have been in market in larger numbers than during July, 1920. Collections are satisfactory."

In its weekly review of lumber trade conditions Lumber of St. Louis will say: "Increasing optimism characterizing reports on the lumber market has substantial basis in the settlement of two important strikes in the building trades, virtual settlement of the marine strike on the Pacific coast, further reduction in rediscount rates of several federal banks and other favorable trends of greater or less importance that have a direct bearing on building activity.

"At a few centers considerable lumber buying is going forward under the spur of broken retail stocks and a quite active demand for building purposes. Generally, though, there has been no marked increase in demand and the common grades of structural lumber have evidenced further weakness in price during the week."

NEWS OF THE CROPS

Le Count's message to Stein, Alstrin from Saskatoon, covering territory from Davidson to Saskatoon, said the wheat crop is about an average, the greater part taking color and maturing fast. Earliest fields need about eight days more of favorable weather to mature. Black rust is not a factor in this early wheat. Weather cool and favorable.

A Fort Wayne, Ind., message to E. F. Leland & Co. said: "We have had no rain in this region to speak of for five weeks. Corn still looks good, but needs rain badly. Oat crop promises only about half of last year. Then thrashing was 60 to 70 bu; this year probably 20 to 30 bu, and light in weight. Wheat, 6 to 15 bu per acre."

The Iowa state report says oat thrashing continues unsatisfactory. The average yield so far is about 24 bu, the lowest in fifteen years, with an average test of only 24 lbs to the bu. Spring wheat almost a failure. Winter wheat averages 19 bu to the acre, or 1 bu below the average of the last ten years. Weight test, 60 lbs to the bu. Thrashing general, 60 to 75 per cent completed. Pastures are failing rapidly. Late potatoes, commercial onions, and cabbage promise a poor crop generally.

Splendid Opportunity for an Executive

The responsibility is the complete executive control of the administrative offices of an old, established manufacturing concern—progressive, however—in fact, recently much discussed for unprecedented achievements in its field.

The man desired is under fifty years old—capable, energetic, with initiative and constructive ideas. He must be ready to take a minimum cash investment of seventy-five thousand dollars in the business—for it is a policy of this highly successful organization to require its members to be financially interested in proportion to the responsibilities of their respective offices.

FINANCE NEARS NORMALCY GOAL, RESERVES SHOW

BY O. A. MATHER.

Gradually but steadily the country's banking condition is pursuing the path that leads "back to normalcy." Thus the current weekly statements of the federal reserve banks show the system as a whole now stands in the strongest position since 1917. Steadily mounting stocks of gold, representing liquidation of obligations incurred in this country by foreign nations, and a steady decline in loans and paper currency, representing liquidation of debt and readjustment in this country, form the chief bases for this improvement.

Since the first of the year gold imports have exceeded $350,000,000, coming, as reported by the federal reserve board, from fifty-six foreign countries. This is a previously unheard of incident in our financial history. In the same time federal reserve note circulation has declined $867,000,000, or more than 25 per cent, and loans have receded $1,300,000,000.

Twelve Banks Show Gains.

This week's consolidated statement of the twelve Federal Reserve banks shows increases in gold and total reserves of $22,903,000 and $25,930,000, respectively. Loans declined $35,653,000, those on government obligations and on commercial paper receding $18,329,000 and $17,324,000, respectively. Bills bought declined $4,483,000 and total bills on hand receded $40,136,000. Holdings of government obligations declined $4,686,000 and total earning assets receded $44,822,000.

Federal reserve note circulation declined $26,895,000. Total deposits receded $1,255,000, the member banks increasing their reserve deposits $8,441,000 and government deposits declining $3,258,000. The ratio of total reserves to net deposits and federal reserve note liabilities combined rose to 63.4 from 62.5 per cent in the preceding week, while the ratio of gold reserves to note circulation, after setting aside 35 per cent against net deposit liabilities, rose to 82.4 from 80.6 per cent.

New York Gold Jumps.

The statement of the New York Federal Reserve bank shows gold and total reserves increased $32,752,000 and $32,182,000 respectively. Loans declined $25,189,000, those on government obligations and on commercial paper receding $5,308,000 and $19,881,000 respectively. Bills bought declined $3,728,000 and total bills receded $22,049,000. Total earning assets receded $26,228,000.

Federal reserve note circulation declined $1,437,000. Total deposits expanded $6,255,000, the member banks increasing their reserve credits $11,762,000. The ratio of total reserves to net deposits and federal reserve note liabilities combined rose to 72.2 from 70 per cent in the preceding week. This ratio is the bank's highest since 1917.

Chicago Bank Improves.

The statement of the Chicago Federal Reserve bank shows further improvement as the result of reductions in loans and note circulation. Gold and total reserves remained about stationary. Loans declined $7,466,000, those on government obligations and on commercial paper receding $6,121,000 and $1,345,000, respectively. Total bills on hand and total earnings assets declined $7,023,000 and $7,978,000, respectively.

Federal reserve note circulation declined $5,223,000. Total deposits receded $3,465,000, the member banks lowering their reserve credits $1,866,000. The ratio of total reserves to net deposit and federal reserve note liabilities combined rose to 59.5 from 58.6 per cent in the preceding week.

CHICAGO STOCK TRANSACTIONS

Trading in Chicago stocks continued dull yesterday and prices in general were inclined to show weakness. Union Carbide was the only issue to pass the 1,000 share mark and it advanced a minor fraction. The packing house issues generally were lower. On small sales Quaker Oats was off 2⅜; Sears-Roebuck, 1¼; and American Radiator, a point. United Iron Works was up 2 points and Wahl gained a point. The New York Times.

New York, July 28.—[Special.]—The rate for demand loans on the stock exchange did not go above 4½ per cent today, and it closed at 3½, the lowest. Measured by this range of rates the day's market was the lowest since the middle of August, 1919. The encouraging weekly reports of the federal reserve banks were a sufficient commentary on the movement.

In a highly irregular and not very active stock market the only movement of prices to attract attention was the weakness in half a dozen industrial shares, chiefly of motor car and railway equipment companies. Pressed Steel Car dropped more than 8 points further as the result of the quarterly dividend being deferred, while American Locomotive and Railway Steel Spring declined 4½@6½ respectively. General Electric lost 6⅞.

United Drug Rallies.

United Drug, under pressure Wednesday due to President Liggett's personal financial difficulties, rallied three points. Professional operators also overshot their mark in forcing down National Lead stock more than 7 points on "dividend rumors" only to learn, while selling at the lowest, that the regular dividend had been declared. The shares rallied but showed a net loss of 5⅞.

Dividend suspensions and dividend reductions are, however, still a matter of reasonable expectation with many manufacturing companies which have not yet announced their policy, but any action of the kind has been abundantly discounted in the market of the last half year.

Railway shares were generally higher today, as were many other stocks.

Bank of France Reduces Rate.

The event of the day in Europe was the reduction in its official discount rate by the Bank of France.

There are reasons in the French bank's present position why the new 5½ per cent rate was possible; today's weekly statement showed its outstanding note circulation to have fallen to the smallest total since April 1, 1920, the reduction in the last twelve weeks having been no less than 1,800,000,000 francs, or nearly 5 per cent. But the predominant reason was without question the worldwide relaxation of the strain on credit, following a year of liquidation. Practically every great money market in the world has now given testimony to the new conditions.

Bethlehem Steel More than Earns Its Dividend

New York, July 28.—[Special.]—E. G. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, following a meeting this afternoon at which the regular dividends were quoted on both classes of common stock, said the dividend on the common stock had been more than earned during the quarter, as well as for the first six months, after providing for dividends on both classes of preferred stocks.

In regard to the condition of the company's business, Mr. Grace said the value of orders on the books as of June 30 is $84,000,000, compared with $110,000,000 at the close of the first quarter of the year. He added that, while the amount of new business booked during the second quarter was $26,000,000 less than the billings, it showed a marked increase over bookings for the first three months of the year.

Sanitary District Sells $5,000,000 Bonds at 94.84

Trustees of the sanitary district of Chicago yesterday awarded an issue of $5,000,000 5 per cent serial bonds at 94.84 cents on the dollar, or a total of $4,742,-000. Three banking syndicates made bids, the highest being offered by a group composed of the Bankers' Trust company, New York; Stacy & Braum; National City bank, Chicago; Hannahs, Ballin & Lee; Curtis & Sanger; Estabrook & Co.; First National company, Detroit; Dominick & Dominick; Eldredge & Co., and Merrill, Oldham & Co. The bonds mature $250,000 each year from 1922 to 1941. They will be offered for public subscription today at prices to yield from 5.75 to 5.35 per cent, according to maturity.

RAILROAD NOTES

Loadings on the St. Paul have increased consistently during July. The system movement has risen from 16,604 for the week of July 9 to 22,685 July 23, and the total from 21,302 to 28,738, although the figures are below those in the corresponding periods of 1920, with 26,541 for the system and 35,982 for the total. Grain traffic has increased from 1,419 to 1,933, against 1,478 in 1920; flour from 741 to 1,037, against 973; stock from 1,408 to 1,589, against 2,936; lumber from 908 to 1,369, against 1,586; brick, stone, sand, gravel, and ice from 1,250 to 2,536, against 2,342, and miscellaneous from 13,345 to 18,080, against 24,149.

Formal transfer of the property of the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad company to the newly organized Denver and Rio Grande Western Railroad company was formally and finally sanctioned by Judge Lewis and Judge Sanborn of the federal Court of Appeals when they approved the final report of Special Master Water A. Jackson.

Who Gets the Dividend?

A. M. N.—As between the vendor and vendee of shares of stock, it is a settled rule that the vendee is entitled to all of the dividends of the stock which are declared after the sale of the stock. Even though the transfer has not been recorded, the transferee has a right to the dividends as against the transferer. (Quoted and approved in Corgan vs. Church company, 67 Atlantic Reports 655, decided by Pennsylvania court in 1907). The law, moreover, refuses to investigate the question when the dividend was earned. In contemplation of law the net profits are earned at the instant the dividend is declared. This rule is just, inasmuch as the accrued profits and expected dividends enter into the value and price at which the stock is sold. A transfer of stock passes, of course, all dividends declared subsequently to the transfer, although the dividend was earned before the transfer was made.

Interstate Iron and Steel.

A. L. T.: The $4,000,000 Interstate Iron and Steel company first mortgage sinking fund gold 8s, series A, are a first lien on the entire property of the company. The issue is callable as a whole or in part on thirty days' notice at 107½ and interest. The sinking fund provides for the retirement of $142,000 of the bonds annually at 107½ after May 1, 1924. The net income available in 1920 amounted to over three times the interest charges on this issue. Net assets were a little more than the principal amount of the issue. These bonds constitute the entire funded debt of the company, as they were issued to retire $1,787,800 first mortgage serial 6s. The bonds rate as a good investment for the funds of the business man rather than for savings, as they are apt to be affected to a substantial degree by changes in the company's actual earning power.

Elgin Motor Car.

E. W. G.—The balance sheet of the Elgin Motor Car corporation of May 1, 1921, shows about $2,300,000 of net tangible assets. The circular does not tell how many notes are to be issued. If the issue is less than $1,000,000 we would consider them well enough secured for the funds of a business man, but hardly a poor man's investment. This company never has published complete reports. It has been selling stock for years at several times its market value.

CRUDE OIL PRODUCTION.

The American Petroleum institute estimates the daily average gross crude oil production in the U. S. for the week ended July 23 at 1,307,360 brls, against 1,308,710 in the preceding week.

No additional funded debt, whether or not secured by mortgage, and no bonds under any existing mortgage or indenture, can be issued, except for refunding, unless net earnings, as defined in the Trust Deed, for twelve consecutive months out of fifteen months previous to such applications have been at least one and three-quarters times annual interest requirements on total funded debt then outstanding together with the securities then to be issued. Additional funded debt, whether or not secured by mortgage, may be issued only for refunding or for a principal amount not exceeding 80% of the cash cost of additions and improvements to the property against which cost no obligations have theretofore been issued.

The Company has paid dividends on its preferred stocks since issue and on its common stock at the present rate of 8% per annum since 1904.

Top hogs advanced 25c yesterday, equaling the previous high point of the year in March, when the best light hogs sold at $11.75. The day's average moved up 20c to $10.65. Two years ago yesterday the top and average at $22.60 and $22.70, respectively, were the highest on record.

Another dwarfed run, which fell 6,000 below expectations and 10,000 under the total of the previous Thursday, caused a runaway market, with sales to shippers and speculators largely at 25c advance. Local packers generally held off until noon, and part of the advance was lost, but the extreme late market was about as good as any time of the day.

Best Cattle Sell Higher.

There was a further widening of the price range in cattle, some of the choicest beeves selling 10@15c higher, while other kinds ruled weak to 25c lower, butcher stock sharing in the decline. Yearling steers and heifers averaging 734 lbs reached $10.00, and 1,348 lb steers $9.85. Nebraska pulp fed steers averaging 1,500 lbs at $9.50, were $1.50 above last month's low time.

Both sheep and lambs met with a more indifferent demand, selling 10@25c lower for the bulk of offerings. Top western lambs sold at $10.10 and 117 lb Montana sheep at $6.25, against $6.50 Wednesday. One small lot of native lambs reached $10.00.

Seven western markets received 24,000 cattle, 53,000 hogs, and 29,000 sheep, against 21,000 cattle, 65,000 hogs, and 35,000 sheep the previous Thursday, and 38,000 cattle, 43,000 hogs, and 57,000 sheep a year ago.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 3,000 cattle, 19,000 hogs, and 9,000 sheep, against 4,936 cattle, 13,596 hogs, and 9,201 sheep the corresponding Friday a year ago.

RAIL BONDS HIT NEW YEAR'S TOP; LIBERTYS GAIN

New York, July 28.—[Special.]—Bond trading today comprised one of the most active sessions this year. The trend was upward in practically all groups.

Denmark 8s touched a new high mark at 103, a net gain of 1 point, while Danish 8s sold at the same high price, registering an equal advance over yesterday's final.

Railroad bonds moved to the highest levels of the year, special strength being shown by Reading 4s with a gain of ⅞ at 76 and Great Northern 7s at 100½, up ⅝ and a new high figure. Hudson and Manhattan adjustment 5s at 42½ were up a point and duplicated the year's high. Rock Island refunding 4s also displayed considerable activity.

Public utility obligations, led by Northwestern Bell Telephone 7s, which sold up to a new high of 102¼, continued their upward movement. Among the industrials price movements were not of special importance, but the prices held steady, tire and rubber bonds featuring. Goodyear 8s gained ⅜ of a point.

Liberty bonds enjoyed their most active dealings for any single session this year. With the exception of the 1st 4s convertible 3½s all issues recorded substantial increase. The 3½s of 1932-47 led in both trading and improvement, gaining nearly ½ point. The third 4¼s of the third Liberty loan gained 36 cents to a high of 87.76 and the other issues showed advances of from 6 to 20 cents over the previous night's close.

FINANCIAL NOTES

Sir Henry Drayton, minister of finance of Canada, announced yesterday that the $15,000,000 loan due in New York next Monday would be paid without further government borrowing.

The Cuban sugar commission at a meeting in New York fixed the new price of its raw sugar at 3¼c, cost and freight, an advance of ¼c.

The New York transit commission has directed a hearing upon the application of Interboro Rapid Transit for an extension from Sept. 1, 1921, to Sept. 1, 1922, of the date of maturity of $30,416,000 three year 7 per cent notes issued by it, and for permission to increase interest rate during period of the extension from 7 to 8 per cent.

The Midwest Refining company yesterday announced at Casper, Wyo., a reduction averaging 7 per cent in the wage scale paid its employés, effective Aug. 1. The cut ranges from 4 to 15 per cent, and is identical with recent reductions announced at the plant of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, of which the Midwest is a subsidiary. Approximately 2,700 men are affected at both plants and skilled workers will receive the smallest cut.

Directors of the Casein Company of America have deferred the usual quarterly dividend of 2 per cent upon the preferred stock due at this time until the next regular monthly meeting, scheduled for Aug. 31, when it will again be considered. The stock is 8 per cent cumulative and 2 per cent quarterly dividends have been paid regularly for several years.

The Producers and Refiners corporation has passed the dividend on the common stock. The reason given was that it was deemed advisable to keep the company in a strong cash position to take advantage of opportunities afforded by the existing oil situation. The regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on the preferred stock has been declared, payable Aug. 1 to stock of record July 25.

Camden, N. J., has sold $1,061,000 of 5½ per cent bonds to the Harris Trust and Savings bank, the National City company, and Estabrook & Co. The bonds are issued to provide funds for various public improvements. They mature serially 1922 to 1961 and are being offered at prices to yield from 5.75 to 5.30 per cent.

The Guaranty Trust Company of New York was the successful bidder for the $10,000,000 4 per cent quarterly one year Philippine government certificates of indebtedness, proposals for which were opened yesterday.

CADILLAC'S 6 BARGAINS

FRANKLIN SEDAN. This is a 1920 model, 9B series, and was delivered just prior to the time the new car came out. The mechanical condition is by far the best of any Franklin we have ever offered. The paint is in good condition; upholstering is in fine shape. In fact, the entire car does not look like the ordinary used automobile. The original purchaser of this car has just delivered it to us and it has not had a great deal of mileage. Practically all the mileage has been here in the city. If you are looking for a Franklin Sedan at a ridiculously low price and a very late model you will have to come early to avail yourself of this bargain. Has an excellent set of tires, one extra, bumper, clock, etc. Special for this sale $2,000.

CADILLAC 8, TYPE 57, VICTORIA COUPE. This car is painted a dark Cadillac blue. Is a roomy 4 passenger Coupé body and is equipped with an excellent set of cord tires, one extra, and bumper. Upholstery and general coach condition of this car show practically no wear. We have made a thorough inspection in our mechanical department and replaced the worn parts. We will guarantee this car. If you want a roomy, up to date 4 passenger Coupé at 'way below the bargain price, do not fail to examine this car. Special for this sale, $2,100.

CADILLAC 8, TYPE 59, VICTORIA COUPE. This is the latest and current series car and the same car that we are delivering new today costing over $5,000. It has not been used a great deal and has the appearance of a new car. It carries our guarantee and has an excellent set of cord tires, one extra, bumper, etc. There is hardly a scratch on the paint. If you are looking for a Cadillac Coupe at a great saving in a car that is as good as new, do not fail to see this one. Special for this sale, $4,000.

CADILLAC 8, TYPE 59, ROADSTER. This is the latest and current series and selling new today for over $4,200. This car does not look like a used automobile. Customer is exchanging for a Cadillac with larger seating capacity. Goodyear cord tires now on car, show no wear; has one extra and bumper. Painted standard Cadillac blue, with hardly a scratch on it. This car has been used so little that it can hardly be told from a new automobile; has not been run enough to thoroughly limber up the motor. If you are looking for a roadster greatly reduced in price, but still like a new automobile and carrying a new car guarantee, do not fail to see this car at once. Special for this sale, $3,000.

CADILLAC 8, TYPE 57, TOURING CAR. It is going to be very hard to describe this car in an ad. It must be seen to be appreciated. We have made a thorough examination of this car and renewed what parts were necessary. The car has been painted a dark Cadillac blue in our own shop. We have also re-covered the top in our trim shop and replated all bright parts. This car has the appearance of a new automobile and will carry our standard guarantee. It has an excellent set of cord tires, one extra, bumper, clock, etc. Everything considered, this is without a question the lowest priced Cadillac offered in this paper. If you are looking for a used Cadillac that is all right in every respect and a real bargain, do not miss this opportunity. Price $1,900.

CADILLAC 8, TYPE 59, PHAETON SPORT MODEL. This is the current series and the same car that we are delivering new today for over $4,200. It was turned in to us by one of our customers for a larger model of the Cadillac after he had used it a short time. We have just revarnished the car, although the original paint was in good condition. Has an excellent set of tires that show but very little wear [one extra], bumper, tire cover, etc. This car we will guarantee. If you want to make a big saving on a Cadillac, do not fail to look this car over. Special for this sale, $3,000.

PAIGE
Prices Reduced

When Bird-Sykes say "Rebuilt Paige," they do not mean merely "shined up," "tightened up" and "tuned up." Rebuilt in the Bird-Sykes shop means taking apart motor, transmission and rear axle—measuring or testing parts to determine wear—replacing worn parts with new—rebuilding—adjusting—tuning up—repainting body—refinishing top and upholstery. That is why a Bird-Sykes rebuilt Paige satisfies the eye as a new car and its performance is the same as new.

Guaranteed by Bird-Sykes.

Every rebuilt Paige is guaranteed by Bird-Sykes to be as represented, and in perfect mechanical condition, and if anything turns out unsatisfactory within a reasonable time Bird-Sykes make it good without cost to the purchaser.

Easy Terms—No Brokerage Charges.

We do not ask our customers to pay the exorbitant rates charged by so-called automobile bankers in order to buy of us on deferred payments. You can buy a Bird-Sykes Rebuilt Paige on easy terms, paying only ordinary bank interest rates on deferred payments.

PAIGE G-2, 6 CYLINDER, 7 PASSENGER. Just rebuilt and refinished a beautiful standard Paige blue. This is the most popular selling model we have. Equipped with the famous Continental engine. A dependable family car; room for everybody. Top and upholstery good. Good tires, 3 of which are cord, bumper and tool equipment. This car has practically the same lines as our 1920 model. Very reasonably priced at $850.

PAIGE LARCHMONT, Model 6-55. Refinished a battleship gray. Rebuilt in our own shop. This car is known throughout the land as the most beautiful sport model on the market today. Has brown pencil grain leather upholstery that harmonizes very nicely with the color of the body. The top is in good condition. Has a good set of tires, 3 of which are cord. Equipped with lock built in the transmission, motometer, Biflex spring bumper, good spare tire, etc. The most satisfactory car to drive because of its easy riding qualities and snappy Continental motor. Price $1,600.

PAIGE, 1921, MODEL 6-66. Like new; just gone through our shops and refinished a beautiful mouse gray. Car has seen very little service. Top, upholstery and general coach condition excellent. Equipped with good tires, spring bumper, motometer, lock, etc. This car has a country-wide reputation for its unsurpassed power, speed and hill-climbing ability. This powerful engine answers the slightest touch of the accelerator. See this wonderful car. This is the first 6-66 we have offered this season. Price $2,600.

PEERLESS, 1921, 8 CYLINDER, 7 PASSENGER. Practically a new car. Delivered April 27, 1921. Car has been run less than 3,000 miles; just enough to properly wear the motor in. This car is in a 100% condition throughout. Its equipment is most complete, including a bumper, motometer, spotlight, mirror, cord tires, etc. The original finish is perfect—a light maroon color. We consider this a most unusual offering of the season. Price $2,450.
